TAYLOR MURDER TALE REJECTED

Rinaldo Confession Ruled Hallucination

Estranged Wife Reveals Film Associations

The confession of Russo Rinaldo, 41-year-old accountant and ex-soldier, who asserted World War veterans, that he murdered William Denhardt Taylor February 2, 1922, was branded yesterday by Chief of Detectives Taylor as a hallucination of a mind temporarily disordered by intoxicating liquor.

"Rinaldo was under the influence of liquor when he was picked up and admitted that he has been such a heavy drinker that his wife left him two years ago," Taylor declared. "He has made a long and rambling statement telling how he shot the motion-picture director. His story is full of discrepancies. While we do not place any confidence whatever in his assertion that he killed Taylor some of the information he has given in regard to the case might prove of value in the search for the real slayer."

PATROLMAN TOLD

Chief Taylor and Captain of Detectives Bean, to whom Rinaldo volunteered his confession, will question him in custody until his statements have been thoroughly checked.

Chief Taylor yesterday described his department had been checking on Rinaldo in regard to the Taylor murder. Rinaldo was connected himself with the case when stopped on the street Tuesday evening by a uniformed officer. He was slightly intoxicated, according to Taylor, and was ordered by the officer to move on because he was to be taken to jail.

"You'd better not do that to me," said Rinaldo, according to Taylor. "I'm pretty hard-boiled. Why, I killed a man."

"O, yeh," replied the officer, "and did you kill?"

"Why, I killed William Desmond Taylor," said Rinaldo, according to Taylor.

WAITRESS THREATENED

Rinaldo was then brought into the office for questioning.

Coincident with Rinaldo's arrest was the report made by Mrs. Edna Martin, waitress, that her life had been threatened by Rinaldo. The report was made to Hollywood police shortly before Rinaldo was taken into custody on a downtown street.

Mrs. Martin stated that when she and her husband lived in Brooklyn she had met Rinaldo. She was employed in a cafe there in which Rinaldo often ate. Repeatedly, she declared, Rinaldo had threats that he was going to shoot her as she departed from the cafe on Melrose avenue, where she is employed as a waitress.

Officers were placed on guard at the cafe Tuesday night but Rinaldo did not appear.

WIFE LOCATED

Mrs. Alice Rinaldo, the estranged wife, was found at 535 North Brand street, Glendale. She immediately notified detectives to Central Station and told Chief Taylor of her husband's former association with motion-picture people in Hollywood. "He was once prominent on the stage as a violinist," she said, "and knew quite a number of motion picture stars. I believe he was connected with Mabel Normand at one time."

Mrs. Rinaldo stated that, although she was not with him at the time, she believed that her husband was in San Diego on the night of Taylor's murder.

KNEW FILM PEOPLE

He was around in Hollywood quite a lot when the murder was being investigated," she said. "I used to tell me quite a bit about it, or about reports that he had heard concerning the case."

Rinaldo had told her, she said, that he had lost a leg while serving with the Italian forces on the Austrian front during the war. Shortly after their marriage in Italy, she was forced to give up his career as violinist, she said, because of illness.

Chief Taylor declared that because of his asserted acquaintance with motion picture people in Hollywood around the time Taylor was killed, that some of the information Rinaldo gave in his purported confession may prove of value in checking over the former investigation of the case.

SOLDIER PAY BILL VOTED

Veto by Hoover Forecast

Increases in Compensation Approved in Violent House Session

Aid for Disabilities Up to First of This Year Provided For

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Sweeping increases in the government's compensation policy for disabled War veterans were voted today by the House after more than a week of debate, climaxed by a continuous eight-hour session in which many predictions were freely made that President Hoover will veto the measure.

In the face of protests by Chairman Wood of the Appropriations Committee that such legislation could not be enacted in view of the President's request last Monday that expenditures be curtailed, a bill to provide compensation for service disability incurred up to January 1, 1930, was approved, 324 to 61, and sent to the Senate.

NAME CHANGED

Originally sponsored by Chairman Johnson of the World War Veterans' Committee, the measure was greatly altered by amendments and by its author, after failing in an effort to have it sent back to committee, obtained unanimous consent to change its name to the "soldiers' relief bill."

Representative Rankin, Democrat, of Mississippi, was responsible for many of the changes in the measure. Among others was an amendment proposed by Representative Connery, Democrat, of Massachusetts, advancing the time limit of the presumptive clause from January 1, 1925, as carried in the original bill, to January 1, 1930.

On the final vote, forty-seven Republicans and two Democrats combined in opposition to the bill after seventeen Republicans had joined the Democrats in blocking recommittal, 158 to 146. Only two of those recorded voted to send the bill back to committee.

SESSION A BEDLAM

Bedlam marked completion of the measure after an agreement to recess until 11 o'clock today was disrupted. At the House of Times was a continuous session of amendments after amendment was proposed. The chair frequently had difficulty in restoring order as the debate developed with several members attempting to gain the floor at once.

Another measure sponsored by Rankin, calling for a thorough survey by a joint Congressional committee of all existing veterans' legislation, was approved unanimously immediately after the House passed. The committee would be required to report back before

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, April 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Brothers, we are riding mighty, mighty high in this country. Our most annoying problem is "which car will I use today?" "Isn't that static frightful?"

We are just sitting on top of the world, for every automobile we furnish an accident. For every radio sold we put on two murders. Three robberies to every bathtub installed. Building two golf courses to every church. Our bootleggers have manicures and our farmers have mortgages. Our courts are full. Our jails are full. Our politicians are full. If we can't house a prisoner we burn him up. Truly Rome never saw such prosperity. "We'll tell the cock-eyed world we are going—somewhere."

WASHINGTON, April 24. As soon as they finished, Chairman Graham announced the protracted public hearings closed. He said probably at a later date the committee will take under consideration the vast amount of testimony obtained and might act on one of the many bills introduced asking repeal of the Eighteenth

Census Shows Total Now of 11,432 Against 4342 Ten Years Ago

Fillmore and Ojai Also Show Large Increases Over 1920

VENTURA, April 24. (Exclusive) Growth in population of more than 258 per cent since 1920 was scored by the city of Ventura, whose census returns announced today showed 11,432 inhabitants, compared with 4342 in 1920.

This total, moreover, fails to include adjacent areas generally regarded as part of Ventura, but not within the restricted municipal boundaries. The Ventura-avenue and Pierpont Bay districts, both of which have shown rapid growth in recent years, are examples.

Col. R. C. Keene, census supervisor for this district, has agreed to segregate the names in these districts so that Ventura unofficially can add them to its population figures to show the number of persons living in the Ventura community.

Both Fillmore and Ojai show a large increase this year over their 1920 figures, according to Col. Keene. Fillmore's population now is 2883, he said, as against 1597 in 1920.

Ojai now has a population of 1469, as against the 400 given it in 1920 census figures.

ADDITIONAL CENSUS RETURNS MADE PUBLIC

Reports Say State of Siege Exists in Peshawar Following Fatal Rioting There

LONDON, April 25 (Friday) (AP)—The Lahore (India) correspondent of the Daily Express today reported that the Indian government has clamped down a censorship on news from the Punjab and the northwest frontier province as a result of Wednesday's riot at Peshawar.

Dispatches from Allahabad to the Daily News report that a state of siege exists in Peshawar and that several arrests have been made. The shops there are closed and the assembly of more than five persons has been forbidden.

RIOTS ON FRONTIER CAUSING DISTURBANCE

BOMBAY, April 24. (AP)—With riots, demonstrations and arrests steadily increasing in India, the most disturbing feature of the situation tonight is the spread of trouble to Peshawar, key city of the northwest frontier.

Latest reports said that three soldiers were killed and eight wounded in the rioting there yesterday when troops turned machine guns on demonstrators to quell the disturbance. Twelve natives also were killed. Business is at a standstill and the city bears the appearance of an armed camp.

TROUBLE SPREADING

Other less authoritative accounts say trouble is spreading on the frontier itself, with rioting at Kohat and Charsadda. Troops are said to have been moved into the disturbed regions of Risalpur and Nowahera, and the guard has been increased in Kohat Pass, which leads through the mountains to Afghanistan.

No serious trouble was reported from the larger cities today, but tension continued to exist, particularly in Calcutta. There the situation revolves around political prisoners in Alipore jail. Rioting developed there yesterday when rumors spread through the native population that J. M. Sen Gupta was dead following mistreatment by guards after a hunger strike.

PRISONERS VISITED

A communique issued today said Lieut.-Col. Denham White, acting chief medical officer, visited the prisoners and reported Sen Gupta to be normal except for high blood pressure, from which he was suffering when admitted to the jail. The communique added that Sudhas Chandra Bose, another political prisoner who had been reported ill, was normal except that he complained of a headache suffered from a fall in the jail.

A report came from Navsari tonight that Mahatma Gandhi is thinking out a new plan in his campaign for civil disobedience. The nature has not been disclosed.

Possibility of More Seen in Presence of Large Low Pressure Area

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (Exclusive)—Rapid eastward movement of a storm area from the Pacific to the plateau region brought showers to northern and central points today.

Possibility of additional wetting is seen by the Weather Bureau in the presence of an extensive low-pressure area from the Mexican border to British Columbia and two cyclonic areas in the Pacific, but the absence of ships in the districts affected prevented accurate forecasting of the immediate results.

Nevada Slayer Tells His Attorneys Not to Ask for Sentence Commutation

RENO (Nev.) April 24. (AP)—The third man to enter the lethal gas chamber at the Nevada penitentiary to pay the extreme penalty for murder, R. H. (Bob) White, Elko county gambler, probably will be executed next month. The date for his execution has not been set.

Declaring that he would "rather take the gas" than spend the remainder of his life in prison, the 42-year-old ex-gambler told his attorneys today not to ask the State Board of Pardons for a commutation of sentence.

"Let's get it over with, and the sooner the better," White is said to have stated as he sat in his cell in the condemned row where he has been confined for the past month, since the State Supreme Court refused to grant his petition for a new trial.

The new "gas house," recently completed, is a building about twenty feet square and ten feet high. It is built of square blocks of stone taken from the prison quarry and occupies a prominent place in the prison yard.

Merger Deal on Between R.-K.-O. Chain and Pathe

NEW YORK, April 24. (Exclusive) Negotiations for a merger of the $11,500,000 Pathe Exchange, Inc., with the $91,000,000 Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation are under way, it was learned today. No terms or details have been arranged, but lawyers are working on the legal aspects of the union.

Pathe Exchange, a producer of news reels, short comedies and feature pictures, has a long-term contract with Radio-Keith-Orpheum for the exhibition of its products in R.-K.-O. playhouses. Merger negotiations with Shubert Theaters Corporation were abandoned in January, but there have been persistent reports of a resumption of these talks.

GUY BATES POST'S EX-WIFE AND FRIEND FOUND SLAIN

BY JACKSON BERGER
"Times" Staff Representative

LAGUNA BEACH, April 24.—Murder and suicide. Such was the solution by police here tonight of the tragedy late this afternoon which resulted in the deaths of Mrs. Guy Bates Post, former wife of the stage actor and famed for her theatrical work as Adele Ritchie, and Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer, her close friend and a wealthy divorcee, whose bodies were found in the latter's hillside bungalow at 2337 Glenneyre street.

Jealousy and deep resentment over a luncheon engagement which did not include Mrs. Post is believed by the authorities to have caused the double shooting.

SHOT IN BACK

In reconstructing the tragedy, following the questioning of numerous friends and acquaintances of the two dead women, the police report that Mrs. Post shot Mrs. Palmer in the back, while the latter was making her way to her garage to drive to a luncheon engagement.

Mrs. Palmer, known as the "most beautiful woman in Laguna Beach," is believed to have been killed about 2 p.m., or some time after Mrs. Francis Barry had called at the Palmer home to extend the ill-fated luncheon invitation.

SUICIDE LATER

The suicide of Mrs. Post, according to the officers, took place about 4 p.m., and after the former stage star brooded over her act and was seen by neighbors walking around the Palmer home. She was also reported to have spent some time during the afternoon on a shopping trip.

The bodies of the two intimate friends were discovered by Verner Rush and Mrs. Kenneth Browne, friends of both, who went to the Palmer home to return the pet dog which had been lost for several days.

DOG WHIMPERS

When the couple with the dog, Brandy, reached the home, the animal started whimpering, and the friends sensed from its actions that something was wrong about the home.

Lying on the floor of the living-room was the body of Mrs. Post. Clutched in her fingers was the death weapon, a nickel-plated, pearl handled .32 caliber revolver. Two of the five cartridges had been exploded. Mrs. Post was lying on her right side, with her right hand crumpled beneath her body. She had shot herself in the mouth and the bullet had torn its way through to the brain, coming out of the head just back of the right ear.

BODY IN HALLWAY

In a little hallway, which leads from the main part of the bungalow to the garage, they came upon the body of Mrs. Palmer. She had been shot in the back, the bullet entering under the left shoulder blade and piercing the heart.

Dr. B. B. Mason was called to the scene and he immediately notified the authorities. Sheriff Jernigan of Orange county, his chief deputy, Carter; Chief of Police Johnson, and Coroner Brown were summoned and took charge of the investigation.

QUARREL DESCRIBED

In recounting the asserted quarrel, which the authorities say severed the strong affection that has been apparent for several months between the two women, Mrs. Barry explained that she had visited the Palmer home shortly after noon and had invited her to a luncheon.

Sharp words are said to have followed the announcement that Mrs. Post was not to be included as a guest, and the two warm friends are said to have shown extreme anger. Mrs. Barry told the authorities, they said, that the discussion became so tense that she was compelled to tell Mrs. Post somewhat sharply and bluntly that she

Army Wing Ends Maneuvers in North and Prepares to Fly South

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (AP)—From a vantage point high in the clouds over the Golden Gate today Maj.-Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the United States Army Air Corps, watched his first provisional wing attack and destroy, in theory, a mythical "Red" fleet whose objective was the capture of San Francisco and the destruction of an imaginary "Blue" fleet bottled in the harbor.

Attack, pursuit, bombardment and observation planes directed by Brig.-Gen. William E. Gillmore, commander of the wing, gathered at assumed "dawn"—in reality shortly after noon—over Martinez, and in grim, purposeful flight "engaged" the enemy fleet to win an "overwhelming victory."

During the mimic battle Gen. Fechet, his aides and newspaper men watched this demonstration of modern aerial warfare from the huge, thirty-two-passenger Western Air Express Fokker. At a broadcasting set in the plane sat Herbert Hoover, Jr., who gave the nation a graphic word picture of the battle over the Columbia network. Beside him sat Capt. Ira Eaker, pilot of the Army's Question Mark, explaining the technical movements of the "Blue" planes.

FLEET GUARD OUSTED

Banking and diving as one, the attack planes, in the van of the "Blue" air fleet, swung over Alcatraz Island at 2000 feet with the blunt-nosed bombers following a few thousand feet higher. The fast pursuit ships were almost lost in the clouds at 12,000 feet as they made ready to forestall an attack on their ponderous charges.

Darting from one group to the other, Gen. Gillmore radioed orders to flight commanders and squadron leaders and the battle began just outside the gate in view of the thousands who lined the hills on both sides.

While the attack ships—first of the 165 planes participating—dove to rake decks of the "Red" vessels with machine-gun fire and small bombs, the pursuit planes engaged and routed the "Red" aerial guard in a furious thrust that left the deadly "Blue" bombers a clear field for their work.

IL DUCE'S DAUGHTER WEDS

Ceremony Notably Lacking in Pomp as Edda Mussolini Becomes Bride of Nobleman's Son

ROME, April 24. (AP)—Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy since 1922, today like a private Italian citizen saw his 19-year-old daughter, Edda, become the bride of Count Galeazzo Ciano in a ceremony that despite all its attendant magnificence was really but a wedding in a private family.

In Il Duce's parish church, St. Joseph's on the Cia Nomentana, the daughter of the dictator and the son of the Italian Minister of Communications were married by the parish priest, Mgr. Pascucci.

Their wedding, except for the picturesqueness of Fascist "black shirts" with glittering bayonets, was simple, in accordance with Il Duce's preference for keeping his family life in the background. Had he asked for it, the Premier could have obtained for the wedding any basilica in Rome, or even St. Peter's itself, with a cardinal instead of a parish priest officiating.

POPE SENDS BLESSINGS

Pope Pius XI sent the bridal couple a solid gold rosary and his blessing. King Victor Emmanuel, signing himself "Your most affectionate cousin," sent congratulations to the Premier from the royal family. King Zog I of Albania wished the newlyweds good fortune and prosperity.

The wedding breakfast at the Villa Torlonio, the Duce's residence, was a simple family gathering, attended by the parish priest and the four witnesses.

What lent a sumptuous appearance to the wedding was the presence of the Diplomatic Corps, including the United States Ambassador, John W. Garrett and Mrs. Garrett, hundreds of Fascist militia, a large corps of Carabinieri and groups representing Fascist organizations of young girls.

Several thousand spectators were kept rigorously distant from the church, and as a measure of protection for Il Duce the surrounding houses were well guarded.

Edda Mussolini was a radiant bride in white satin, with a veil of Durano lace, a gift of the Senate, and a long satin train carried by two pages. She entered the church on the arm of her future father-in-law, Count Ciano. The groom followed escorting Donna Rachele Mussolini, Il Duce walking last of all with the Countess Ciano.

The wedding ceremony, including low mass and an address by the priest, lasted fifty-five minutes. The nuptial contract was signed in accordance with the terms of the Lateran treaties, under which ecclesiastical marriages have the full force of civil marriages.

It was announced shortly before the wedding that Premier Mussolini had donated 25,000 lire (about $1250) for a seaside mountain vacation colony for poor children. It was announced also that there will be a prize of 500 lire for every child born today in needy families in Rome, Leghorn, Forli, Predappio, Meldola, Portimpopoli and Faenza.

Quarrel Over Luncheon Held Cause of Tragedy

TRAGEDY RECONSTRUCTED

The authorities believe Mrs. Palmer defied the demands of her close friend and adamantly declared that she was going to attend the luncheon. They reconstruct the mute tragedy as developing from this instant, and believe that as Mrs. Palmer started to go to her garage, Mrs. Post pulled the diminutive revolver from her purse and fired at her back.

Coroner Brown declared that Mrs. Palmer had been dead at least three hours when found and that Mrs. Post had been dead about one hour.

Various reports that the two almost inseparable companions were seen on the streets late in the afternoon were being checked up by the authorities, but late tonight they were unable to verify them.

Neither could the officers find any of the neighbors who heard the two shots. But this was explained by the fact that the Palmer bungalow is not in a thickly populated district. People living in the district, however, reported to the police that they observed Mrs. Post walking around the bungalow as late as 4 p.m.

BATH-ROOM CLEW

Other evidence that Mrs. Palmer was shot first was revealed when the police in searching the house and examining the two bodies, discovered that Mrs. Post had washed her hands only a very short time before firing the fatal shot into her brain.

In the bath room the officers found indications that bloody hands had been wiped clean late in the afternoon and the dampness of the towel and trickles of blood in the wash bowl brought the belief that Mrs. Post had attempted to staunch the flow of blood as it ebbed from the heart of her dearest friend.

There were other indications that even the friendship that existed between the two women rose to supreme heights as Mrs. Post brooded over her deed. The police believe that the determination to take her own life and join in death the one that had been so near and dear to her came after the former stage actress realized that she had murdered the woman who was her closest friend.

The fast friendship of the two women has been closely observed here since Mrs. Post came to make her home. Mrs. Palmer was a very striking figure and often affected wearing apparel of a mannish trend. She was 28 years of age, beautiful and had a lithe, boyish figure, brown hair, blue eyes and a soft, creamery complexion.

SHOW POSTPONED

Both were to have attended a show at the Community Playhouse here the evening of the tragedy. It was a piece called "The Lady from Memphis," and Mrs. Post had much of the directing of the attraction and the scenic sets were designed and painted by Mrs. Palmer. They were both closely allied with the Little Theater movement here and were constantly together as they planned various shows.

The show was postponed when friends learned of the double death.

Another indication, according to the officials, that the tragedy was of the spur of the moment and not premeditated act, in addition to the plans for the show, was the complete absence of any notes or letters that would shed any light of the slayings.

Jewels, which both women were wearing at the time of death, which included rings, brooches, lavaliers and bracelets, were declared to have a combined value of $35,000 to $40,000.

MOTHER NOT INFORMED

Details of the tragedy were kept from Mrs. J. B. Pultz, mother of Mrs. Post, who lives here at the La Casa del Camino. She was informed that her daughter was dead, but the former Philadelphia woman was not informed of the murder and self-destruction.

The bodies were taken to the Dixon & Minter undertaking home, where they will be held to await the autopsy tomorrow and the inquest now tentatively set for Monday.

BOTH DIVORCED

Mrs. Post has been making her home here for the past two years, and lived in a somewhat modest bungalow two blocks from the more pretentious Palmer home. She was divorced from Guy Bates Post last December, in a suit which was not contested by her actor husband. It was understood at that time that a property settlement had been made. Post is now appearing in Honolulu.

Mrs. Palmer, a former resident of Waukegan, Ill., who was divorced from Dr. Clinton Porter, now of Albert Lea, Minn., several years ago, came here to the artist colony about six years ago. She was known as the most beautiful woman here and was an artist and interior decorator.

Ex-Wife of Actor in Tragic Role

Adele Ritchie (Mrs. Guy Bates Post)

ACTRESS STAGE FAVORITE

Mrs. Guy Bates Post as Adele Ritchie Won Success in Many Musical Comedy Roles

Mrs. Guy Bates Post, once known as the "Dresden china doll of the musical comedy stage," where she appeared under her maiden name, Adele Ritchie, and one of the most popular of the stage favorites of her day, married Guy Bates Post, star of many successful plays, in Toronto, on November 3, 1916.

She won a divorce from Mr. Post on December 13, 1929, in Santa Ana after she had testified briefly in support of her complaint of desertion. Mr. Post did not contest the action, and a property settlement which gave Mrs. Post $1000 in cash and $300 a month until such time as she should remarry, was filed.

BORN IN PHILADELPHIA

Mrs. Post was born in Philadelphia in 1877 of French-Quaker parents. She made her first public appearance in a light opera, "The Algerian," in 1893. The following year she succeeded Miss Marie Tempest, prima donna in that opera. She played leading roles in De Koven's "Mandarin," in Victor Herbert's "Wizard of the Nile" and in "The Runaway Girl," a Daly production. She then starred in vaudeville for a few seasons, returning later to musical comedy.

Mrs. Post was the step-daughter of the late Benclift Pultz, who, until his death in January, 1926, was head of the J. B. Pultz Company, eastern representative of Armour & Co. of Chicago.

Despite her success on the musical-comedy stage in 1910 she filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $15,349 and no available assets.

TWICE MARRIED

In June, 1913, she married Charles Nelson Bell, a wine importer, at her farm in Greenwich, Ct. She was quoted as saying: "I am marrying for money." Less than two years later she divorced Mr. Bell in Philadelphia.

She went to Toronto in 1916, where Guy Bates Post was playing in "Omar the Tentmaker," and married him before the matinee. She appeared infrequently on the stage after that, her main appearance being in 1917 on the entry of this country into the World War, when she aided in recruiting by singing war songs on Keith's Circuit.

Guy Bates Post

Guy Bates Post's stage fame is even greater than that of his wife, particularly in the prewar period. He appeared with great success as the star of "The Virginian," "The Bird of Paradise" "Omar the Tentmaker," and "The Masquerader." His first wife was Jane Peyton, an actress.

MRS. PALMER DAUGHTER OF RICH ILLINOIS PIONEER

CHICAGO, April 24. (AP)—Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer, who, with Mrs. Guy Bates Post, was found shot to death late today at Laguna Beach, Cal., was married in Chicago in June, 1921, to Dr. Clinton Foster Palmer of Albert Lea, Minn., and divorced two years ago.

Mrs. Palmer was the daughter of Clarence Murray, wealthy Waukegan (Ill.) pioneer, who died when she was about 9 years of age. Her mother had died when she was a baby. After her father's death, she was reared by her uncle, Fred Murray of Evanston. She left Waukegan about fifteen years ago and lived in Chicago and Florida until her marriage.

Dr. Palmer, who is 33, is known as one of Southern Minnesota's leading physicians. He and his father, Dr. W. L. Palmer, conduct a medical clinic at Albert Lea. The younger doctor is in Mason City, Iowa, tonight and cannot be reached, but his father said the couple were divorced in California "by mutual agreement."

A cousin of the slain woman, W. C. Murray of Waukegan, said that Mrs. Palmer had been operating a tea room in California, near Los Angeles, and that she had done some interior decorating work for a motion-picture company.

MACHINERY TESTS HEART

New Device for Detecting Organ's Imperfections Demonstrated at Washington

WASHINGTON, April 24. (Exclusive)—"I haven't heart trouble," gasped P. V. Wells, as he finished blowing into a tube from a little wooden box on a table before members of the American Physical Society meeting at the United States Bureau of Standards here this afternoon.

"If I did, I would have become exhausted and stopped blowing long before fifty seconds had passed," he explained.

The flarimeter, a new instrument which will enable people to tell whether they have heart trouble far in advance of serious developments, was being demonstrated. It is now in experimental use by insurance companies and promises to reduce greatly the risks taken by these organizations.

"Shortness of breath, the leading symptom of an impaired heart muscle, is measured," Mr. Wells explained.

The person being tested forces air out of his lungs at a slight, constant pressure, and those who suffer from shortness of breath become exhausted much sooner than normal persons.

Some freaks of wind blowing against buildings were described by H. L. Dryden and G. C. Hill of the Bureau of Standards. Flimsy metal smoke-stacks, when hit by strong winds, often cave in from the sides rather than fall in the direction of the wind, it was pointed out. A twenty-five-mile-an-hour wind will cause a pressure of about one and one-half pounds per square foot on the side of the stack facing the wind, Mr. Hill explained, while on the two sides 90 degs. around the stack in both directions, the maximum pressure will be a negative three pounds per square foot tending to cave the stack in.

TANKER AND LINER CRASH IN CHANNEL

Bremen Slightly Dented and Oil Carrier Badly Damaged in Collision

DOVER (Eng.) April 24. (AP)—The giant German liner Bremen, sistership of the record-breaking Europa, was in a slight collision with the tanker British Grenadier just off Dungenness in the English Channel this morning.

The Bremen, which was outward bound, was reported to have proceeded on her way to Southampton after a search for the tanker in a dense fog in which the crash occurred and was apparently damaged little, if any.

The tanker, however, was battered badly on her port side and, although not requiring assistance, wirelessed that she was putting into Deal to land a man requiring immediate medical attention.

After a delay of about four hours, the Bremen proceeded in the direction of Southampton, a few scratches and a slight dent in her starboard bow being the only evidence of the collision.

The tanker lost large quantities of oil. The tanker late this afternoon was anchored in the Deal roads.

After the collision the Bremen's passengers lined the deck and waited to see the tanker, but she had disappeared in the fog.

Episcopal Rector Who Married Catholic Victor in Kentucky Church Trial

LEXINGTON (Ky.) April 24. (Exclusive)—Rev. Julius A. Velasco will be allowed to keep his vestments and his parish despite the fact that he married Miss Katherine Rogers, Ellicott City, Md., a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

An ecclesiastical court, the first ever to sit in judgment on a fellow-minister in the history of the Episcopal Church in Kentucky, tonight acquitted Mr. Velasco, 31-year-old rector of St. Johns' Church in Bellevue-Dayton, Ky., of two of three charges preferred against him by the standing committee of the Lexington diocese of the Episcopal Church as a result of his marriage.

The first charge was that he had broken a preordination written agreement with the standing committee that, if he married a member of the Roman Catholic church, he would resign his orders.

He was accused in the second charge of breaking his ordination vow through having been married by a Roman Catholic priest, it being asserted that by the terms of the marriage he had promised to rear any children born of the marriage in the Roman Catholic faith.

He was found guilty of one count in the third charge—that of defaming the character of Bishop Abbott by a statement published in newspapers.

Of the three possible recommendations for punishment open to court, to admonish the accused, suspend him or depose him, the first was chosen by the court.

Mother Flies With Him on First Leg of Jaunt for New Air Mail Service

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) April 24. (AP)—With his mother as a passenger, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from this field this afternoon on the first leg of a flight that will carry him in the next week to the Canal Zone and back again. He landed at Bolling Field, Washington, at 5:47 p.m.

He is en route to Miami, Fla., where next Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. he will take off for Havana in a Pan-American Airways plane with the first seven-day air-mail bound for Buenos Aires. He will spend the night at Havana at the American Embassy, then the next day—Sunday—make a dawn-to-dusk flight across the Caribbean to Cristobal, C. Z.

There he will wait until the seven-day mail bound from Buenos Aires to New York comes in. That probably will be next Wednesday. He will fly that mail back to Miami, arriving Thursday, and then return to New York.

He flew his own scarlet-and-black, low-winged monoplane today, the plane in which with his wife set a new cross-continent record last Sunday.

Oil Tank Blast and Fire Causes $10,000 Damage

A large tank of waste oil at the Domingues refinery of the Shell Oil Company exploded about 10 o'clock last night and the ensuing fire did damage estimated at $10,000. Although the flames spread to four other tanks, firemen and workmen prevented extensive damage to them. No one was injured.

The management had about 200 men fighting the fire and by midnight it was under control. No cause could be assigned for the accident. The field is about three and one-half miles from Compton.

VETERAN PAY BILL APPROVED

March 1, 1931. It also goes to the Senate.

The principal provision of the bill would award compensation to veterans for disabilities arising from any disease incurred up to January 1, 1930. This is in sharp contrast with the existing law which places a time limit of July 2, 1921, upon disabilities entitled to compensation, with the exception of five stated chronic diseases. As introduced, the measure set January 1, 1925, as the time limit, but this provision was amended from the floor.

An amendment by Representative Fish, Republican, New York, was incorporated in the measure, under which a veteran receiving hospital treatment, but no compensation, would be given $8 a month during the period of his hospitalization. Fish said this change was necessary in order to provide funds for necessities for the veterans while under the care of the government and to prevent discontent.

Priest Fined on Liquor Charge

ALBERT LEA (Minn.) April 24. (AP)—Rev. Joseph Hayostek, a Roman Catholic priest of Rochester, Minn., pleaded guilty to transportation of liquor today and was fined $100 and costs. He then was held for Fairmont (Minn.) authorities, who have a warrant charging him with attempting to attack a young woman.

Tattooing of Shrew Barred in Germany

MOELLN (Germany) April 24. (AP) The tattooing of a shrew is an offense in Germany, no matter how great the provocation.

In the case of A. Sybold, 55 years of age, and slight of build, the court admitted the provocation had been great indeed.

Sybold had married a woman much younger and stronger than he. She developed a shrewish temper and a habit of beating him unmercifully when he talked back.

So one night, with his eyes still black and swollen from the last beating, he stealthily bound his sleeping spouse to her bed, gagged her and then tattooed upon her body weird designs calculated to warn possible future victims. Then he fled.

When he was haled into court his story of marital suffering won sympathetic words from the judge. The latter pointed out, however, the danger of encouraging widespread tattooing of shrews and gave Sybold his choice of a $250 fine or three months in jail.

SOUTHWESTERN PROJECTS SAFE

Funds for Dam and Harbor Provided in Budget

Hoover's Economy Plea Not Applicable to Them

Presidential Warning Aims at New Undertakings

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24. (Exclusive)—President Hoover's recent warning that Congress must apply the brakes to appropriations if a treasury deficit is to be avoided, will not, according to the best judgment obtainable here today, have any adverse effect upon the plan for constructing Boulder Dam or carrying out the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor improvement program.

Both these projects, it was pointed out by officials and members of Congress, are in the fortunate position of having had their financial demands anticipated, and thus they do not fall in the class of proposed expenditures, which is giving the administration alarm.

"I hardly think so," said Secretary Wilbur, when asked if the tight fiscal situation would interfere with Boulder Dam, and he went on to explain that the appropriation requested of Congress for the fiscal year starting July 1, next, will be comparatively small—a matter of "a few million dollars." Just how many millions will be asked, he said, will have to wait the outcome of a study the Interior Department now is making to determine how far it can practically advance the Colorado River development in the next year.

CONTRACTS READY

He pointed out that there is much preliminary work to be done, such as the building of the city at the dam site to take care of workmen and their families, before actual construction can be started, although he indicated that the latter will get well under way within the next year.

He also reminded that the Interior Department appropriation bill, about to be passed by Congress, carries $300,000 to defray the expense of a certain part of this preliminary work.

The best information here is that the Boulder Dam power contracts are about completed and will be signed within the next week or ten days. One report had the contracts now in the mails from Los Angeles, complete except for the signature of Secretary Wilbur. With the financial set-up agreed upon, it is Wilbur's intention to go immediately to Congress with a request for an initial appropriation to get the project actually under way.

Representative Swing of El Centro, Cal., co-author of the Boulder Dam Act, has been watching the situation closely. He said today that "the House will appropriate any reasonable amount for Boulder Dam which the Secretary may ask." He expressed the hope that the request may come in the near future, to avoid the last-minute adjournment rush in which so many bills perish.

HARBOR REGARDED SAFE

The Los Angeles Harbor breakwater and dredging allocations, totaling $8,346,000, and included in the omnibus rivers and harbors bill to be taken up in the House tomorrow, appear to be in no danger. This measure has been anticipated by the government, and has been pared down by the House committee below the amount counted upon.

Representative Dempsey of New York, chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, said today: "I understand the Executive approves the bill." Dempsey had lunch with President Hoover before reporting the bill to the House, and this was apparently his way of saying that the President favors the measure, without directly quoting the Executive.

Mr. Dempsey said that the President's letter to Congress warning of a possible deficit was aimed at "new" appropriation bills, many of which have made some headway in Congress without having received any consideration by the Budget Bureau or other fiscal officials of the government and which, in the aggregate, run up an appalling potential outlay of funds. The rivers and harbors chairman pointed out that the measure going before the House tomorrow simply allocates money among the various projects, and that the actual appropriation will be made in the second deficiency bill originating with the appropriations committee.

Appropriations Chairman Wood indicated there will be no difficulty in passing the rivers and harbors bill, carrying a total of around $112,000,000, substantially as it has been reported by the Rivers and Harbors Committee.

NEW MESS IN SENATE

Immigration Bill Brings Tangle

Press Gallery Gives Word Apprising Legislators of Situation

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24. (Exclusive)—The Senate got itself into a grand legislative mix-up today as it continued consideration of the Harris immigration restriction bill aimed at Mexico.

First, it reversed the stand taken two days ago and voted, 37 to 36, to strike out of the Norbeck amendment that portion which would repeal the national origins basis for determining immigration.

Then, with almost childlike innocence of the effect of the action, it adopted viva voce the remainder of the Norbeck amendment providing that immigration shall be 1 per cent of the census of 1890. This, a scaled-down return to the system employed prior to the time the national origins provision went into effect, July 1, 1890, would cut annual immigration from Europe to 80 000 instead of the present 150,000.

Thus, the Senate set up two separate and wholly conflicting methods for measuring immigration.

All Senators on the floor, including Johnson of California, who is leading the restriction fight against Mexico; Republican Leader McNary of Oregon, and Harris of Georgia, author of the pending bill, were oblivious to the incongruity of the situation until it was called to their attention by members of the press gallery. This done, they went into a series of huddles, with the result that McNary announced just before adjournment that the tangle will be straightened tomorrow.

REPETITION IN PROSPECT

Presumably, the national origins question will have to be threshed out and voted on a third time, and so evenly is the Senate divided on this issue that it is about fifty-fifty that the decision tomorrow again will be for repeal of this much-disputed provision which, incidentally, has the opposition of President Hoover. The situation is all very muddled, and amusing, and what happened today is illustrative of the general confusion surrounding the Harris bill.

In moving a recess, however, Senator McNary told the Senate that the expectation was for final disposition of the measure tomorrow. At quitting time, late this afternoon, the Senate was wrangling over the Kendrick amendment allowing seasonal Mexican labor under bond, which was adopted yesterday and which represents one of the several glaring inconsistencies in the legislation as it now stands.

SEPARATE VOTE URGED

The national origins repealer was knocked out because of the insistence of Southern Democrats that a separate vote be taken on this part of the Norbeck amendment. Senator Fess of Ohio, in the chair, ruled that a motion to strike out the repealer phraseology was in order, and the motion was made by Swanson of Virginia. The vote first was 37 to 36 for upholding the repeal, but Gould of Maine switched his vote at the last minute and saved the day for the friends of the origins law.

Immediately following the announcement of the result, the Senate complacently approved the rest of the Norbeck amendment establishing the return of the 1890 census quota system.

It should be explained that the national origins method gives Europe a lump quota of 150,000 immigrants a year, and these are apportioned among the various countries, according to the proportion of their respective nationals already in the United States, as determined by a governmental board of experts. The percentage quota system is entirely different, giving each European nation a specific slice of immigration based on the number of nationals it had in the United States as shown by the census of forty years ago.

ENTIRELY DIFFERENT

Thus it is readily seen that the two methods are entirely different, and would not work in any sort of combination. The immigration bureau at the Labor Department quietly told inquirers this afternoon that if the Senate "error" stands the result will be "chaos" and probably no restriction at all. But, of course, it will not stand and the Senate will get out of the mess some way.

The amendment that will be before the Senate, after today's tangle is straightened out, is that by Kendrick of Wyoming adopted yesterday authorizing the Secretary of Labor to let in Mexicans under bond for seasonal farm labor. Blaine of Wisconsin led the fight against this today with a long speech contending that the amendment would wreck the purpose of the entire restriction bill, and would violate the spirit if not the letter, of the Contract Labor Law of 1917.

Right at the start of the session today, Senator McNary attempted to get a unanimous cloture agreement limiting debates, but there were several objectors.

While McNary and other leaders may hope for a final vote tomorrow, there is no assurance they will get it. If they don't, a Saturday session may be necessary, and even then the Harris bill may not be disposed of before the Senate on Monday takes up the Parker Supreme Court nomination, in which event the immigration would be laid aside for an indefinite period and perhaps for the rest of the session.

NEW BILLS DIFFICULT TO IMITATE

Public Warned, However, Not to Relax Vigilance Against Counterfeiting

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Since the new, small-sized currency has come into use Walter E. Hope, assistant Secretary of the Treasury, has found that note raising has become almost a lost art.

He attributes the elimination of this form of counterfeiting to the difficulty of changing the new currency which was put into circulation last July. Each of the new bills has a special design for each denomination so that raising the numerals would not fool anyone who looked at the note with care.

The assistant Secretary said, however, that the public's faith in the new currency is so complete that the average person is becomnig careless. To this only he attributed sucess in passing counterfeits of the new money.

Hope added, however, that counterfeit bills will continue to appear and warned the public not to relax its vigilance.

METHODISTS RAPPED ON SMALL GAIN

Mission Board Secretary Terms Situation as One of Protestant Scandals

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) April 24. (AP) Dr. W. G. Cram, general secretary of the board of missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, declared today that "with rich resources and with preachers and workers equipped for preaching the gospel, Protestantism in general and Methodism in particular, has made a miserable showing in membership gains and in evangelism of the masses."

In his annual report to the board he termed this situation "one of the scandals of American Protestantism." However, he said, he is encouraged by an advance in developing home mission policies and substantial gains in the foreign fields.

One of Methodism's greatest home mission opportunities, he said, is among the Mexicans of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California.

Freighter Takes Out Section of Bridge in North

VANCOUVER (B. C.) April 24. (AP)—Carried by the tide and treacherous currents in Burrard Inlet near here, the American freighter Losmar today crashed into the second narrows bridge, carried away the south span and herself was swept onto the rocky shore east of the bridge.

Three men working on the bridge had a narrow escape, fleeing to safety barely ahead of the splintering timbers.

The Losmar was refloated late today when tugs succeeded in hauling her off the rocky perch on which she had settled.

OHIO PRISON IN REVOLT

Warden Removal Demanded

Suspension of Institution Head Proposed to Governor

COLUMBUS (O.) April 24. (AP)—With hundreds of Ohio State penitentiary convicts in open revolt tonight demanding removal of Warden Preston E. Thomas, prison officials faced the task of preventing violence after one of the most troublesome days in the history of the institution.

Developments as an aftermath of the disaster Monday night when 318 convicts died in fire and smoke while locked in their cells, were rapid. At times it was feared that 3000 prisoners would break for liberty.

RESISTANCE PASSIVE

Leaders of the men, however, said they intended only "passive resistance," until Thomas's removal. Resistance included refusal to obey orders or to work. In the meantime a proposal to suspend the warden temporarily was placed before Gov. Cooper.

Prisoners testified in Gov. Cooper's investigation that Warden Thomas ruled the convicts with cruelty and that the prisoners were organized to continue resistance until the warden is removed.

The convict witnesses blamed Guard Captain Hall, 72 years of age, for the great loss of life, saying he had failed to order release of the trapped men.

In the meantime relatives of the prison dead continued to remove the bodies from the temporary morgue at the State fairgrounds. Several unclaimed bodies were to be buried here tomorrow at mass funeral services. Only about half the bodies were claimed. The unidentified dead were to be held for several days.

At the prison early today a revolt of several convicts was quieted, but soon thereafter the convicts in the idle house, where practically all cell door locks had been broken, demanded release into the yard. Seven hundred gallons of hot coffee were served, and for a short time the men were quieted.

GUARD RETAINED

At dawn plans were made to release some of the soldiers on duty outside, but the orders were quickly rescinded and additional troops called when the unruly leaders in the idle house, other cell blocks and the yard, urged the prisoners to "take a chance" on a break. For a time rioting was feared. Even the calm voices of ministers and of the more cool-headed prisoners failed to prevail.

Not until Deputy Warden J. C. Woodward spoke to the men did they calm down and announce there would be no violence but that they would resist the warden's rule passively.

The convicts made four demands—a commutation of sentence for John Richardson, murderer condemned to die tomorrow night, but later in the day given a thirty-day respite by Gov. Cooper because the clemency board had no time to consider his case; removal of the board of clemency; an unlimited supply of tobacco, and removal of Thomas as warden.

After hearing the demands and testimony, Atty.-Gen. Gilbert Bettman announced he would propose to the Governor that the warden be suspended. No immediate action on the proposal was taken.

He indicated he would fight any suspension order and asserted the clamor for his removal came from only 10 per cent of the prisoners.

CAMERAS MAY WIN NEXT WAR

Night Photography Proves Perfect in Maneuvers

Army May Take Pictures 400 Miles Distant.

Great Progress in Fighting Told by Aviator

BY MAJ. C. C. MOSELEY
Formerly pilot Twenty-seventh Squadron First Pursuit Group, A.E.F., now vice-president and western manager Curtiss-Wright Flying Service.

SACRAMENTO, April 24. (Exclusive)—Camera marksmanship and the science of aerial photography may have a lot to do with who wins the next war.

Today, as three weeks of intensive training maneuvers by the provisional wing, Army Air Corps, were concluded with aerial defense of San Francisco against hypothetical enemy sea forces, the most interesting advance scored during this time, in my opinion, with exception of radio, is in this field.

Hundreds of negatives and more than 20,000 prints have been turned out here by the fifteenth photographic unit of Crissy Field in evidence of the extraordinary military value now attaching to this branch of the service.

NIGHT PHOTOGRAPHY

Among the outstanding experiments conducted by Capt. A. W. Stevens, Lieuts. Edwin B. Bobzeen and Hilford R. Wallace, the development of night photography seems the most important. So far has this progressed and so successful have been the tests that night photography is almost certain completely to revolutionize military tactics of future wars.

Imagine yourself back on the western front. Night has mercifully blotted from sight the shell-torn trenches whose tired and hungry defenders are cheered by the prospect of food and possibly some respite from the day's fighting.

EVERYTHING PHOTOGRAPHED

Now the back areas are astir with intense activity. Thousands of replacement troops are marching up under cover of darkness to relieve their comrades on the front. Every road is choked with marching men moving in or out of the battle zone. Supplies of all sorts are on the way forward. Ammunition trucks, ambulances and motorcycle side cars add to the heavy traffic and confusion. In the complete darkness it is difficult to maintain order. But now an airplane drones overhead and suddenly, some 1500 feet in the air, there is a terrific explosion. It is a new kind of bomb, detonating with the noise and concussion of 300 pounds of blasting powder or dynamite.

For the space of one full second the entire back-trench area is lighted up like day. Every man, each piece of equipment, materials, landmarks stand out with the distinctness of noonday glare and well it might, for the mammoth flash had delivered the actinic light value of 5,000,000 candle power.

Not ten minutes later, enemy artillerymen are eagerly adjusting their sights and pieces for a concentrated hail of fire into the thick of this densely populated region. Before them is a radio-transmitted photographic print showing these targets more faithfully plotted than human eye or hand might portray. Then pandemonium reigns.

DISTANCE PHOTOGRAPHY

Again—suppose there is an enemy ammunition concentration point 170 miles behind the lines so well hidden and protected that American aircraft have been unable to reach it. A photographic ship is sent up to 25,000 feet on its own side of the battle front. There, safe from interference, the cameraman photographs the distant terrain almost 200 miles away, develops his negatives on the way down, and delivers them to headquarters where gigantic pantographic enlargements are made for detailed study and analysis.

Long-distance photography is just beginning, says Capt. Stevens, who is probably the foremost expert on aerial photography in the world today. Its only limitations are the earth's curvature. Stevens has taken pictures of incredible clarity 250 miles away. From 35,000 feet he believes his lenses will produce an objective 400 miles distant. Stevens left today for Los Angeles to make arrangements for photographing the solar eclipse on the 28th inst. in conjunction with scientists of the Lick and Mt. Wilson observatories.

Under this expert at the McCook laboratories, exhaustive experiments are constantly in progress toward further perfection of cameras, lenses, special emulsions and plates, filters, and other equipment. Unlimited funds are at his disposal and another year or two should prove equally sensational in result.

FLYER IN TRAINING FOR BUDAPEST TRIP

Alexander Magyar

ST. LOUIS, April 24. (Exclusive) This city, which once received great quantities of beneficial advertising from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic in the "Spirit of St. Louis," appears destined to repeat. For Alexander Magyar, war-time lieutenant in the Austrian air service, is here training for a flight from Detroit to Budapest.

The Austrian will use a Lockheed Sirius, similar to the plane in which Lindbergh just lowered the transcontinental record. While no definite date for Magyar's attempt has been made, it is understood it will be in early June. He plans to hop from Detroit to St. John, N. F., where he will refuel for the second hop to Ireland, and then to Budapest.

DEFENDERS WIN IN AIR BATTLE

destruction, soared over the "Red" battleships and major vessels and unleashed their deadly cargo. First the light bombers dived on the enemy vessels and after their bombs had been dropped, returned to formation under protection of the attack and pursuit ships. Next the heavy bombers roared down to complete the work of destruction.

In less than an hour the enemy fleet, consisting of two divisions of battleships, three cruiser divisions thirty destroyers, an aircraft carrier and scores of auxiliary vessels had been put to theoretical rout.

Then came the clean-up work after the enemy had sought safety in flight.

Attack planes of the "Blue" army hovered over those enemy ships still afloat and rained machine-gun fire and smaller "Cooper" bombs on their decks. The pursuit ships sought out and brought down fleeing "Red" planes while the bombers and observation planes pointed their noses toward Sacramento and Mather Field to report "Mission successfully completed."

TO FLY SOUTHWARD

The attack on San Francisco climaxed the air corps' three weeks of maneuvers over Northern and Central California, and on their return to Mather Field the wing made ready to leave for a two-day demonstration in Southern California before dispersing.

Only one phase of today's battle was unsuccessful. The gyro-piloted Condor bomber which was sent out to find and "sink" the steamer Silver Oak 100 miles outside the Gate, developed trouble with a gas line sixty miles en route and limped back to Crissey Field with motors sputtering. This bomber, with four passengers, recently flew from Sacramento to San Francisco and return, guided only, except for the take-off and landing, by the ghostly mechanism under the pilot's seat.

MRS. HOOVER LISTENS IN AS SON BROADCASTS

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who has been the White House invalid for more than a week because of a sprained back, today listened to her son, Herbert Hoover, Jr., broadcasting from an airplane over San Francisco a description of an army maneuver defense of Golden Gate from a pretended attack by enemy planes.

Canada Scans Possibilities for Titular Leader

OTTAWA (Ont.) April 24. (Canadian Press)—Advices from Australia that an appointment of an Australian as Governor-General of that commonwealth has been suggested has revived the gossip in this capital as to who will be the next Governor-General in this Dominion. Viscount Willingdon's term expires next year. He was appointed on August 5, 1926, and took office two months later.

It has been frequently suggested that the Duke of York might be named and he likely would be the first choice of most Canadians. In case this should not be possible, the question of the appointment of a Canadian no doubt will be given much consideration. The name of Sir Robert Borden has been mentioned. The views of the Canadian government likely will go forward this year, possibly at the time of the imperial conference.

WOMAN HURT IN BLAST

PLANT CITY (Fla.) April 24. (AP) Mrs. J. L. Waller, 55 years of age, was injured, perhaps fatally, by the explosion of a bomb that partly wrecked her home here today. A short while before a neighbor, H. B. Willaford, awoke to find what he described to police as "four infernal machines" under his house and barn.

Thump on Back Discloses Boy Heavily Armed

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (AP)—The Travelers' Aid Society felt so sorry for Roderick Clements, 16 years of age, that it not only gave him a ferry ticket to Oakland but also put him in care of an officer to see that he got safely away from the cruel, wicked city.

"There, there, my boy, I'll take you to your mamma," said the kindly officer, giving little Roderick a hearty thump on the back. The thump jarred some of Roderick's equipment and a good-sized pistol fell at his feet.

Instead of taking little Roderick away from the cruel, wicked city the officer marched him to the detention home, where his pockets disgorged eighty pistol cartridges and a flashlight.

MAJ. WHITE TO QUIT RADIO BROADCASTING

NEW YORK, April 24. (AP)—Maj. J. Andrew White, one of the pioneers of radio and a founder of the Columbia Broadcasting System, today announced his withdrawal from active participation in the broadcasting field, effective May 1. He has resigned from all executive duties, but will retain his stock holdings in the Columbia system. Maj. White has been one of the chief executives of the network since 1927, being its first president and later managing director.

KOHLER SCORES IN FUND TRIAL

Wisconsin Governor Wins Important Ruling

SHEBOYGAN (Wis.) April 24. (AP) Walter J. Kohler, Wisconsin's millionaire Governor, accused of attaining office by excessive campaign expenditures, today scored a debated point in his ouster trial as Circuit Judge Gehrz rendered an "informal" opinion that so long as the Governor was not responsible other persons might spend as much as they desired in his campaign.

Four "Progressive" Republican leaders headed by Phil La Follette seek the "Conservative" Republican Governor's removal on charges that he spent more than $100,000 in his successful 1928 campaign in violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

Defense attorneys readily admitted that more than the legal $4000 was spent, but insisted the excess was unauthorized by Gov. Kohler. The prosecution maintained any excess funds were expended by the Governor's "authorized agents," and he was responsible for them.

Naval Officer Hangs Himself

PORTSMOUTH (Eng.) April 24. (AP)—Shortly before the British cruiser Champion was to have gone out on firing practice today her commanding officer, Capt. Richard Martin Welby, was found hanging dead in the bathroom of his cabin.

It was understood farewell letters were left by Capt. Welby, who was between 40 and 50 years of age, and had been promoted to the rank of Captain in December, 1928. He was appointed to the Champion last October. The contents of the letters were withheld by the authorities.

HILL'S SON MUST PAY LAWYER $5000 FEE

BUTTE (Mont.) April 24. (AP)—Walter J. Hill, son of the late J. J. Hill, railway builder, must pay Thomas J. Walker, Butte attorney, $5000 for legal services rendered in obtaining a reconciliation between Hill and his wife, a former Follies girl, two years ago. A jury returned this verdict last night after hearing a suit instituted by Walker. At present Mrs. Hill has a suit for divorce pending in Park county.

OAKLAND TRIO TO STAND TRIAL

Ormsby, Sheriff and Aide Plead Not Guilty

OAKLAND, April 24. (Exclusive) Burton F. Decker, ousted Alameda county Sheriff; J. L. Davis, one of his former deputies, and Cromwell L. Ormsby today pleaded not guilty before Superior Judge Wood to a grand jury indictment accusing them of arranging protection for lotteries in Emeryville. Trial was set for May 26, next.

Davis then returned to the court of Superior Judge Engs, where he and former Deputy Sheriffs Collier and Shurtleff are being tried with two asserted Livermore bootleggers for protecting liquor establishments at a definite rate of pay.

Becker was charged by Manuel Pisani, a witness who has confessed participation in the operation of a still, with visiting a pig sty at Russel City during the night so he would not be seen and giving his okey to the location as desirable for operations.

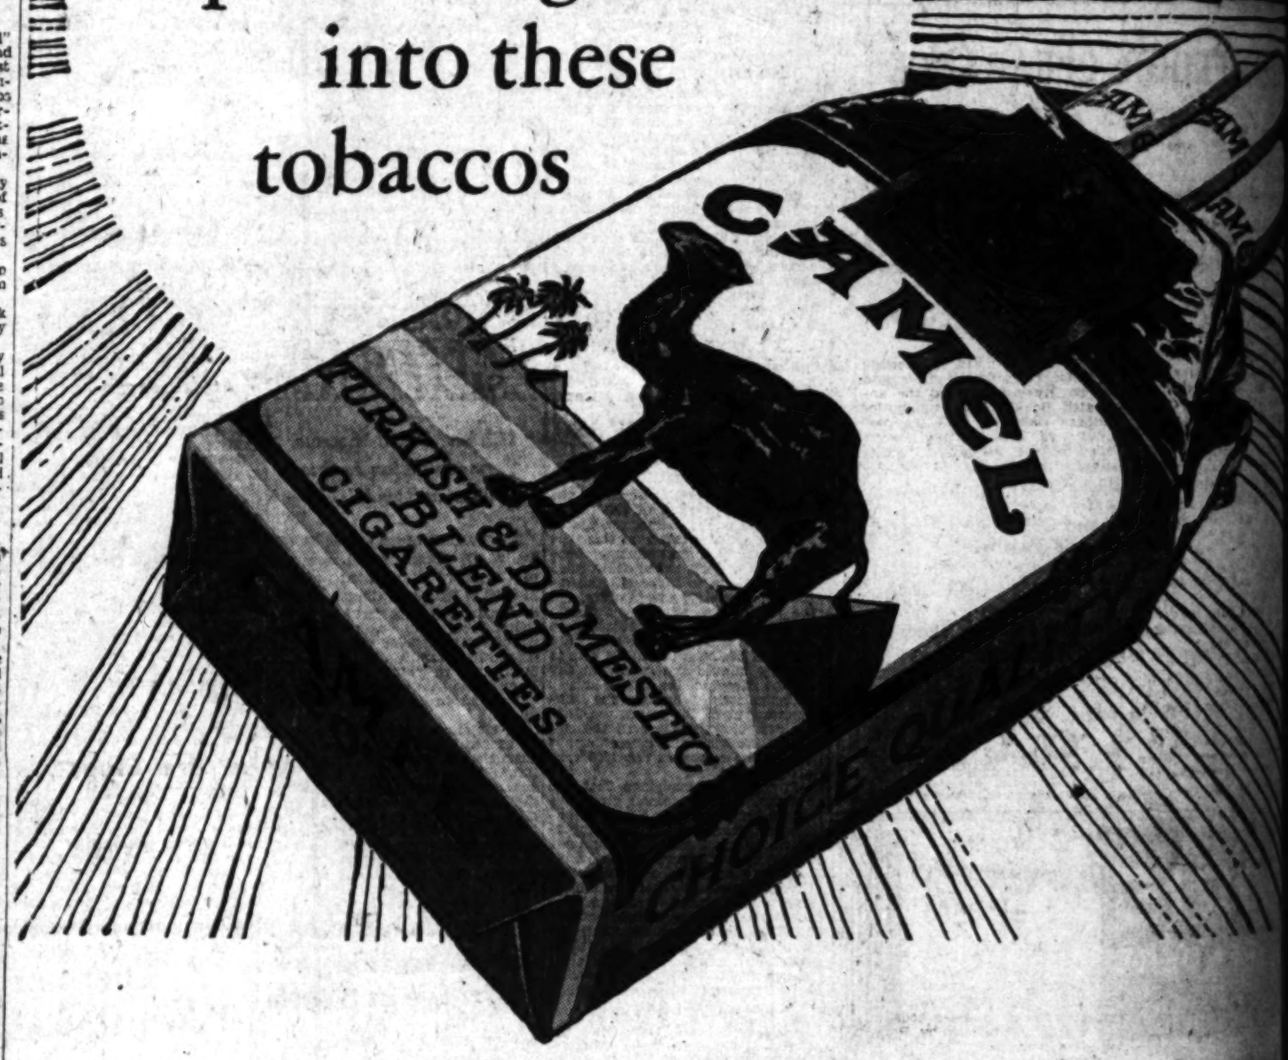
The SUN pours fragrance into these tobaccos



LONG BEFORE the choice leaves of golden Turkish and velvety brown Domestic tobacco are selected for Camel Cigarettes, nature's own alchemy has worked a miracle in them that no effort of man can hope to duplicate.

Every tiny leaf-cell is irradiated—stored full of goodness by the clean, pure vigor of the sun!

Our share in the making of Camels is to see that all of the fragrance, mildness, mellowness, aroma—in a word all of the natural goodness of these sun-ripened tobaccos is preserved and developed—then to combine them into the smooth, delightful harmony of the famous Camel blend, and manufacture them into cigarettes by the most modern methods known to the industry.

W. R. GREGORY

...has now sold and distributed in the last two years time—no more convincing proof could be offered of its marvelous powers. Sargon's success rests solidly upon the firm foundation of actual accomplishment. Thousands of cases can be cited like that of W. R. Gregory ... Vandalay Drive, who for many years has lived in Los Angeles and has hundreds of friends.

"It not only relieved my constipation, but it increased my weight 11 pounds, and I never felt better in my life.

"I was weak, rundown and unwell. I suffered so with dyspepsia that many a night I couldn't get a wink of sleep and I was so blue and despondent I hardly knew what to do. My food would sour and felt like it weighed a ton in my stomach, and then I'd get nauseated and have terrible attacks of heartburn and gas. Then, too, I was bothered with a sluggish liver and constipation, and had to take strong purgatives every night.

"To make a long story short—two bottles of Sargon made a new man out of me. I'm eating like any other healthy person, every trace of stomach trouble and indigestion has disappeared. My weight and strength have returned, I sleep sound and get mornings feeling fine.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills gave me regular bowel movements and stimulated my liver, without the least bad effect, and the relief is lasting, too.

"My wife also took Sargon and got the same wonderful results I did, and now both of us tell everyone we talk to about Sargon. I even go so far as to tell people on the street and in cars about Sargon, and if anyone wants to know more just tell them to phone me at Chicago 3214."

The Sargon Man is at the Owl Drug Store, 6th & Broadway, where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this remarkable new medicine. Sargon may also be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores and Liggett's Drug Stores in Los Angeles and suburbs.—[Advertisement.

WATER DISTRICT PROBLEMS TOLD

Society of Civil Engineers Hears Weymouth Paper

Colorado Aqueduct Routes Still Under Study

How to Cross San Andreas Fault Offers Difficulty

SACRAMENTO, April 24. (Exclusive)—How the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California proposes to take water to Los Angeles and neighboring cities through the Colorado River Aqueduct was set forth before the spring meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers here this evening in a paper prepared by Frank E. Weymouth, chief engineer of the district.

Because of the pressure of affairs in his office, Mr. Weymouth could not be here to present his paper in person and so it was read to the society.

CHOICES OFFERED

After pointing out that the selection of any route from the river to Southern California presents formidable problems for the aqueduct builder, Weymouth said that the choice must be made between comparatively straight and short-tunnel routes and longer surface conduits and between pumping lines and gravity lines.

His paper presented an analysis, briefly, of the several routes under consideration showing that they are susceptible to a number of combinations. All of the four routes are still being studied, he said, even the gravity line from Bridge Canyon, although indications are that it is not feasible economically at this time.

HOW TO CROSS FAULT

One of the chief problems is how to cross the great San Andreas fault, which no line from the river can avoid, the report stated. It is hoped that it can be crossed at the surface and at right angles.

"It must be recognized," the paper stated, "that the future will bring with it new problems, and we have no right to bequeath the coming generation any unnecessary or impossible burdens. A solution must be sought which will be fair and equitable, and practicable in all its phases. Such a solution, we are confident, will be found."

CONSERVATION DISCUSSED

Conservation of water in California must be undertaken on a State-wide basis, State Engineer Hyatt told the convention.

Hyatt gave two reasons for his statement, namely:

First, because the San Joaquin Valley and Southern California have inadequate local water supplies to take care of their needs.

Secondly, because any comprehensive water development program due to its magnitude would have to be financed partly or wholly by State bonds.

As a tentative means of meeting the water crisis in the more arid sections, Hyatt mentioned the anticipated Boulder Dam supply for Southern California and the possibility of transporting excess waters of the Sacramento Valley into the San Joaquin Valley.

GRAVITY PLAN DROPPED

In the latter connection, he said, the proposal of a foothill gravity flow conduit to the San Joaquin Valley has been abandoned in favor of a system of locks and pumps, originating at the confluence of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers.

The cost of the co-ordinated plan of water conservation, now being studied by a joint Federal State commission, has been estimated from $100,000,000 to $700,000,000, depending upon the number of units to be constructed.

"There is a great public interest in California in this suggested plan," said Hyatt, "and general acceptance of the idea that the conception is sound and will come about in later years, if not at once."

Investigation of Reds Urged in House Bill

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—An investigation by a House committee of seven into the activities of Communist and other Russian organizations was proposed today in a resolution introduced by Representative Underhill, Republican, Massachusetts.

The committee would be authorized to investigate the Russian-American Trading Corporation, Amtorg, to ascertain whether it is disseminating propaganda from the third internationale against this government.

It would seek to ascertain whether strikes and riots and other disorders can be traced to Russian soviet sources.

Wife-Slaying Charge Denied

EUREKA, April 24. (AP)—Clarence L. King, asserted slayer of his common-law wife, Minnie McCoy, pleaded not guilty before Superior Judge Selvage today to a charge of murder. He pleaded guilty to a prior conviction from Yuba county on a second-degree burglary charge.

The defense attorney, Marc Morrison, filed a demurrer to the information, which was overruled. He then filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which was taken under advisement. Judge Selvage indicated the trial will be set for some date next May.

GRUNDY AND DAVIS WILL AIR CHARGES

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—The Senate Campaign Funds Investigating Committee today agreed to invite Senator Grundy and his opponent in the Pennsylvania Republican Senatorial primary, Secretary Davis, before it to present formally their complaints. The committee also announced the employment of John Andrews, formerly of the editorial staff of the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press as executive secretary.

CITY JOB COMES AS SURPRISE

Oakland Man Says He Will Consult Mayor Before Accepting Berth

OAKLAND, April 24. (Exclusive)—George H. Wilhelm, formerly chief engineer for the East Bay Water Company, today was confirmed by the City Council as Commissioner of Public Works. He said it was the first he had heard of it and he would have to consult with Mayor Davie before reaching a decision.

Woman Attacks Murder Inquiry

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Representative Mary T. Norton, Democrat, New Jersey, said today she deplored that capital police had seen fit "to ruin the reputation of the innocent" in their effort to find the slayer of Mary Baker.

Mrs. Norton also said the case had been "handled clumsily," in the course of a hearing of a House sub-committee on a bill which would provide for the establishment of a school in Washington to train policemen.

BRITISH AIRSHIP MEETS MISHAP

R-100 Damaged While Being Taken from Her Shed

Test Trip for Canada Flight Postponed as Result

Graf Zeppelin Voyage Also Set for Later Date

LONDON, April 24. (AP)—It is reported from Cardington that the huge British dirigible R-100 was damaged while being taken out of her shed today, one of her starboard fins catching against the side of the shed and buckling slightly.

The R-100, which is scheduled to make a flight to Canada next month, was taken from the shed this morning in order to make a test trip preliminary to her Canadian voyage. Plans for a flight today were abandoned.

The Air Ministry confirms the news from Cardington that the R-100 suffered slight damage. An official statement says the airship was being transferred from the hangar to the mast when a cross-wind sprang up and caused the outside edge of the starboard elevator to scrape against the side of the shed.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, master of the Graf Zeppelin, who came to London yesterday after landing from the United States at Southampton, is going to Cardington to inspect the giant British ships R-100 and R-101.

The Graf Zeppelin is expected Saturday afternoon from Friedrichshafen. It will make a ground landing and pick up Dr. Eckener and some British passengers for the trip back to Friedrichshafen.

TEUTON DIRIGIBLE'S SCHEDULE CHANGED

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN (Germany) April 24. (AP)—The Zeppelin works announced today that the South American flight of the Graf Zeppelin has been postponed from May 10 to May 15, next.

Capt. Ernest Lehmann, second in command of the great ship on her world tour last year, informed the Associated Press that the postponement is necessary because of preparations in some of the airports where landings are contemplated taking longer than had been anticipated.

"Even the fifteenth is not absolutely sure," he said.

"I can make merely provisional arrangements pending the arrival of Dr. Hugo Eckener, who has the final say in the matter."

Dr. Eckener, en route back to Germany from the United States, today is in London, where he will stay a few days consulting with officials of the Air Ministry. P. W. Von Meister, American representative, said on Tuesday in New York that the Graf will start on her South American flight May 18.

DEATH LOSES CENSUS RACE

SALEM (Or.) April 24. (AP)—Mrs. Anna Stillwell, 85 years of age, lived just long enough to be enumerated in the 1930 census. She dropped dead as she was being questioned by an enumerator at her home here yesterday. Physicians ascribed her death to natural causes.

PLEDGE ON CHURCHGOING NEW NUPTIAL REQUISITE

NEW YORK, April 24. (Exclusive) Couples wishing to be married at the famous old Grace Protestant Episcopal Church in Lower Broadway will be required, beginning May 1, next, to sign a pledge to associate themselves "for worship and fellowship with some Christian church in the community where they reside," it was announced today by Rev. Dr. W. Russell Bowie, rector of the church.

The new rule, Dr. Bowie explained, is being established after a long and careful consideration by those associated with his church to counteract the lightness with which the younger generation has been regarding matrimony in recent years. The pledge is to impress on those about to be married that "the blessing of the church is a serious and solemn act," he said.

The pledge must be signed at least twenty-four hours before the wedding.

SUIT OPPOSES STEEL MERGER

New Injunction Move Made in Bethlehem Deal

Sheet and Tube Company Stockholder Backs Fight

Combine Approved Recently by Narrow Margin

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) April 24. (AP) A new injunction suit to restrain consummation of the proposed merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation was filed in Common Pleas Court here late today.

The petition, asking injunction and relief, was filed in the name of Myron C. Wick, Jr., and International Shares Corporation, naming the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and the Bethlehem Corporation as joint defendants.

Sale of sheet and tube to Bethlehem recently was approved in a stockholders' election by a small majority, counting several blocks of stock the voting rights of which were challenged by opponents of the merger. Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, who is the largest single stockholder in Sheet and Tube, is leader of the merger opposition and has stated he will fight it "to the last ditch."

MISSIONARIES FLEE BANDITS

Report China Reds Placing Price on Foreigners

Russian Currency Used to Employ Recruits

Communists Capture City and Slay Officials

CANTON (China) April 24. (AP)—Two American missionaries who fled here today from Sinfeng, Kiangsi Province, said Red bandit leaders were offering a reward of $200 for every foreigner captured, saying that "all foreigners would be killed." Sixty thousand peasants, they said, had enlisted recently in the Communist army which has been despoiling the province for many months. Soviet propaganda, they asserted, is making great headway among the masses, who are paid in Russian currency.

The missionaries, Fathers McLaughlin and Moehringer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., said that sixteen American Catholic missionaries at Kanchow are in danger of capture by Red troops and possible execution, as the city was near surrender after a siege since early last month.

TO EVACUATE KANCHOW

Chinese troops were reported about to evacuate Kanchow, according to reports at Sinfeng, when the priests left there the 10th inst. At that time, the fate of foreigners at Kanchow was not known at Sinfeng, fifty-three miles south.

Hundreds of the besieging Communist troops were killed by Kanchow defenders between March 18 and 21 with rifle and machine gun fire as they attempted to scale the city walls with ladders, said McLaughlin and Moehringer.

Fearing that they would be killed when Sinfeng was captured, McLaughlin and Moehringer fled from the city the 10th inst. Two days later, they said, the Reds poured into Sinfeng and "cut open alive" all city officials they could find. They murdered 200 of the leading inhabitants.

In addition to themselves, said the priests, several other missionaries escaped from Sinfeng and vicinity. Others were unable to leave the district, and their fate is unknown.

FOREIGNERS WARNED

A letter from a missionary in the besieged city of Kanchow dated the 4th inst., received in Shanghai, stated that while the walls still barred Communists from Kanchow, the Reds had notified officials they considered that foreigners were responsible for their failure to capture the city. The Reds were quoted as saying:

"When the city falls our first act will be to execute foreigners, as it was the necessity for protecting them that held troops within the city, robbing us of our prize."

The letter expressed the opinion, however, that the city was not in danger of capture. The Reds had a strong force about Kanchow, it said, but had withdrawn others.

Battleship Figures No Longer Want Cruiser Lines

New York Women's Club to Aid in Rebellion

NEW YORK, April 24. (AP)—The unstylish stout is on the rampage and something is going to be done about this business of trying to cram a battleship figure into a cruiser-line gown.

A brand-new line of clothes will be displayed on Fifth avenue next fall by the ladies who tip the scales at 175 pounds or more.

Next Tuesday afternoon women, who confess to being "mighty sick" of trying to wear their daughter's clothes, will gather at the home-making center of the State Federation of Women's Club to select a committee to wage the battle. And for perhaps the first time in their history they're going "to see themselves as others see them."

HORRIBLE EXAMPLES

To show how much in earnest they are over this business of getting clothes to suit them, a number of women have offered to display themselves as "horrible examples" in a style show.

"They're going to don tight coats that hug no-longer-slim hips, belted frocks that pinch portly diaphragms and ruffled dreams designed for slim 16-year-old misses who have never tasted a cream puff. And they're going to march back and forth and show the assembled multitude just how terrible they can look.

"The great trouble has been," one of the leaders of the movement declared, "that women who haven't streamline figures any more just won't see themselves as they really are.

WILL RAISE HECK NOW

"When they go to buy their clothes, they either have to get things designed originally for their daughters and stretched out of all proportion for their own dimensions, or else they have to get something that looks like a grandmother. The designers just don't make things for them.

"Every year they sit back and wait until the styles come out and then, when it's too late, they begin to holler. This time we aren't going to wait until we see fashions to raise heck. We're going to begin right now."

They're going to begin after the style show Tuesday by selecting a committee to tell the dress manufacturers, who are already interested, what they want in the way of colors and belts and hemlines, and a few other things.

LEADERS INTERESTED

Mme. Helen Volka, style director of the Home Making Center; Mrs. Frank Shuler, president of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. William Dick Sporborg, first vice-president of the State federation, and other prominent members will be there to aid in that committee's selection.

The dress manufacturers have agreed to tell their buyers to bring back fall models from Paris, which can be adapted with some dash to hips which are no longer what they used to be. A number of prominent New York shops have promised to take on and sell the revised models.

And when fall comes, the woman who weighs promises herself, she'll be "as easy to gaze upon" as her slim and shining daughter.

OLD AFRICAN CEMETERIES DISCOVERED

[Copyright, 1930, by New York Times.]

CAIRO, April 24. (Exclusive)—Last November the Egyptian government dispatched to Nubia an expedition to carry out archeological research work in anticipation of raising the Assuan dam, the result of which, it is estimated, would flood an area of nearly 1000 square miles of land and thus preclude the possibility of further excavations.

The government opened a credit of $150,000. Two Englishmen, accompanied by three native Egyptologists and more than 100 workmen, started digging.

They have now found south of Assuan, in what is called the Valley of the Lion, sixteen cemeteries and 250 tombs, one of which is regarded as most important, because it contains all materials intact and is prehistoric. One cemetery belongs to the eighteenth dynasty, another is Greco-Roman.

Most of the finds appertain to civilization of Meroe, the second capital of ancient Ethiopia, first mentioned by Herodotus. The lot includes many important objects in gold and precious stones.

Deaths in Crash Mount to Five

OREGON CITY (Or.) April 24. (AP)—The death toll in the automobile-Southern Pacific locomotive crash near Canby, Or., late yesterday mounted to five today with the death in a hospital here of Irene Evans, 7 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Evans, New Era (Or.) residents, who were killed in the crash.

Maude Anthony, 27, New Era, daughter of Herman Anthony, 70, wealthy New Era farmer, who also was killed in the wreck, was reported to have improved slightly, but the burns she suffered when the automobile caught fire may cause her death.

DISTRICT JUDGE NAMED

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Robert P. Patterson was nominated today by President Hoover to be United States District Judge for the southern district of New York. Mr. Patterson would succeed Thomas D. Thacher, recently made Solicitor-General, in the event the Senate confirms the nomination.

PHILLIPS LOBBY CHARGE DENIED

Pennsylvania Candidate for Governor Defended

Dry Foes' Head Minimizes High Court Letters

Taft's Prohibition Comments Cited as Parallel

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Defending the action of Thomas W. Phillips, candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, in writing letters on prohibition to two members of the United States Supreme Court, Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, told the Senate lobby committee today that the correspondence was "not lobbying in even the least sense of the word."

The letters, read yesterday before the lobby committee, were written last year to Justice Stone and the late Justice Sanford. They consisted largely of an attack on prohibition and drew a charge from Senator Robinson, Republican, Indiana, that the antiprohibition association, of which Phillips is a director, was "lobbying directly with the Supreme Court."

MERELY CORRESPONDENCE

Curran said today the letters consisted merely of "correspondence between old friends" and cited a letter written by the late Chief Justice Taft to Irving Fisher of Yale University, which discussed prohibition, as evidence that lobbying was not intended.

The Taft letter, which has been made public at the prohibition hearings before the House Judiciary Committee, was written, Curran said, when Fisher sent the Chief Justice a book by himself which favored prohibition. The letter was placed in the lobby committee record.

Senator Robinson, however, was not satisfied with Curran's explanation and described the letter writing as "indefensible" and "reprehensible." He said he was surprised that Phillips had not been "haled before the court."

It also was brought out that Walter G. Hooke, assistant to Curran, had been active in the Illinois and New York legislatures last year in opposition to dry laws. Questioned by Robinson, Curran said the association had "lobbied" in Illinois.

LAMONT'S RESIGNATION

The resignation of Secretary Lamont as a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment when he became head of the Commerce Department, was brought out in a letter read before the committee from Benedict Crowell of Cleveland, to Curran.

Curran testified the association had paid the expenses of F. G. R. Gordon of Haverhill, Mass., to work for the re-election of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, in 1928.

Questioned by the committee, he said the association was not ready for prohibition referenda in California and Colorado.

"We have got so much to do this fall," he said, "in helping to elect Representatives and Senators opposed to prohibition that if we get all cluttered up with a lot of referenda we get scattered about too thin."

WETS WIND UP ATTACK ON LAW

Amendment or modification of the Volstead Act.

As the committee membership has a preponderance of drys, the wets do not expect any of the repeal or modification measures to receive a favorable report.

Opponents of prohibition were the first heard by the committee when the sessions started some time ago. After they had painted a picture of drinking among youth, crowded jails and increase in crime, the drys were heard. They attributed to prohibition increased savings deposits, industrial expansion, happier homes, and better living conditions generally.

Today's session wound up a two-day rebuttal period given the wets. They called upon Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, to tell how one of America's neighboring nations endeavors to control liquor traffic. He defended the system, saying it has proved a more effective step toward temperance than prohibition.

ROPER TESTIFIES

The wets also summoned W. W. Roper, head football coach at Princeton, whose name is known to the youth of all American colleges. Himself a teetotaler, Roper said he has found that many young men drink and that, even more alarming, young women are drinking. As a father, he added, he hesitates to send his son to college.

Sir Henry prefaced his testimony with the assertion that he appeared as a disinterested party and sought to answer no one. His views, however, were desired by the antiprohibitionists to counteract testimony given by E. C. Drury, a former Premier of Ontario Province, who recently assailed the control system before the committee.

ONTARIO DRYEST OF ALL

Ontario, said the witness, is the dryest of all Canadian Provinces. During the war period, he said, there was a scarcity of food, and prohibition was enacted. He added that during the war, prohibition worked well, and that in 1919, when a vote was taken prohibition obtained 65 per cent of the votes cast. In 1923 another vote gave prohibition 51 per cent of the votes cast.

This change was attributed by Sir Henry to "the things" that followed peace-time prohibition.

"We had swamp whisky," he continued. "We had all kinds of substitutes. There was a growing use of flasks. There was a growing use of strong liquor.

"Those were the things that caused the change. The people found that prohibition did not prohibit."

The people then adopted the liquor control plan, the witness said, "as a more effective thing than prohibition."

EDUCATION CEASES

"The worst thing under prohibition—and I am only speaking for us—was that temperance education ceased. It became a matter of government control. Legislative force succeeded a campaign of moral persuasion.

"Unfortunately, legislative force did not work for us. It may work for some people. I know legislative force has worked with the Turks in Africa."

Roper's presentation by the wets followed an example that had been set by the drys in calling before the committee Alonzo Stagg, athletic director at the University of Chicago, and Fielding H. Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan. They indorsed the effects of prohibition upon youth.

Roper told the committee he is alarmed over drinking amopg young men and women. In this, he said, he speaks as the father of a boy and girl.

CONSIDERED "SMART"

"It seems now that to drink is the smart thing to do," he went on. "A boy will think he's not in the swim if he doesn't drink.

"I'm wondering whether the breakdown of this prohibition has not caused a disrespect for laws."

Roper said he feels the "breakdown" originated with the older people. He himself, he said, is a teetotaler.

Just before and just after the war, said the witness, there was less drinking in colleges.

"I think that anyone is foolish either to drink or smoke," he said, "but young people are impressionable. If you don't give them right ideals they will get wrong ones."

"The most alarming part is drinking by girls. In the days gone by if a girl was asked to a college and someone offered her a drink her escort would have felt that she had been insulted.

"GIRLS DRINK OPENLY"

"Now girls drink openly. They seem to think it a big thing to do.

"There also is drinking in high schools. I could give you the names of several young men from prominent families who have been expelled from schools for drinking. I do not, however, propose to give the names."

As chairman of the Football Coaches' Association, Roper said he has observed conditions at many schools.

Representative Moore, Republican, Ohio, asked if, under a dispensary system, the youth would not be able to obtain liquor. Roper answered he assumes a dispensary plan would be operated with some judgment.

Representative Sumners, Democrat, Texas, asked Roper what he would substitute for prohibition. He replied he was there to give information and not to "tell you gentlemen" what to do.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION ADOPTS REPEAL PLATFORM

CLEVELAND (O.) April 24. (Exclusive)—A platform demanding repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was unanimously adopted here today by nearly 400 delegates representing 100,000 members of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

At the same session Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, New York City, was unanimously elected first president of the organization, which hitherto has had only temporary officers.

Wednesday's threatened opposition to a platform for absolute repeal mustered no strength today. To certain sisters from western States who favored a platform recommending merely modification of the Volstead Act, as "a first step," the repealers said:

"Congressional pussyfooters are our prey. Therefore, we of all people must not pussyfoot. Modification is only another name for nullification. What we want is honest repeal."

Those women carried the convention with them.

AQUITTAL AGAIN WON BY 'PEEPHOLE' PLAYERS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (Exclusive)—Sydney Goldtree, theater manager, and eleven members of the cast of the assertedly immoral play, "The Peephole," were acquitted by a jury today for the third time.

TWIN-STATION TRIAL AT END

Broadcast Synchronization by Wire Too Costly

Single Unit to Take Place of WBZ and WBZA

KHJ to Offer Wide Variety in Music Programs

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Dr. Philip M. Lovell, editor of "Care of the Body." World-wide news at 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

It is indicated by the decision of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company to abandon its radio "twins," stations WBZ at Springfield, Mass., and WBZA at Boston, in favor of a single station, that any development in the synchronization of radio broadcasting stations will have to be along some line other than wire connection.

Wire synchronization has been used successfully by the two stations for something like five years, but finally has been found too expensive to warrant continuation. Not only has maintenance of the physical connection been costly but it also has been necessary to employ engineers and others to supervise operation.

The auxiliary station WBZA was established when it was found that the programs of WBZ could not be received in Boston, due to the peculiar geologic conditions which prevail in New England, where the stony mountains create "dead" spots. For several years the service was maintained very successfully, but with the greatly increased power now being awarded stations by the Federal Radio Commission, officials of the company believe that a single station, located some twenty miles outside of Boston, will be able to give satisfactory service over the entire area they attempt to serve.

AROUND DIAL LOG

KHJ will feature three periods of distinctly different music today. The first will be at 11 a.m., when the Gauchos of the Argentine are to offer Latin numbers. At 1 p.m. light operatic gems will be heard from New York, while at 5:30 p.m. Eloise Kirkpatrick, KHJ's coloratura soprano, is to be guest artist of the Viennese Quintet. The arrangement of this program is by Christian Sprotte, and is to include "The Star" and "Jean," by Spross. The Tschaikowsky "Andante Cantabile" and Moszkowski's "Serenade" will be featured. At 8 o'clock tonight Vecdol Vodvil from KFRC will bring a burlesque news reel, comedy monologue and a skit by Edna O'Keefe and Abe Bloom. At 8:30 the second of the California historic continuity series is scheduled, the presentation to include the founding and growth of Sacramento, the building of Fort Sutter, discovery of gold and a pleasing musical background, including a male chorus and orchestra. At 9 tonight a dramatization of True Story's $2000 first-prize manuscript, "His Second Birth" will be presented. It is said to be a powerful story of a lesson learned in the Mississippi floods.

ECHO OF YESTERDAY

KFI at 7:30 tonight will present Paul Roberts, guest artist, with the Schonberger Trio, in a half-hour of "yesterday's fashions in sentiment." Close upon this at 8:30 p.m. Mart and Lil, the Two Shades of Blue, are to bring fifteen minutes of song duets, both sooting and provocative. At 10 tonight the Prokhanoff Russian Quartet will provide a half-hour of novelties for the classic combination of two violins, a viola and 'cello. At 7:30 p.m. Lois Bennett, soprano, is to be featured in a program over N.B.C. which also will include a male quartet and Don Voorhees's orchestra.

KECA at 6 p.m. will appeal to dancing savages in a half-hour of "African madness in melody." At 5 tonight the overture to "Eva," by Lehar, is to lead the list of sixteen numbers, to be played and sung by the Cavaliers, Jessica Dragonette and woodwind duo. Other operettas from which numbers have been selected include "Maytime" and Friml's "Vagabond King."

KFWB at 9 tonight will bring a sports interview with Tom Lieb, football coach of Loyola University. KTM at 8 tonight is to feature its usual weekly program, "Evening at the Ranch," with assurances that there will be plenty of pep and good cheer. KTM claims they are receiving about 2000 letters a month commenting on this program.

PLANS LAID FOR FIGHT ON CANAL

Erie-Oswego Waterway Opposition Fixes Course in House Contest

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Representatives of six middle and northwestern States agreed today to support a move to strike out the Erie-Oswego canal project when the omnibus rivers and harbors bill is taken up in the House tomorrow.

If this motion fails, the group will seek to have the entire measure, carrying about $110,000,000 for river and harbor development, referred back to committee for elimination of the Erie Canal provision, which would authorize the Federal government to take over that project from New York State.

Contending that acquisition of the canal by the government will obstruct progress toward completion of the St. Lawrence deep waterway, the group decided to call another meeting of all representatives of some twenty-two States belonging to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence associations.

Representative Burtness, Republican, North Dakota, was selected as chairman of the group.

ANGELENO DIES ABROAD

AIR-MAIL BILL SENT TO HOOVER

Senate Passes Measure Authorizing Mileage and Space Contract Basis

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—The Watres bill to authorize the Postmaster-General to award air-mail contracts on a mileage and space instead of a poundage basis was passed today by the Senate and sent to the White House.

The bill is designed to stimulate aviation by authorizing the Postmaster-General to let air-mail contracts to passenger lines in addition to changing the rate-fixing method. It was sponsored by Postmaster-General Brown, who advocated the change to eliminate what he termed unethical practices developed by mail carriers to swell their volume.

Early enactment of the measure was urged by Postmaster-General Brown, in view of the expiration of six poundage basis contracts held by pioneer air-mail carriers on May 5. In order to protect the pioneers in the air-mail business the measure provided that bidders for the contracts should qualify by having operated an air-mail line, for six months over a 400-mile course.

Attempt to Kill Peru President Becomes Known

The authorities had kept the strictest silence regarding the attempt, although rumors of it have been in circulation for the past two weeks. It is believed strict silence was kept in order to aid in the investigation by the police.

President Leguia took the Presidency by a coup d'etat in July, 1919. This was legalized by Congress and he took the oath of office in October of that year for the full term of five years. He was re-elected in 1924 and again in 1929.

DETECTIVE PAIR TO BE QUIZZED

Judge McCormick Orders Witnesses Investigated

Jurist Says Two Planning to Buy Liquor Conspirators

Opinion Expressed on Bench in Fresno Trial

FRESNO, April 24.—Expressing the personal opinion that when two persons get together to purchase liquor for beverage purposes it constitutes a conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act and should be prosecuted as such, Judge McCormick today brought about an investigation of the activities of two operatives for a local detective agency who appeared as witnesses in the trial yesterday of Fred Mattucci in the Federal District Court on a liquor-conspiracy charge.

Judge McCormick's statement concerned testimony of Jack Pendleton and R. B. Jones, operatives for an agency operated by E. A. Nichols, former Fresno policeman. They testified that they recently purchased a gallon of wine from Pete Ruggerello, the government's star witness in the trial of Mattucci on a charge of being the ringleader in a huge liquor-manufacturing venture at Caruthers.

As the result of the judge's remarks, Assistant United States District Attorney Ohannesian conferred with Nichols and later announced that a complete investigation will be made of the affair. He said that it appeared to him that an attempt had been made to intimidate Ruggerello and that a complete investigation will be made of the activities of the operatives, their principal, the defense attorney, and others whose identity was not revealed.

Defense Attorney B. W. Gearhart told the court that he introduced the testimony of the operatives to impeach testimony of Rugerello and to prove perjury on the part of the government's witness, "and that he had no knowledge of the move until he received affidavits of the liquor purchase.

"I am glad you made the statement that you had no knowledge of this move until after it had been consummated," Judge McCormick told Gearhart, "otherwise it would have been a matter for the attention of the State Bar."

Referring to the liquor purchases by the operatives, Judge McCormick said:

"This is a matter which should be investigated by the United States attorney and the grand jury, if necessary, as to whether or not the activities of these operatives in this affair are not criminal. It seems to me that there may have been some conspiracy between the operatives, the principals of their detective agency or whoever hired them.

"When two persons get together," the court continued, "to purchase liquor for beverage purposes and an overt act has been committed as occurred in this cast, there is a conspiracy and it should be prosecuted. The motive is not a question in my judgment. These private detective agencies should be looked into. In this case it appears that an effort has been made to thwart the administration of justice. Such a move strikes right at the heart of justice and the prosecution of such a matter is much more important than a liquor charge."

Mattucci, who was convicted, was sentenced by Judge McCormick to serve ten months in the Fresno County Jail and pay a fine of $300. Ruggerello, who had previously pleaded guilty, was sentenced to ninety days in jail, and Paul Gerro, another government witness, who also pleaded guilty, was given a thirty-day sentence, on which commitment was suspended for five years.

Denver Divorces Cause of Church Group's Censure

DENVER, April 24. (AP)—The steady increase in the number of divorces granted in Denver was declared today by a committee on applied Christianity of the Colorado Congregational Conference to be creating a situation "almost unparalleled in America."

The committee said 501 divorces were issued in Denver in the first ten weeks of 1930, as compared to 431 marriages. In addition 323 divorce suits were filed.

"There is no lower limit to the age at which, with her parents' consent, a woman may be married than in Colorado," the report said. "In this respect Colorado is now behind India, which has lately passed a 14-year age of consent law."

Under the terms of the will, property was divided into two lots, the descriptions of which were placed in separate envelopes.

LOW RECORD SET BY COLD BACK EAST

Mercury Descends to 29 Deg. in New York and No Let-up in Sight

NEW YORK, April 24. (Exclusive) Old Man Winter overwhelmed spring again in New York today and seemed likely tonight to keep the shoulders of the fledgling season flat upon the mat for several days to come.

A new low record temperature for April 24 was set when the thermometer at the weather bureau sank to 29 deg. at 6 a.m. This is 4 deg. below the record of 33 set in 1875 and touched again in 1919. The low record for the previous day, April 23, had also been broken by 4 deg.

The meteorological condition which produced the chill are still unchanged and low temperatures will probably prevail for the next few days.

Telegraphic reports indicated that the cold snap extended as far south as Maryland.

One of the first reports of damaged crops came from Hammondton, N. J., where a light snow fell. Berries, particularly strawberries, and fruits of all kind as well as vegetables were said to have been affected.

SHIP CREW SAVED FROM FIRE PERIL

Radio Reports Burning of Freighter in Waters Off Long Island

NEW YORK, April 24. (AP)—The Radio Marine Corporation tonight picked up a message from the steamship Lexington saying that the freighter Thamas is afire off Captain Island in Long Island Sound. The crew of twenty-four is reported safe.

The message said the Lexington took off three of the freighter's crew in a lifeboat and picked up six others. A power boat nearby picked up two others and one of the freighter's lifeboats carried the rest of the crew ashore.

Mexico Student Group Assails American Party

MEXICO CITY, April 24. (AP)—The newspaper La Prensa today published prominently a story stating that a minority group of students at the University of Mexico had shown discourtesy to a group of visiting journalistic students from Oklahoma City University who called at the Mexican University yesterday to pay their compliments.

The paper says the minority group called the American students representatives of "Yankee imperialism which causes all of Mexico's troubles" and forced partial cancellation of the reception program to the visitors.

The acts of the minority group constituted a grave discourtesy, says the paper, adding that the Oklahoma City students themselves minimized the affair, saying only a few Mexican students had participated while the great body received them courteously and in a friendly manner.

BALBOA (C. Z.) April 24. (AP)—A month of service in the tropic zone following a year and a half in the coldest part of the world is the prospect ahead of Lieut. Dean Smith and Lieut. Joseph Degenahl, members of the Byrd Antarctic expedition.

Supreme Court Sets Pantages Appeal Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (AP)—The State Supreme Court today ordered Dist.-Atty. Fitts of Los Angeles county and Atty.-Gen. Webb to show cause in Sacramento May 1 why Alexander Pantages, convicted theater magnate, should not be admitted to bail pending determination of an appeal.

The order followed an application for bail filed with the court yesterday by counsel for Pantages. They set forth that unless he is granted his freedom his death probably will result.

Pantages, convicted and sentenced to prison for criminally assaulting Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old Los Angeles dancer, is now in the Los Angeles County Jail. Four previous attempts to win bail have failed.

ARCHDUKE FREE ON BAIL IN NECKLACE THEFT CASE

NEW YORK, April 24. (AP)—A member of the ancent line of Hapsburgs, one-time ruler of most of Europe, was fingerprinted and "mugged" by the police today and then arraigned in General Sessions Court on two indictments, charging him with first-degree grand larceny in connection with the sale of the $400,000 Napoleon necklace.

Carrying a leather coat on his arm, Archduke Leopold of Austria stood in silence while his lawyer, Ferdinand Pecora, entered a plea of not guilty for him, obtained an adjournment until May 2 and arranged for $7500 bail.

Then the Archduke posed for photographers and left the court building. He surrendered to the District Attorney today soon after a bench warrant had been issued for his arrest. The warrant resulted from his failure to appear yesterday as he had promised, through his attorney, to do.

Bench warrants also were issued for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Townsend, who were indicted with the Archduke and who are understood to have left the country.

Leopold is asserted to have received a commission on the sale of the necklace—the property of his aunt, the Arch Duchess Maria Theresa of Austria.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Make yourself attractive —end halitosis

Before meeting others you would like to impress agreeably, make sure that you are free of halitosis (unpleasant breath) which offends so many. Simply rinse the mouth with full-strength Listerine. It destroys odors, leaving the breath sweet and wholesome.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis because you simply cannot know when you are a victim. It doesn't announce itself to you. But it does to others — and is unforgivable.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full-strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors themselves; it is a powerful deodorant.

GREEN LANTERN FOUNTAINS

"Prohibition is a success"

We honest drinkers must stick together!

A LOT OF PEOPLE we wouldn't care to know socially are trying to make life a burden for honest folk the country over.

We don't care to drink with them, play bridge with them, or have them in our foursomes; yet they insist on peeking through our keyholes, censoring our morals and snatching the cocktail from our very lips.

They want us to be content with a dry loaf without the traditional jug of wine beneath the bough.

What would Omar say to that?

Corey Ford, no relative of Henry's, has a lot to say in the May issue of Vanity Fair, out today.

In his article, Mr. Ford calls a spade a spade and openly accuses these people of corrupting public morals and driving the flower of our youth to the "speakeasy."

While expressing no interest in the private lives of Senators Brookhart, Borah or Jones, he states that these gentlemen together with Messrs. F. Scott McBride, Clarence True Wilson and Andrew Volstead are trying to make life as doleful as possible merely because they prefer Moxie to Amontillado.

He points to the Anti-Saloon League, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, The Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals and the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement as clubbing together against our common weal.

Corey Ford does not object to their sewing circles or their harmless little dry debates, but when they start shooting up honest bootleggers, he says it's time to call a halt.

For all such people as are not "joiners" by nature and to whom wearing badges is simply bad taste, Corey Ford is forming a new kind of club that asks no initiation fee and has no button.

You must read about the whole amazing idea in the May issue of Vanity Fair, now on the news-stands.

If you appreciate the difference between a speakeasy Martini and the real article; if twenty-five dollars the quart for carbonated cider at a night club seems a trifle steep, when you can buy Pommery for a hundred francs at Ciro's; if you prefer Pilsner at the Adlon to "needle beer" at the Dutchman's—put down your highball and rush out for a copy of Vanity Fair for May. It has a kick in it. Or, better still, pin a dollar bill to the coupon on the right and get the May issue and the next four issues mailed right to your home.

"Laws do not make right. This law comes with infamy in it and out of it. An immoral law cannot be valid. It must be made inoperative . . . abrogated and wiped out; but whilst it stands there, it must be disobeyed."

—RALPH WALDO EMERSON

"I should like to call on every free-thinking American, who can think at all, to break this law; break it repeatedly; break it whenever he can. Drink what you please, when you please. Urge others to drink. Don't betray the bootleggers who are smuggling liquor for you. In every way possible flaunt your defiance of the Eighteenth Amendment. Render it inoperative. Ignore it, abrogate it, wipe it out. Whilst it stands there, let it be disobeyed."

EX-HUSBAND SUED FOR BALM

Woman Asks $100,000 for Broken Heart

Olive Anne Hall

CHICAGO, April 24. (Exclusive) Olive Anne Hall apparently was in love with her husband. This is the interpretation placed on her suit against Harry Lee Hall, president of a Chicago manufacturing concern, her former husband, for $100,000 heart balm.

In her suit, Mrs. Hall charges that in 1928, two years after the couple had been divorced, Hall proposed a second marriage between them. She was willing, she says, and made preparation for the tieing of the second marital knot when she discovered that her former husband had already taken unto himself a wife.

Now she thinks, maybe, that $100,000 would help heal her lacerated heart.

Plane Cuts Arm Off Navy Flyer

NORFOLK (Va.) April 24. (AP)—A northwest gale swept Ensign Warren Burke of the U.S.S. Saratoga into the whirling propeller of a plane aboard ship and the officer today is without his left arm.

Burke, whose home is in San Francisco, was preparing to take off in a flight of eighty planes to precede the aircraft carrier into port here. Walking across the flight deck with his parachute bundle in his left arm, he passed in front of a plane "warming up." The breeze staggered him and a blade came directly across the member, severing it instantly above the elbow.

JOHNSON JOINS NAVY-PACT FOES

Becomes Early Critic After "Casual" Reading

Statement Issued Without Waiting Hearing

Bitter Antipathy for Hoover Shows Up Again

WASHINGTON, April 24. (Exclusive)—Senator Johnson's bitter antipathy for the Hoover administration and all its works led him today into the ranks of early critics of the London naval reduction pact, under which the United States finally gains naval parity with Great Britain and stands to save $1,000,000,000 in cruiser building in the next six years.

Without waiting for the hearings at the Capitol which will give members of the American delegation to the naval conference opportunity to fully explain the treaty to Congress and the nation, the senior California Senator this afternoon issued a statement listing six reasons why the pact should be looked into. He said these occurred to him from only a "casual" reading of the proposed treaty, intimating that in his mind there probably are many more reasons for a critical investigation of the naval agreement.

HEARSTCRAFT SIGHTED

It is understood Johnson's statement was solicited by the Hearst newspapers as a part of their campaign to undermine American confidence in the attempt which was made at London to end naval rivalry and which has been hailed by the statesmen of this country, England and Japan as a long step forward toward prevention of future wars.

Johnson is a member of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee—and his position on the committee gives him the opportunity he will enjoy of being able to assist personally in the attempt to break down the London pact and prevent Senate ratification.

Hearings before the committee will start probably within the next two weeks.

JOHNSON'S STATEMENT

The Johnson statement follows:

"I am studying the treaty and having it studied to ascertain whether:

"(1.) Under it our Navy is adequate for our national defense and the protection of our commerce.

"(2.) Whether under it there is a limitation among the nations party to it of naval building.

"(3.) Whether there is a reduction in our naval armament and that of the other nations.

"(4.) Whether there is any real economy or saving to our people under it.

"(5.) Whether, as promised, our Navy is granted parity with Great Britain.

"(6.) Whether the treaty makes our future contingent wholly upon another nation's action; and, if so, whether this makes for our future tranquility and security, or the reverse.

"These are some of the queries occurring from a very casual reading of the treaty. I take it most of us in the Senate, like myself, are desirous of ascertaining everything that may be learned and then determining the course that may be best for the nation's future."

DELEGATES AT SEA RUSHING HOMEWARD

S.S. LEVIATHAN, April 24. (AP)—Through rolling seas the United States liner Leviathan, with Secretary of State Stimson and the returning American naval conference delegation aboard, tonight steadily forged her way, maintaining her best speed in the effort to dock at New York by Monday night.

It is feared, however, that with bad weather moving eastward across the Atlantic in the ship's path the Leviathan will not be able to dock before Tuesday morning.

China Debates Proposal to Control "Y's"

NANKING, April 24. (AP)—The national education conference today heatedly debated a proposal that the Nationalist government take over all Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. organizations in China and undertake a sweeping reorganization of these bodies in accordance with the principles of the Kuomintang, or government party.

The proposal was based on the ground that the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. "supposedly founded for the advancement of health, virtue and knowledge and in a spirit of co-operation, are in reality foreign missions and are being used to preach Christianity and induce the young people of China to accept their religion."

The proposal was considered at great length, but finally was defeated. However, its supporters, among whom are numerous prominent Chinese educators, are planning to renew their campaign to force the government to regulate these institutions.

Contracts for Three Sea Mail Routes Signed

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Postmaster-General Brown today signed three ocean mail contracts with the United States Lines, Inc., calling for an expenditure in new American shipbuilding of approximately $78,000,000.

The contracts are for carrying the mails on the following routes: New York to Southampton, via Cherbourg; New York to Hamburg via Plymouth, Eng.; New York to London, via Plymouth.

RADIO PATENT AT ISSUE

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—The Department of Justice announced today filing of suits in the United States District courts in New York City and the District of Columbia to compel conveyance to the United States of patents covering an apparatus through which the operation of radio-receiving sets on the ordinary house current is made possible.

AMULET BRINGS HER BAD LUCK

Gypsy Woman and $572 Fade from View, Berkeley Matron Complains

BERKELEY, April 24. (AP)—Mrs. Jane Truan all her life has believed in amulets and other good - luck - bringing charms, so much so that she gave a gypsy woman $572 to sew into a good-luck girdle. The gypsy woman sewed the $572 into the girdle, while Mrs. Truan watched, and then told her not to open the girdle for a month, otherwise bad instead of good luck would prevail.

Mrs. Truan's curiosity got the better of her. Bad luck, sure enough. The $572 had disappeared. So had the gypsy. Mrs. Truan described the gypsy to Berkeley police today a a dark-complexioned one wearing several underskirts.

HOOVER ADVISES ON TARIFF VOTE

Republican Leaders Guests at Breakfast Session

Early House Action Planned on Debenture Question

President Approves Breach of Usual Practice

WASHINGTON, April 24. — Republican leaders of the Senate and House carried their troubles over procedure with the tariff bill to the White House today and after a discussion over the breakfast table with President Hoover came away agreed that the House act first on the conference report and take a direct vote on the export debenture provision.

This is not in accordance with custom but Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican pilot, insisted that the House go on record on the debenture farm relief amendment and the President, after listening to both sides, approved this plan.

Although disposed to follow the usual practice and have the Senate consider the report first, the House leaders accepted the decision and agreed to take up the report including the eight major points of difference between the two branches, a week from today. It was thought that action can be completed in that branch in two or three days.

REDLANDS PUTS ON BEST DRESS

School Children's Parade Features Flower Week

"Return of Persephone" to be Theme

Beautiful Pageant Declared Climax of Fiesta

REDLANDS, April 24.—Redlands put on her most gorgeous dress this afternoon, royal raiment, and paraded for all who wanted to see. For it was the annual school children's flower parade of the Week of Flowers and by far the most gorgeous and ambitious ever attempted. The theme, "The Return of Persephone" provided a wonderful setting for all the floats and exhibits of the schools.

Redlands entertains each week in the spring in the old traditional Spanish manner of hospitality. There were no prizes offered for the exhibits in the parade. There is no admission charge to any of the events except the annual play which is given by the Chamber of Commerce. It is a labor of love to express in some manner Redlands' real joy at being so favored by the gods with such beautiful flowers and trees.

The children's parade is always considered to be one of the climaxes of the week. This year was no exception. Each school had worked out in detail some part of the general theme and the result was magnificent. Franklin School, McKinley School, Kingsbury School, Junior High School, Lugonia, Crafton and Lincoln had wonderful exhibits. Each room in the school contributed to the section which was featured by girls and boys in gorgeous flower costumes, magnificent floats covered with flowers and such things.

The parade always opens the flower show, which is said to be a truer expression of the gardens of Redlands this year than ever before. From the tiny gardens to the greatest estates the flowers came and the competition was keen. Weather conditions were ideal with clouds in the morning so as to make the showing of flowers the best. The judges were working most of the day in an effort to determine the best exhibits.

Features of the parade today were Betty Wincher presiding as Persephone, and her attendants were Norman Marshall, Farnsworth Toppin, Margaret Purdy, Margaret Gardner, Mary Helen Annabil, Lucille Brodersen, Marion Smith and Polly Stewart. Elbert Maley was Pluto. Kingsbury School provided Persephone's float, which was attended by dryads, nymphs, cupids, Pan and the children.

Franklin School provided Flora and her attendants, with a chariot of flowers and other features. Lugonia School provided a section of Ceres, cupids, dryads and nymphs, eleven of them in beautiful flower costumes. McKinley School featured Diana and float with cupids, pans and dryads. Lincoln School featured Iris and her court, and Crafton School featured Satyr and his court.

The next climax will come tomorrow night when the Community Music Association presents "Civilization and the Dance." The garden tours are being enjoyed by many visitors, today being in charge of Rotarians and Paul Moffatt.

Valley Again to Have Large Bean Acreage

RESEDA, April 24.—John W. Walters, manager of the San Fernando Valley Bean Growers' Association, today stated that this season about 10,000 acres would be planted to baby lima beans. One large field in the western end of the valley already has been planted and two other large fields will be planted early next week. General planting, he stated, would not start for about ten days as ranchers want to be sure of warm weather. Last year there were 11,500 acres in baby limas.

Walters says that the recent experiment of canning dried baby lima beans has resulted most successfully and that it is probable a large part of this year's crop will be canned at plants in the valley. Heretofore only fresh-gathered beans have been canned. It is now found that the dried bean when properly processed is as delectable an article of food as the green bean, and can be handled better from an economic standpoint.

WALSHE CHOSEN NEW MAYOR OF ARCADIA

ARCADIA, April 24. — John M. Walshe was elected Mayor last night at the first session of the newly elected City Council, to succeed A. N. Link. Emil Bolz is the only remaining member of the former board.

PARALYSIS FOLLOWS MEAL OF MUSHROOMS

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, April 24. Mrs. Roy Flick of 5730 Fair avenue is recovering from eating what she believed to be edible mushrooms. Shortly after eating the mushrooms she was seized with pain, and suffered a partial paralysis. Doctors are warning their patients to be careful in gathering for food the large number of wild mushrooms now growing on the floor of San Fernando Valley. Many varieties are poisonous, they say.

Former Officer Under Arrest

PASADENA, April 24.—Fred G. Molander, former local police patrolman who sued this city for accident compensation following his dismissal from the police force, was arrested this afternoon and lodged in jail on a battery charge preferred by his wife, Mrs. Vanette Molander. He is scheduled to appear in Police Court tomorrow morning.

After being dismissed from the police force three years ago, Molander started an action with the State Industrial Accident Commission, charging that he was permanently injured when he attempted to start an automobile for a woman motorist while he was on duty. The case is still pending.

He later attempted to force the city to pension him, but this action was defeated recently in Superior Court, Los Angeles.

NEW ORDINANCE FOR PLAN BODY PASSED

GLENDORA, April 24.—Due to a technical error on ordinance passed last year for the creation of a city planning commission, members of the new City Council took their first action last night in passing a new ordinance in preparation for the formation of such a commission. Ex-Mayor M. L. Comstock, who was defeated in the Councilmanic race last week, and who is succeeded by Cyrus W. White, appointed a commission of six members just previous to the city election, and whether or not White will reappoint the same group is not yet known.

On this commission are Col. E. F. Underhill, R. B. Bidwell, Mrs. Leonard Chapman, Mrs. Sarah Maloney, Thomas G. Miller and Gordon Bell.

Succeeding L. G. Shelton, the Council appointed R. B. Bidwell as City Attorney. E. S. Sweet is the only new member on the board, as Mayor Wilhite and Mans Hopper were both re-elected. It is expected that Mayor Wilhite will name the personnel of the commission before the next Council session.

Mr. Bergere had been forced to hurry East by train on business and had requested young Broadbridge to assist Mrs. Bergere to drive his automobile back, according to Mrs. Hudson. The machine is reported to have been sideswiped by another car which failed to stop. Broadbridge died immediately after the crash and Mrs. Bergere incurred a broken right arm. Broadbridge had been employed here in a local bank, while visiting his sister this winter. The body will be cremated at Phoenix, and shipped to Indianapolis, where funeral services will be conducted.

Wreck Believed Due to Children Cocking Switch

SANTA BARBARA, April 24.—Children playing near the Southern Pacific yards are believed by officials to have caused the derailment of a fast freight here last evening, which tied up the rail traffic for some two hours. No one was hurt.

The train, a northbound through freight, was derailed just east of South Milpas street at the entrance to the Southern Pacific Yards. The engine and one flat car carrying a steam shovel were derailed. The accident is said to have ocurred through a double error as a switch beyond the first siding was open. Several children had been playing around the main switch just before the freight arrived, according to residents living near the tracks. It is thought that they cocked the switch.

When the engine hit the cocked switch it went on to the siding, pulling with it the flat car, but before the other freight cars could be sidetracked and derailed the engine struck another switch, which was open. The engine went on one siding and the flat car took another track. Both were derailed.

Engines from the roundhouse and from the south were sent to haul the freight cars off the main track.

The Daylight Limited going south was delayed about an hour and forty-five minutes.

Torrens Title to be Debated in Realty Board

GLENDALE, April 24.—Debate on the merits of the Torrens title system will be held at next Wednesday's meeting of the Glendale Realty Board, when legal advisers of the title companies and legal proponents of the Torrens system will discuss the subject. The debate is expected to decide the questions that have presented themselves to members of the local board and in the minds of prospective real estate purchasers, regarding the comparative advantages of the two systems.

The claims of title insurance companies that the Torrens title law is unconstitutional are contradicted, according to Earl Shook, secretary of the board, by the action of some insurance companies and financial institutions that are lending money on Torrens titles.

JUNIOR COLLEGE SAID TO BE PROFITABLE

SANTA ANA, April 24.—Santa Ana's Junior College is an industry which brings nearly $400,000 per year in trade to the merchants of the city, McKee Fiske, dean of the junior college, told members of the Exchange Club here. Fiske declared that a survey of junior colleges throughout the country revealed that the average junior college student spends between $700 and $800 per year. At an average of $750 per pupil per year Santa Ana's college with 500 regular students and 125 other part-time students would bring in more than $400,000 per year. Morton Hall was in charge of the program.

ANNEXATION VOTE UNANIMOUS

Hundred Per Cent Favor Proposition

All Residents and Election Officials Pose

The men shown above constituted all the voters as well as the election board of the forty-acre tract that yesterday unanimously voted in favor of annexation to the city of Monterey Park.

MONTEREY PARK, April 24. In a hotly contested election which brought out a 100 per cent vote citizens of a forty-acre tract adjoining this city on the southwest voted yesterday to annex to Monterey Park.

After the tedious task of tabulating the votes had been completed at a late hour last night the official count was announced as follows:

Against annexation, 0.

And the tired election officials, satisfied that the will of the people had been carried out, went to bed in the polling place.

The three officials of Belvedere election precinct, No. 18, were John T. Alvarado, judge; Clarence J. Roberts, clerk, and I. M. Pendleton, inspector.

The registered voters of the precinct are John T. Alvarado, Clarence J. Roberts and I. M. Pendleton.

Alvarado, Roberts and Pendleton are the only residents of the tract, which is a part of the Midwick View Estates subdivision. They are employed by the subdivider, P. N. Snyder, and took up their residence in a temporary house at 601 Kingsford street ninety days ago. A residence of thirty days was required before they could register and another sixty days was necessary to complete legal proceedings incident to the circulation of their petition and the calling of an election.

Besides being one of the smallest elections on record the precinct also established a record for getting out the vote. The 100 per cent vote was recorded within five minutes after the polls opened at 6 o'clock in the morning. It was all over then but the shouting, but the election officials who doubled as voters were obliged to stay on the job until 7 p.m.

The election officials were provided with fifty blank ballots, especially printed for the election, a voting booth, a ballot box, several copies of instructions to voters, a list of precinct residents and an American flag for the momentous occasion.

Their day of glory over, Alvarado, Roberts and Pendleton are today going about their duties on the subdivision. Alvarado is landscape foreman.

Women Pursued and Captured in Liquor Raid

VENTURA, April 24.—Police liquor raiders last night arrested two men in a room on Ventura avenue and captured two women who had been at the place, after a wild automobile chase up the Rincon.

The prisoners faced City Court this morning. Bernice Maynard, who was driving the fleeing car, pleaded guilty to charges of being drunk, reckless driving and possession of liquor. Pearl Bearry, her companion in the dash, was found guilty of possession of liquor and will be sentenced at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

A. L. Brock, arrested at the house and charged with vagrancy and possession of liquor, pleaded not guilty and will be tried by jury on May 22, next. Fred Wright, with him at the place, pleaded not guilty to similar charges and will stand trial May 21.

According to the story of the raiders, the two women were coming out of the place with two bottles of gin and getting into a car. The officers pursued them to make the arrest, but when the women saw the patrolmen they attempted to make a dash for freedom up the Coast Highway, officers said. They halted, however, when one shot was fired into the air as a warning.

Raiders reported finding seven gallons of liquor and whisky-making apparatus in the room.

PASADENA, April 24.—Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley returned today from Pittsburgh with 350 pounds of prisoner in the shape of William A. Coleman, wanted here on charges of cashing $1600 worth of fictitious checks.

On nine consecutive days, Coleman is asserted to have passed nine $100 checks at Goodfellows' Grill on East Colorado street. He is asserted also to have swindled the Western Union Telegraph Company out of $10,000 in various parts of the United States during the last three years.

While Detective Sergeant Leon Schuhl was interrogating the corpulent suspect this afternoon it was necessary to allow him to sit on the seats of two straight-backed chairs, no single chair being large enough to hold more than a fraction of his avoirdupois.

These busses will connect with the through stage line on San Fernando Road that run into Los Angeles and Hollywood.

Manufacturing Group to Build

SANTA ANA, April 24.—Construction on a proposed $75,000 manufacturing plant, to be erected by the Vitalite Corporation of this city, in the 2200 block of South Main street, will begin as soon as all details and arrangements in connection with the company's sales-distribution system have been completed, it was announced today by Henry M. Kislow, president of the corporation. The two-acre site is for the first unit of a series of buildings to be erected as the volume of business makes it necessary to add more space to plant operations, he said.

The company is engaged in the wholesale manufacturing of the Vitalite alloy piston, under a patent-covered process. Sales agencies have been established throughout the county. At the present time the old plant, located on West Fifth street, is turning out about 900 pistons a day, it was stated.

Other officers of the company are Richard Cribaro, vice-president; Homer C. Chaney, secretary-treasurer; John S. McCarty and Byron V. Curry, directors.

SAN DIEGO, April 24.—The Campbell Rodrigues Construction Company has been awarded a contract for a central refrigeration plant at Agua Caliente, according to information given out by Wayne D. McAllister of the Commonwealth Building who has completed the plans and specifications. The cost of the structure will approximate $110,000.

The building will be similar in style of architecture to the other buildings and will be in close proximity to the power plant. Work already has been started. The organization is rapidly pushing to completion also the bath house and plunge, one of the most outstanding structures of its kind any place in the world. Work was delayed on this portion of the resort to get the race track in condition for the recent race season, which closed last month.

Wirt Bowman, president of the Agua Caliente Company, has just returned from Mexico City, where he conferred with President Ortiz Rubio and is enthusiastic about the plans for the future of the resort.

Pipe Organ to Be Dedicated in Ontario Church

ONTARIO, April 24.—An event which has been anticipated for several years by the congregation of Bethel Congregational Church will take place Sunday at 5:30 p.m. when the Harwood Memorial pipe organ is dedicated by the members.

The new organ, played for the first time during the Easter services, is dedicated to the Harwood family in recognition of long and loyal service to the church and community. The Harwood family has been largely responsible for development of the citrus industry in Ontario and Upland.

The organ is dedicated to the memory of Hiram Harwood, Elisa Haswell Harwood, Alfred P. Harwood, Margaret J. Harwood, Catherine S. Harwood, Aurelia S. Harwood and Alfred J. Harwood.

Vinal Palmer Fredericksen, as part of the dedication, will play an organ recital in two parts. The dedication message is to be presented by Dr. James A. Blaisdell, president of Claremont Colleges, and the dedicatory prayer by Rev. Charles L. Knight, pastor of the church.

With Dr. Fredericksen on the pipe-organ committee are Hobart Alter, Dr. W. J. Hutchinson, Mrs. C. L. Williams, Mrs. G. W. Cassell and J. H. Hohl.

High School Boy Dies of Injuries in Auto Crash

SAN BERNARDINO, April 24.—Charles Brewer, 18-year-old member of the San Bernardino High School graduating class, was fatally injured when an automobile and a truck crashed on the Riverside road south of Colton last night. His chest crushed, Brewer died in a Colton hospital from a collapsed lung which caused strangulation, Brewer's companion, Tom Freeman, 16, and driver of the car, escaped with slight bruises when his roadster overturned after the crash with the truck driven by J. W. Talbot, a rancher. The crash occurred at an intersection when Talbot attempted to turn in the highway, according to Freeman's story to the police. Talbot, however, declared that Freeman turned into his truck.

Brewer was the son of Mrs. Paul Brewer, 680 Twenty-first street, this city. An inquest will be held tomorrow. Brewer's death was the twenty-eighth traffic fatality in the county since January 1.

Veteran Printer Foreman Dies

PASADENA, April 24.—Hugh A. MacV. Blackburn, veteran foreman of the Pasadena Star-News composing room, died suddenly this morning at his home, 2080 North Garfield avenue, following a heart attack. Blackburn was 56 years of age and had been employed by the local newspaper for twenty-four years.

He was known as an expert printer and for his proverbial kindliness, in local newspaper circles.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Lulu Blackburn, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Kelley, and two sons, Duncan A. and Wilfrid K. Blackburn. A brother, John M. Blackburn, is a veteran employee of the Los Angeles Times' editorial staff.

BOULEVARD STOP VIOLATORS FINED

BURBANK, April 24.—Local police continue their efforts to halt violations of the boulevard-stop law in this part of San Fernando Valley. Yesterday fifty-three traffic violators were brought into Judge Watson's court and fined a total of $315. Most of the offenders, it was shown, were motorists who scooted by the stop signs at intersections where there is only a small population. Most of the fatal traffic accidents in the valley are at these intersections. Motorcycle policemen are always watching these corners.

RANCHER SAYS CHINA EGGS WRECK MARKET

ENCINO, April 24.—A. G. McKenney, poultry rancher here, states the San Fernando Valley egg market suffers a serious slump every time a shipload of cheap Chinese eggs comes into Los Angeles Harbor. During the week 10,000 cases of frozen eggs came into the port. The valley market price immediately went under, virtually wiping out all current profits. McKenney contends valley poultrymen should co-operate and bring about protective legislation.

Pier Decision to Be Appealed by City Councilmen

REDONDO BEACH, April 24.—Notice of appeal from the decision of Superior Judge V. N. Thompson, in which assessments on the new city pier, constructed at a cost of $67,000, are declared null and void, is under preparation here today. The judgment, now on file, enjoins the city from levying on property to pay for the pier and in the facts and findings asserts that certain parts of the pier are unsafe for public use.

The action, brought by J. R. Richardson and other taxpayers, after the City Council had accepted the pier from the contractor, P. W. Kranta, over protests, has attracted widespread interest. One day's session of Judge Thompson's court took place on the pier here, in order that the judge might make a personal investigation of its construction.

The action names the city of Redondo Beach and May B. Hopkins, Frank W. Huff, John Russell Shea, H. J. McNally and T. J. Hoyt as members of the City Council. The last named is not now a member, having failed of re-election in the election of the 14th inst.

In the conclusion of law on the case, Judge Thompson finds "that said City Council in denying the appeals and objections of the plaintiffs, and confirming said assessment, abused their discretion to such an extent as to amount to constructive fraud upon the property owners with the assessment district."

Small Officer Arrests Large Husky Prisoner

GLENDALE, April 24.—F. B. Ricksecker, secretary to Chief of Police J. D. Fraser, is the smallest man on the Glendale police force and his duties, as a rule, consist of nothing more strenuous or hazardous than pounding a typewriter or filing away the official correspondence.

For his recreation he plays some kind of a horn in the Elks' Band. But when need arises Ricksecker can maintain the prestige of the department just as well as any of his huskier fellow-officers.

Last night Rickpecker overheard an extremely large man begging on Brand Boulevard and Broadway and took him into custody.

When his prisoner was booked at police headquarters he gave the name of Walter J. Scott, 145 San Pedro street, Los Angeles, and local police declare that Scott has a reputation as a hard-boiled person with a record as a "two-time loser," who was sent to Folsom on burglary charges and who is also said to have a long list of convictions on various counts.

Forensic Tryout Picks Speakers

REDLANDS, April 24.—Three preliminary tryouts at the University of Redlands last evening determined the students who will represent the university in three conference forensic meets scheduled for the near future.

In the women's oratorical contest, Miss Sara Catherine Brown was victorious, judges giving Miss Blossom Mills second place. The women's declamation contest tryouts gave first place to Miss Betty Glass, with Miss Vera Hotchkiss second.

The contest for the annual men's declamation meet was won by a freshman, Stanley Notthoff, who gave a selection from "The Merchant of Venice," in which he played the part of Lancelot Gobbo at the recent university production. William Houston was a strong contender for first place in this contest.

The three winners will spend a week in intensive preparation for the conference contests, which come the first part of May and which will be held at three universities and colleges of the Southern California conference.

LOS ANGELES HARBOR

STORAGE GROUP GIVEN WARNING

Fight on New Warehouse at Harbor Resented

Opposition to Monopoly of Situation Opposed

BY WALDO DRAKE

The Los Angeles Harbor Department stands ready to build and operate a warehouse in a strategical location at the port, if operators of warehouses in the metropolitan area persist in efforts to block operation of warehouses in the port district by private concerns, it was announced yesterday by Port Manager Burt Edwards. He added that the present campaign of the California and Los Angeles Warehousemen's Association to monopolize the situation by blocking establishment of storage and freight forwarding facilities on the water front will, if successful, seriously hamper development of Los Angeles Harbor.

Mr. Edwards referred, as a case in point, to the application of the Crescent Wharf and Warehouse Company to the State Railroad Commission for authority to operate a warehouse on Terminal Island, as a necessity and convenience to Los Angeles' water-borne commerce. The final hearing will be before Examiner Williams at Los Angeles on May 2.

"The Harbor Department is not fighting the battles of any particular concern," he declared, "but if any group attempts 'dog-in-the-manger' tactics to monopolize the warehouse situation we are ready to take action. The port has a distinct need for warehouse facilities where the ships are loaded and discharged, not twenty miles distant as at present."

Mr. Edwards also released first news of an ingenious plan to provide municipal freight terminals with individual cold-storage units as well as fire-proofed sections for storing case oil and other inflammable cargo awaiting shipment. Thus, if a vessel were booked to load a small gasoline consignment these new facilities would obviate her shifting to the case oil terminal, nor would it be necessary to hold refrigerator cars with a small shipment of perishables. This plan is being incorporated by Harbor Engineer George F. Nicholson in specifications of the new $1,500,000 terminals on West Basin, at Berths 147 and 148.

LASSCO FLAGSHIP IN FROM HONOLULU TODAY

Lassco's flagship, the City of Los Angeles, is due this morning from Honolulu with 272 cabin passengers and 2000 tons of island freight, including canned and fresh pineapples, sugar, bagasse and coffee.

Prominent among her passengers are: Princess Dorothy Karageorgevitch, C. C. Von Hamm, Honolulu financier; Charles H. Prisk, Pasadena publisher, with his wife; Jackson Schols, former Olympic champion and author, of Long Meadow, Mass.; Arthur Brooke, conductor of the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra, and Max Stern of the Scripps-Howard publications, with Mrs. Stern.

George A. Armes, San Francisco shipbuilder and new president of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, will leave New York, where he has been for the past week relative to new building contracts on the 28th inst. for Los Angeles. It was indicated that Mr. Armes will bring west with him specifications of the four $5,000,000 intercoastal liners to be built by the Panama-Mail Steamship Company.

In yesterday morning from New York and Central America the Panama-Mail liner El Salvador, Capt. Henry Stephenson, disembarked forty travelers and sailed last night for San Francisco. Warren E. Brown of Wichita, a director for the Santa Fe Railroad, and Mrs. Brown were among those leaving the ship here, others including Capt. William F. Brown, United States Marine Corps, and Mrs. Brown from Nicaragua, bound for San Diego; Miss Ethel Griffies, English actress, and E. W. Gombers, in charge of the customs department for W. R. Grace & Co., for half a century.

Arizona cotton arriving at Los Angeles Harbor during the season now closing totaled 114,000 bales, according to tabulations just completed. Of this 49,000 went to local compresses, 65,000 for export. California and Lower California sent perhaps double Arizona's total through this port.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (AP)—Word received from Japan that the Kawasaki Line had joined the Trans-Pacific Freight Conference, headed by local shipping operators today as a move to stabilize the freight movement from the Orient to the Pacific Coast. Since the Kawasaki line entered the service, rates on nearly every commodity exported from the Far East were cut. Silk shipments were cut from $4.50 to $3.50 per pound. The new line averages three sailings a month between the Orient and Puget Sound, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Last of three new motor liners to enter the California-Orient service of the N.Y.K. Line, the liner Tatsuta will sail from Yokohama for San Francisco on her maiden voyage. The new trans-Pacific liner is a sistership of the Asame Maru, first of the trio to go into commission several months ago. The Chichibu Maru, the other of the three vessels, returned here today from Los Angeles, preparatory to sailing for the Orient.

SEATTLE, April 24.—Resolutions urging immediate establishment of a Weather Bureau station and radio equipment at Attu Island at the western end of the Aleutian Chain in Alaska, were passed tonight by the shipping committee of the Merchants' Exchange to be forwarded to Washington for government Weather Bureau officials at Washington, D. C.

The resolutions point out the nearest similar bureaus to the Aleutian region, which is the source of many storms, are about 800 miles east and southeast at Dutch Harbor and St. Paul Island.

Concerted effort of maritime interests will probably be able to put through a State Constitutional Amendment to relieve Washington-owned vessels of their tax burden, as has been done in Oregon and California, Ray P. Durnell, of the admiralty law firm of Beale, Boyle & Gates told members of the Propeller Club here.

TACOMA, April 24.—One of the largest single cargoes of South American treasure to be taken here in several weeks will be lifted during the next few days by the Grace Line freighter Condor, which berthed here today from Antofagasta, it was learned today. The vessel will shift to one of the mills tonight for 1,000,000 feet of lumber, will pick up a like amount at a second dock over the weekend and will shift to a third Monday for the remainder of her 2,000,000-foot cargo. Tuesday she will lift box shooks and general freight billed to Antofagasta.

The Pacific Bridge, Isthmian Line, put in from Baltimore early afternoon to lift 300 tons of refined copper. She will discharge 300 tons of east coast freight tomorrow.

Six hundred tons of general cargo from Shelton will comprise the cargo of the Argonaut Line freighter Henry S. Grove, which berthed here this morning from New York. She will clear port tomorrow afternoon for the return voyage.

PORTLAND, April 24.—The Commission of Public Docks today authorized preparation of plans for construction of the second unit of the municipal grain elevator at Terminal No. 4 here. The new unit of the elevator will be designed to accommodate 1,000,000 bushels more than existing facilities, dock commissioners said, and will cost about $487,000.

The dock commission will call for bids on the work immediately upon completion of plans and specifications for the new elevator.

Coast Guaranty Buys Pacific of Culver City

Resources Involved in Deal Exceed $2,000,000

Action Prompted by Holding Company's Growth

Coast Guaranty Corporation, Ltd., holding company for the Coast Mutual Building and Loan Association and others, has purchased a controlling interest in the Pacific Building and Loan Association of Culver City from Harry Culver, real-estate operator and his associates, Walter T. Moore, president of the corporation, announced yesterday.

This acquisition is in line with the rapid growth experienced this past year by the Coast Guaranty through its subsidiary, the Coast Mutual Building and Loan which has established branches in several communities of Southern California, Mr. Moore said. It acquires an association with resources of more than $2,000,000 and an entry into the Culver City territory.

MOORE MADE HEAD

Mr. Moore has been elected president of the Pacific Association succeeding Mr. Culver who has retired in order to devote his time exclusively to his other interests.

The holding corporation, in addition to the Coast Mutual Building and Loan, which has resources of more than $6,500,000, controls the Coast Mortgage Company, Ltd. with resources of about $190,000. Just recently it became affiliated with the Bay Cities Guaranty Building and Loan Association of Santa Monica through the purchase of a substantial interest. This affiliate has resources of approximately $3,800,000.

MANY BRANCHES

The Coast Mutual has branches in Long Beach, Santa Monica and South Pasadena besides its head office in Los Angeles and in addition has agency offices in Eagle Rock and Glendale. The association was organized late in 1927 with resources of $182,797. Financing Unit Due to Dissolve

Federal Discount Corporation, which was organized in 1922 to conduct a furniture finance business and in 1927 entered into a merger of its interests with the Merchants' Finance Corporation, is about to be dissolved, and subject to the necessary assents of stockholders its assets are to be distributed to its preferred stockholders. The total assets consist of stock of the Pacific Finance Corporation received in exchange for stock formerly held of the Merchants' Finance Corporation together with cash on hand.

The distribution will be equivalent to more than $8 per share for each $10 par value preferred share of Federal Discount Corporation stock, figured on the market value of Pacific Finance stock, according to Dwight Whiting, president of Merchants' Finance Corporation, who said that if the Pacific Finance stock this acquired is held there is every expectancy of the stockholders recovering deficiencies, if any, through the probable enhancement in value of Pacific Finance.

BETHLEHEM STEEL'S NET HOLDS WELL

First Quarter Equals 1929 Final Period, But Declines from Year Ago

NEW YORK, April 24. (Exclusive) Bethlehem Steel Corporation in its March quarter report, which was issued today, showed net income of $10,077,486, after interest, depreciation and depletion, etc., equal after preferred dividends to $2.60 a share on 3,200,000 common shares, as against $10,046,197, or $2.59 a share on the common in the preceding quarter and $9,045,590, or $3.05 a share on 1,800,000 common shares in the 1929 quarter.

Operations in the first quarter of this year were 80.8 per cent of capacity, as against 76.8 per cent in the preceding quarter and 91.9 per cent in the first three months of last year. Current operations are at the rate of approximately 84 per cent of capacity.

Value of orders on hand March 31, last, was stated by E. G. Grace, president, to be $73,333,010, as against $86,090,883 at the end of the previous quarter and $62,702,653 on March 31, 1929.

New business, according to Mr. Grace, is not supporting the current rate of operations and in all probability the rate will be about 81 per cent at the end of this month, due to a decreased demand, principally from railroads. Prices are not increasing and if anything are on the downside rather than on the upside, he added.

MAJOR REFINERS TAKE LOSS

Estimates for First Quarter Show Cost of Gasoline War to Larger Companies; Independents Gain

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Cost of the gasoline war that raged during most of the first quarter of the year is boldly written in red ink so far as the major refiners are concerned. Preliminary figures on gasoline sales in California for the three months ended March 31, last, indicate sizeable gains by most of the independents and corresponding losses by most of the larger companies.

Compared with the last quarter of 1929, the preliminary first quarter figures show losses for Standard, Shell, Richfield and Associated and increases for General Petroleum and Union. The Texas Company sales were unchanged.

INDEPENDENTS WIN

Sales data on the independent marketers and refiners are not yet available, but the official figures undoubtedly will reflect a substantial list of increases. Independent companies are generally accredited with initiating the war and apparently won the victory, at least in gallonage. Major refiners and their distributing outlets reluctantly met the competition of the independents some time after the price-cutting started. The delay quite apparently cost them gallonage.

Ordinarily the first quarter of the year, while the poorest in the twelve months, should show a small total increase over the fourth quarter of the previous year. The natural increase in the consumption of gasoline should account for this expected development. Total sales of the seven largest companies, however, were approximately 217,000,000 gallons, compared with 226,000,000 gallons, a drop of 4 per cent.

General Petroleum Corporation of California, Standard Oil of New York subsidiary, is the surprise of the so-called "big seven." This company's sales were approximately 19,000,000 gallons, an increase of 16 per cent over the last quarter of 1929.

UNION IMPROVES

Next comes Union Oil of California, a company that appears to have made important strides in marketing lately. While not successful in catching the Richfield, its nearest competitor, the Union managed to hold its ground against the independents and records in addition an increase of about 1 per cent. The Texas Company broke even, reporting neither gain nor loss.

Associated Oil Company, Pacific Coast division of Tide Water Associated, took the heaviest loss of the major refiners. This company's sales were approximately 21,000,000 gallons, a loss of 11 per cent, compared with the final quarter of 1929. Next was Richfield with a 10 per cent drop.

Standard and Shell, the two leaders, also took losses which were, however, relatively unimportant. Shell's percentage loss of 8 per cent exceeded Standard's drop of 3 per cent. Standard still distributes more than 26 per cent of the gasoline sold in the State and Shell about 21 per cent. Richfield's distribution was 17, against 16 per cent in the previous three months.

Preliminary estimates on gasoline sales of the first seven companies for the first quarter and comparisons with the final quarter of 1929 follow:

First quarter 1930:	Gallons	Pct. inc. or dec.
Standard	54,000,000	3 dec.
Shell	37,000,000	8 dec.
Richfield	35,000,000	10 dec.
Union	27,000,000	1 inc.
Associated	20,000,000	11 dec.
General Pet.	19,000,000	16 inc.
Texas Co.	11,000,000	..

Former Kroger Head Explains

CINCINNATI, April 24. (Exclusive)—W. H. Albers, former head of the Kroger Grocery and Baking Company, today said that reductions in earnings and earned surplus in the revised 1929 financial statement of the company were mainly due to certain income amounting to $997,219 being credited to operating earnings when it should have been added to capital. The changes that were made were purely a matter of book-keeping, he declared.

Mr. Albers said he had resigned because of his desire to further the interest of the company and that as a result of his many associations and contacts with the organization's personnel, he felt it was not possible to continue as a director without in some way unintentionally interfering with the new management.

FARM PROPERTY TAX HEAVY

Economist Says 84 Per Cent of $900,000,000 Paid Annually Traced to General Fund

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, April 24.—Whitney Coombs, agricultural economist, has issued a treatise on "taxation of farm property," which every student of farm conditions may well study.

Mr. Coombs says that direct taxes now paid by farmers amount to more than $900,000,000 annually, of which about 84 per cent is paid through the general property tax.

In this admirable little work an analysis is made of the various kinds of taxes paid by farmers, of trends in farm taxation, of taxes and agricultural income from various types of farm tenure, of farm assessments and farm values, as well as of the incidents and effects of farm values.

"The rate of increase in State and local taxes will be less than it has been, but no general reduction in farm taxes is likely to come from a decrease in local expenditures," says Mr. Coombs. "It may come either through new methods of financing certain governmental expenditures, such as more State support for the schools, or through the introduction of new sources of local revenues to supplement the general property tax."

The 2000 delegates who will meet in Los Angeles on May 21-23 to attend the seventeenth national foreign trade convention are aiming at $2,500,000,000—the "prosperity quota" of sales abroad for America's finished manufactured products during 1930.

The program has been arranged by the National Foreign Trade Council with special emphasis on trade prospects with Latin America and the Far East.

Here is a list of the speakers and their subjects: "Some Aids to American Business in Europe," Edward A. Sumner, of the American Radio Company; "American Business in Latin America," Gen. Palmer E. Pierce of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey; "The Right Road Through South America," Paul R. Mahony of the B. F. Goodrich Corporation; "China's Trade with the United States," Henry K. Chang, Chinese Consul-General at San Francisco; "Trans-Pacific Relations," J. J. Donovan of the Bloedel-Donovan Lumber Mills, Bellingham, Wash.; "Coupling Up the Americas," H. H. Rice of the General Motors Corporation; "The Film as an International Salesman," Will H. Hays.

This convention will be of great importance not only to the Pacific Coast but to the whole United States, for the future prosperity of the country is linked more closely than ever before with its foreign trade.

Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, former Secretary of War, has called attention to the changing attitude of the British aristocracy toward the new idea—at least for the British—of centralizing their wealth in securities rather than in land.

"The rich people of England used to be the landed aristocracy. Now the rich people of England are the people who own stocks and bonds," says Mr. Baker.

The intangibles, represented by stocks and bonds, rather than the physical ownership of thousands of acres of land, are really the basis of the modern industrial order.

Naturally the high-pressure salesman has learned to concentrate on this form of investment. Millions of dollars in worthless securities are offered and sold every year. The amount seems to be increasing rather than decreasing.

Look at the estates probated each week in the United States. Nearly all contain plenty of worthless securities—financial cats and dogs of all kinds. It's part of the history of the country itself—the gambling instinct undoubtedly has something to do with this change.

Mr. Baker contends that too many people get into financial difficulties by the lure and appeal of getting much more than a just return for money invested. Few people can resist a 20 per cent opportunity even though the risk is three times that of the ordinary 8 per cent investment.

"The wise investor considers safety of principal first. There are second, third, fourth and more rules for investment, but the safety of principal will always be the first rule," said one of America's richest men twenty-five years ago.

Pacific Mutual Stock Split-up Rumor Current

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (Exclusive)—Pacific Mutual Life Insurance may shortly split its stock, according to reports heard here today. It is reported banking interests will move the stock up to 100 from its present price of 92 and that at that time the shares will be split four for one.

It is believed Pacific Mutual is desirous of obtaining wider distribution of its stock and it is understood President George I. Cochrane favors giving shareholders a larger share in the profits of the company. Directors two years ago decided to increase the company's capital by offering rights annually to stockholders for the next ten years on the basis of one new share for every ten held. As a result of this action shareholders obtained larger return and the company in turn was able to plow back into the business a part of the large surplus that had been built up.

It is believed if the stock is split four for one either an extra dividend will be declared or the regular rate will be increased. Dividend of $2 is now paid annually.

The combined population of the territories served by such companies is estimated to be 732,900, and the total number of consumers served with the various classes of service is approximately 123,500. Among the principal subsidiaries are Texas-Louisiana Power Company, Consolidated Water Company of Utica, N. Y., San Jose Water Works and Alabama Utilities Company.

AIR MAIL

. . . linking North America with South America

THE first air mail arrived in New York City in February, 1930, direct from Buenos Aires, inaugurating a weekly service spanning sixteen countries and colonies of the Western Hemisphere. Passengers can now go from the United States to Buenos Aires by air in nine days less than by the fastest steamship.

The millions of dollars invested in these air services are a tribute to the increasing commercial activity and importance of Argentina, Brazil, Chile and other South American Republics. Faster communication will expedite the transaction of business between North America and South America and accelerate the rising volume of commerce between the two continents.

Electric power is one of the most important factors responsible for the increasing industrial importance of the leading South American countries and is destined to play an even greater part in the further development of these great Southern Republics.

Plants of Intercontinents Power Company, located at points of great commercial activity, serve 102 cities and towns in Argentina, Brazil and Chile. An investment in the securities of Intercontinents Power Company is an investment in the steadily mounting prosperity of the principal South American Republics.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 24. (AP)—Prices on the New York Curb Exchange developed further irregularity today, stocks in the same group moving in opposite directions, but the general undertone was steady, with strong underlying support for most of the leaders. At least a score issues were whirled up to records for the year, a few of the gains being of a rather spectacular nature, and there were but few points of real weakness. Trading was in fairly heavy volume, the day's sales running over 1,500,000 shares.

Columbia Pictures Corporation voting trust certificates, only about 150,000 shares of which are outstanding, crossed 47 to a new high and closed at 46½ for a net gain of 4 points.

Talk of an early advance in California crude prices, equated with the reported formation of a large holding company for natural gas properties, brought fresh buying into the oil group, but the gains were not fully maintained. Continental Oil of Maine, American Maracaibo and Standard Oil of Kentucky broke through to new highs.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, April 24. (Exclusive)—After selling off as much as 20 points on lower cables from the London market, futures on the local rubber exchange today firmed up in the late trading as a better tone developed abroad. The early losses were more than retained when several prominent dealers took advantage of the morning decline. The slight gains which were made on the rally were not maintained, however, but at the close prices were from unchanged to 10 points net lower. Sales volume increased as compared with Wednesday's business and amounted to 358 lots (995 tons.)

Activity during the day was confined to the May, July and September deliveries. The new contract also came in for a little more attention and sales in this aggregated twenty-six lots (260 tons.) and brought the total tonnage for both contracts up to 1155 tons for the day. Final prices in the new futures were from 5 to 16 points below previous close.

London spots closed steady and 1-16d lower at 7¼d. The May delivery in Singapore was quiet and unchanged at 7d. The price at the local market here remained the same at 14⅛ cents a pound. Outside prices were.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (AP)—Indecision was the chief characteristic of dealings on the stock exchange today. Price movements were narrow and erratic, while turnover quieted. Sales were 43,227 shares at $1,636,830.

The promising revival in oil stocks started earlier in the week came to an abrupt halt. Standard of California and Standard of New York made no progress after establishing new highs in the first hour. The California Standard's gain more than 1 point below its new high at 74½, and its retreat caused buyers of other oil shares to hesitate. As a whole, the group closed the session fractionally lower.

Transmarine failed to respond to the report that formal application had been made for listing on the New York Stock Exchange. No confirmation could be expected until the ex

RANGER READY FOR KERN FIRE SEASON

BAKERSFIELD, April 24.—With Ranger Harold Bowhay in charge, official preparations for the 1930 fire season in Kern county are complete and the ranger and his staff are in readiness to respond to the first fire alarm in the county. The Board of Supervisors has provided a $10,000 budget for control work. Last year the number of fires was kept to a minimum and the control cost reduced to a few cents an acre for every fire reported. Every fire of last year in the county was controlled before great damage had been done. This year the ranger is expecting conditions to be worse than those of last year, due to light rainfall and the rapidity with which grass and brush are dying.

PATROL BILL SUPPORTED AT HEARING

Treasury Aide Approves Plan for Unifying of Guards at Border

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Ogden Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, contended before the House Interstate Commerce Committee today that the unified border patrol proposed by the law enforcement commission should be charged with the enforcement of prohibition along the borders and preventing the entry of all persons and merchandise over land and water borders except at ports of entry.

Mills was the first witness at the hearings on the Wickersham proposal, which was recommended to Congress January 13 by President Hoover.

He supported the Hudson bill for a unified border patrol to place under the Coast Guard the execution of customs, immigration, prohibition and other laws regulating entry into the United States of persons and merchandise.

Strathmore Has School Program

STRATHMORE, April 24.—A feature of the Strathmore community observance of Public Schools Week was the largely attended variety program held in the high school auditorium this evening. Presidents of the four high school classes addressed the assembled parents and patrons, music was furnished by the several music groups of the school, and a greatly enjoyed community "sing" was held.

One of the particularly entertaining program numbers was an old-fashioned "spelling bee" for which the mothers and dads were rather unevenly matched against their sons and daughters.

Following the program, refreshments were served and during the informal hour which followed, problems of interest to both teachers and parents were discussed.

NEW THEATER FOR SPOKANE

SPOKANE, April 24. (AP)—Howard Sheehan of Los Angeles, vice-president of the Fox West Coast Theaters, Inc., said today that construction of a $1,000,000 theater will be started here in sixty days.

TWO DIE OF FUMES IN CAVE BLAST

Three Others Overcome in Rescue Effort Gas is Discovered

COBLESKILL, (N. Y.) Apr. (AP)—Two men who had been 200 feet underground in a cave here erns today when gas generated a dynamite blast near the entrance filled the passages died tonight from fumes. Physicians had tried methods of resuscitation.

Three other men, partly overcome in rescue attempts, were taken to an Albany hospital. They are expected to recover.

The men who succumbed were John Sagendorf, secretary of the Caverns, Inc., the corporation that operates the cave as a tourist attraction, and Owen Wilson, electrician.

The dynamite blast was set off early today at the entrance of the North American Cement Company near the old entrance to the cavern. Wallace went down a few passages later to do some work. When he did not return Sagendorf went in search. When neither returned, Mr. Atten went down. He, too, fell back, told others in the cave. Wallace and Sagendorf were unconscious on the floor of the cave and then collapsed.

Two volunteers then made a rescue attempt, but were overcome by the fumes and were forced to collapse when they finally reached the surface.

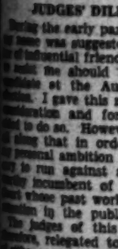
JUDGE WILSON RESIGNS POST

Municipal Court Jurist to Quit Public Life

Criticises Governor for Judicial Selections

Ousting of Lower Bench Held Unjustifiable

Making his retirement from the municipal bench an occasion for attacking the persistent refusal of Gov. Young to recognize the merits of lower court judges when choosing appointees for higher judicial service, Municipal Judge Leonard Wilson yesterday tendered his resignation to the Governor and announced his resumption on May 1 of the private practice of law.



JUDGE LEONARD WILSON

Commenting on his ambition to serve on the Superior bench of this county and of his decision not to run, such honor because of the hostility for opposing the re-election of a worthy incumbent of that office, Judge Wilson said that he has come to the conclusion that "the records of public service are not commensurate with the sacrifices involved." His public statement follows:

"I have just handed to the Governor of California my resignation as a judge of the Municipal Court of Los Angeles to take effect May 1. This resignation is prompted by reasons which I have long felt to govern the practice of law.

REWARDS LIGHT

"I think it not improper to state to those who have so generously assisted me in this ambition to give reasons which have prompted my resignation. No person who possesses the ambition to be on the bench should be content to remain without the hope of promotion if the character of their service justifies the same.

"Since January, 1927, the present Governor has appointed twelve judges of the Superior Court of this county and each and every time vacancies occurred many of our most able judges of the Municipal Court appealed to the Governor for appointment to that bench. I have never suggested my name as an appointee, feeling that there were others who had served longer and who were eminently qualified for advancement to the Superior Court. To the appeal of each of these judges the Governor has turned a deaf ear and has appointed men from private life, all of whom I hasten to suggest are entitled to the high position of judge of the Superior Court.

JUDGES' DILEMNA

"During the early part of this year my name was suggested by a number of influential friends who offered to assist me should I become a candidate at the August primary election. I gave this matter serious consideration and for a time debated what to do so. However, I realized that in order to achieve personal ambition it was necessary to run against and defeat a worthy incumbent of the Superior Court whose past work justifies his position in the public service.

"The judges of this court are, therefore, relegated to the position of either remaining on the Municipal Court without hope of advancement or running against a worthy incumbent of that body and driving him from public life. As for myself, I decline to follow either course and, therefore, announce my intention to resume the practice of law which to me has always been the most pleasant part of the profession.

"I extend my thanks to those who have assisted me in the past. I leave public life with a high respect for the institutions of our country and with high respect for those who at financial sacrifices are willing to remain as servants of the people. I have come to the conclusion that the rewards of public service are not commensurate with the sacrifices made.

DEWEY GROUP TO MEET

The survivors of Admiral Dewey's fleet will hold their annual reunion and banquet commemorating the forty-second anniversary of the battle of Manila Bay, May 1, 1898, in the Alexandria Sunday, beginning at 12 o'clock. There are 535 officers and men who survive, less than one-third of the 1720 who participated in the encounter. The Congressional Medal Men's Association, comprised of four chapters in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Philadelphia, will celebrate on the same date.

GIRL WINS DISHWASHING CROWN

She Will Rule as Queen at Food Show

[P. & A. photo]

She Has Speed at the Sink

WINNING household contests seems to run naturally in the family of Aselin, 1101 West Forty-eighth street.

Madonna Aselin, against a field of fourteen others, yesterday washed 180 dishes in twenty-five minutes, breaking only ten plates and saucers, thus establishing herself dishwashing champion of the coming sixth annual Food and Household Show. She thereby added another laurel to the family honors, as her older sister, Edna, triumphed last year as champion in the show's sweeping contest.

Miss Aselin, who said she washes dishes for a family of eight, will rule as queen dishwasher of the show, to be held in the Ambassador Auditorium May 12 to 17. The contest was a preliminary event.

The judges were Fay May of the Chamber of Commerce, Maud Evans of the home economics department, University of California at Los Angeles, and Edward G. de Staute, secretary of the Southern California Retail Grocers' Association.

Those who competed against Miss Aselin were Adelene Yerby, Dorothea Cunningham, Emma Coles, Rosalind Rowena, Peggy Evans, Evelyn Stratton, Betty Irene Gray, Dorothy Dolly James, Bobbie Lee, Lela Busk, Helene Davison, Kaye Weaver, Jane Jackson and Lillian Mines.

New Statuary Plan Approved By Cemetery

Plans for the purchase of thirty-one new statuary groups and pieces to augment the collection at Forest Lawn Memorial Park were indorsed yesterday at a joint meeting of the trustees and advisory board of the park association. With the exception of a few reproductions of Michelangelo's masterpieces, all the new pieces will be originals.

Several statuary groups previously authorized are now nearing completion, according to a report made by Hubert Eaton, chairman of the board of Forest Lawn.

The report indicated early completion of the $1,250,000 addition to the Forest Lawn Mausoleum.

CREDIT MEN TO CONVENE HERE TODAY

More Than 300 Expected to Attend Conference on Retailing Problems

A delegation of more than 300 retail credit granters and bureau managers will hold their annual conference at the Biltmore today and tomorrow. These merchants meet once a year to stress the importance of controlling credit by adding newer and stronger methods of handling this phase of retail distribution. San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Sacramento and San Diego delegates will come to Los Angeles in special trains.

T. C. PALMER

John G. Bullock, president of Bullock's and president of the Los Angeles Retail Merchants' Credit Association, will welcome the delegates this morning. Directly after lunch the delegates will be addressed by T. C. Palmer, vice-president of Walker's, on "Is Retail Credit a Force or a Gesture?" Guy H. Hulse of St. Louis is making a special visit to the Coast to speak for this convention and will address the delegates again at the banquet this evening on "Along the Highways of Business."

A special feature of the convention will be a demonstration by the National Surety Company of New York, represented by its regional manager, C. C. Reed.

The president of the conference, Frank Batty of San Francisco, will be toastmaster at the banquet this evening.

San Francisco is sending Harry [illegible] manager of the Emporium and president of the Associated Retail Men of San Francisco, to speak while H. Victor Wright of Harris & Frank, Los Angeles, and a former president of the national association, will speak on "Hidden Losses." J. J. Buell, manager of

BOUNTY ON DEAD BANDITS URGED

Slain Bank Robbers Worth $10,000 Under Plan

As Browning Drafts Scheme Branch Loses $3250

Conditions Declared Worse Than Outlaw Days

A reward of $10,000 will be paid for the body of every bank bandit killed in Los Angeles if a plan proposed by George L. Browning, president of the Seaboard, National Bank, is adopted by the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association.

In announcing details of his plan, Browning made it clear that such a reward will be paid only for delivery of dead bandits and not for their capture alive.

BRANCH BANK ROBBED

Even as he was drafting the letter outlining his proposal yesterday, the bank president received word that the Seaboard branch bank at Wilshire Boulevard and Vermont avenue had just been held up for the fourth time within three years. The robber, described as an Italian, six feet tall and about 40 years of age, operated alone and escaped with approximately $3250, the executive said. Another of the company's branches, at Wilshire Boulevard and La Brea avenue, also was held up within three months after it opened its doors.

"Not one man who figured in any of these robberies has ever been captured or brought to justice," Browning declared. "Bank robbers can understand only one language—that of the gun! I started in the banking business in Oklahoma twenty-seven years ago when that State—then known as the Indian Territory—was considered perhaps the most lawless section of the country. It was the haven for outlaws who had been driven out of every other section of the country, but, even so, conditions were not as bad as they are right in Los Angeles today."

CITES TEXAS PLAN

As proof that the plan he proposes is effectual, the banker cited results attained in Texas, where it was inaugurated by the Texas State Bankers' Association in October, 1927. During the eight weeks previous, Texas had twenty-four bank robberies, or an average of three each week. After the reward was posted, only one such hold-up was reported during the remainder of the year. In 1928 only three robberies took place. Two bandits were killed in an attempted robbery at Rankin and two more in another at Odessa.

"The bankers' association doesn't want live robbers," Browning said. "We want dead ones. We contend that it costs the State too much to try them, that there is the ever-present possibility of pardons, paroles and escapes, and that the best way to remove the hardened criminal is to kill him in the act."

Frozen North Holds Secret of Children

Eight years ago, Jacob Hartman, 25 years of age, and his sister Mary, 21, went to the Klondike from Los Angeles in a search for gold. Their mother, Mrs. Nannie D. Phillips 1950 Oak street, heard from them once and then the silence of the frozen north closed over them and she never heard from her children again.

Frantic efforts on her part to find them, letters to police in many Alaskan towns were fruitless. They had gone into the vast interior and dropped out of sight in the wilderness.

Yesterday, through her attorney, Will H. Light, Mrs. Phillips filed application for the probate of the estate of her missing son. The probate court is asked to declare her son legally dead and to allow her to administer his estate of between $4000 and $5000.

HONORS PAID ANIMAL HEROES

City Pensioners Attend Memorial

Scents Smoke of Battle

Fire Captain J. Y. Cordell with Cotton, 30-year-old horse veteran of Los Angeles Fire Department, at Dumb Animals Week ceremony at Exposition Park, standing at attention as siren sounds salute for placing of plaque.

ANIMAL heroes, now on pension by the city of Los Angeles, attended a program given yesterday afternoon at Exposition Park in connection with "Be Kind to Animals Week," at which time a memorial tablet was dedicated to the animal heroes of the World War.

The honored guests included old Cotton, 30-year-old ex-fire horse; Kentucky Boy III, who was decorated for bravery in the World War and who wears a medal for having turned in a fire alarm in Hollywood, and Rusty, an ancient donkey, who, up until 1924, worked on the Los Angeles Aqueduct.

The Fireman's Band furnished the music. Rosemond Rae Wright, president of the California Antivivisection Society, spoke, as did Senator Harry A. Chamberlain. Sunflower, an Indian princess, gave a short talk and was followed by Walking Eagle, her husband.

The program was given jointly by the Antivivisection Society, the Los Angeles Humane Society and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and Children.

Playground boys and girls will observe "Be Kind to Animals" week today and tomorrow in a series of pet shows, parades and other events arranged by the playground and recreation department in co-operation with the city humane department. Domestic pets will be exhibited in competition for prizes.

Demonstrations will be given today at Harvard playground, 4 p.m., and James Slauson Memorial playground, 7:30 p.m., and tomorrow at Evergreen, 10 a.m.; Exposition and South Park, 2 p.m.; Griffith and Verdugo, 2:30 p.m., and Watts 3 p.m.

BLIMP SAILS TODAY FOR RAISIN FESTIVAL

REMOVAL OF JESSUP WILL BE DELAYED

Mayor Says Change in City Engineer's Office Not Now Considered

A persistent rumor that City Engineer Jessup is to be replaced by Public Works Commissioner Wirsching, which has been circulating about the City Hall recently, yesterday failed of verification after a round robin of public officials, but would not die down.

Mayor Porter said the rumor is "absolutely unfounded," adding that the removal of Jessup may be considered six months or a year hence, but not now. He added that "there ought to be a law against such rumors," but admitted that Wirsching had been considered for the post in the future.

"The removal has never been discussed in any of the official meetings of the board," said President McGuire of the Board of Public Works, who failed, however, to go into the transactions of the board's unofficial "huddles."

Last January former Commissioner Hyde, now resigned, was active in ousting John C. Shaw, who had been City Engineer for more than four years, and replacing him with Jessup, an old friend.

Wirsching, an engineer, was appointed by Mayor Porter about six months ago. There appears to be a legal question involved as to whether the board can appoint one of its own members to the post. Power is specifically denied the Police Commission to make one of its members Chief of Police.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED

The City Council yesterday confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Santa Cruz street from Arboles Court to Mesa street and for the improvement of Vose street from Kester avenue to Sepulveda Boulevard.

BERMAN'S FATE STILL CLOUDED

State and Federal Papers on Way to Seattle

Dispute Over Custody Will be Settled Monday

Friedlander and Crawford File Demurrers

Interest in efforts to return Jacob Berman to Los Angeles from Seattle centered here last night in the progress of two parcels of documents, both on their way to Seattle and either of which may play an important part in the immediate fate of Berman.

The first consists of extradition papers drawn up by the District Attorney's office and dispatched northward at 11 a.m. yesterday in the hands of Investigator Eddie King, who began the trip in an automobile.

The significance of the progress of the documents is this:

If the extradition papers arrive in Seattle on or before next Monday when Berman appears in the Superior courts there on a writ of habeas corpus, it is believed that the prisoner will be turned over to the California courts for trial.

If the commitment papers arrive and the extradition papers do not, Berman will very probably be turned over to the Federal authorities to begin his prison sentence.

The second contains Federal commitment papers that would allow Berman, as he hoped and planned, to enter McNeil Island Federal penitentiary to begin a seven-year sentence and avoid trial in the State courts here. The Federal commitment was scheduled to have been placed in the mails last night by an attache of the United States Marshal's office.

POSSIBLE DEVELOPMENTS

If both extradition papers and commitment papers are in Seattle by next Monday it is believed that the extradition papers will be given preference by the Washington State courts, and that the Federal authorities will not interfere.

Whether the extradition papers will arrive, however, was a big question last night. Investigator King has first to drive to Sacramento to get the signature of Gov. Young on the extradition papers, and then proceed to Olympia, Wash., to get the same papers signed by Gov. Hartley of Washington before they will be considered legal in court.

HASTE NOT ORDERED

When King left yesterday, Chief Trial Deputy District Attorney Beecher said that the investigator had instructions to take the papers "through the usual channels," and indicated that no haste had been advised.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts, who left Seattle early yesterday morning via airplane, was reported to have landed safely at Fresno late yesterday. Whether King will contact the District Attorney on his way north and be given further instructions could not be ascertained definitely. Dispatches said that Fitts was scheduled to deliver a speech at Fresno.

The mandate from the Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco which released Berman's commitment papers was received here yesterday morning, and efforts were made by Attorney Otto Christensen, Berman's local lawyer, to expedite the commitment papers north by telegraph, if possible. The Federal officers here, however, after telegraphing government authorities in the Northwest, sent them in the usual way by mail.

DEMURRERS FILED

Although maneuvers in the Berman matter held the center of attention, there were other developments in the many cases growing out of the Julian investigation.

Former Corporation Commissioner Friedlander and Charles Crawford charged with conspiring to give and receive bribes appeared in Superior Judge Wood's court to plead to the charges against them. Atty. Otto Christensen for Crawford, and Attorney Ray Nimmo and Byron Hanna for Friedlander immediately entered demurrers to the indictment and after some discussion argument on demurrers was set for Wednesday, May 7, at 10 a.m. The point at issue is whether a defendant can be charged with conspiring to give and receive a bribe at the same time. The same question arose in the case of Asa Keyes, former District Attorney, convicted with defendants who were said to have bribed him, and some difference of opinion was expressed in the findings of the Appellate and the Supreme courts, when the Keyes case was appealed. In the face of this

OF ALL the cities I have seen in Europe or America, I think that Guadalajara is the most beautiful and has the most atmosphere and charm.

It is different from anything else in Mexico in that it is essentially Spanish—and Spanish of the days of the colonial period when chivalry and aristocracy held sway. A faint flavor of Moorish elegance and phantasy still hangs in the air.

THE CITY OF CHURCHES

Guadalajara has about 180,000 people and something like fifty-three enormous churches. All of them date back to the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and the artistry that went into them is superb.

The early-day Spanish of the days of the conquest must have been a very remarkable people. They were cruel and oppressive to the Indians; but they had the souls of artists. Their paved roads were wonderful; they were master mining engineers; explorers without parallel or peers.

DREAMS CAME TRUE

What appeals in their beautiful church architecture is its pronounced individuality. Of these fifty-three magnificent churches, no two are alike in any way. Each one gives you the impression of a great artist—free at last from fetters—working out his own dream in his own way. They have the air of having been molded by hand instead of poured in, as do some of the finest of our churches. And it is probable that just what I feel about it is true; that these architects had come over here from Spain and were able to shake off a lot of strangling supervision. Nine-tenths of all architecture is bad because the bonehead who is paying the bills will not let the artist alone to achieve something.

MONSTROSITIES

One thing I can't account for in any other way in Guadalajara. In late years a new section of the city has grown up—a sort of Wilshire district where the newly rich have built their homes. And of all the gosh-awful architectural monstrosities that ever heaven permitted to exist, these houses of the modern rich are the worst.

How any builder could see the cool, simple, beautiful old patio houses of Guadalajara and then go out and spatter this ginger bread around puzzles me.

CANNON BALL

One thing that has saved the churches of Mexico is the wars. In Europe the destruction of churches in war time has been appalling. This is due to the use of artillery. Mexicans don't like to use artillery in their wars. They are still close enough to the Indians to use rifles and to fight their battles with a good deal of the feeling of every man being on his own.

AN AUTHORITY

In the little town of Tequila, I met Dr. Atl, perhaps the most distinguished authority in the world on Mexican churches. He is the author of a work in six volumes on the churches he has seen; and he hasn't seen them all yet.

Dr. Atl says that in one century 15,000 churches were built in Mexico. That was 150 a year; more than twelve a month.

CENSUS AGENTS REVEAL STRANGE EXPERIENCES

"In one apartment-house near San Pedro and Twenty-third streets," Enumerator R. M. Raylan said, "I found a Chinese family, another of Mexicans and one of Koreans. In the house on one side of the apartment lives a Portuguese family and in the house on the other side lives an Italian family."

Supervisor Chepowith at Glendale observed in a report from a section in Pasadena that it contains one family of ten children and their parents all of whom were born in England. But when it comes to big families, Enumerator R. M. Brock holds the discovery medal. He found the Toombs family of Mexicans, near Hooper and Redwood streets, in which are the father, mother and twenty-two children. Enumerator Lester Hatch, working near Dominguez, found a Mexican family of sixteen, including the two parents.

"BOMBING" WILL LIGHT CITY

Los Angeles is to be "attacked" by air tonight.

The United States Army Air Corps provisional wing—170 planes strong—will warn local residents of its scheduled arrival en masse tomorrow at United Airport by sending ahead five of its bombing air leviathans to light up the skies.

Instead of dropping their usual deadly "eggs" of high explosives, however, three of the ships will release parachute flares that are the most brilliant in the world.

One of these alone will be strong enough to light the entire Los Angeles area, including Hollywood and other districts equidistant from the City Hall.

The first flare, rated at 800,000-candlepower, will drift earthward a few minutes after the bombers take to the air from United at 8:30 p.m.

Residents here will receive a warning of the coming illumination by three smaller "fire fly" Douglas observation planes that are to speed above the city half an hour in advance of the trailing Keystone bombers. The "fire flies" will sail along on illuminated wings, but the bombers will be darkened to simulate the type of surprise attack of which they are capable, designed to blow up an entire city in war combat.

At the United field, meanwhile, nine 25,000-watt searchlights, four feet in diameter, will attempt to trace the course of the bombers across the sky before and after the flares are dropped. Army officers on the ground at the Burbank field will experiment with these lights, installed by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, in an attempt to determine their efficiency in locating the "enemy" planes.

As soon as they complete their mission the bombers and observation craft will land again at United.

S. C. LEWIS EN ROUTE HERE

Julian Figure Due Tomorrow to Face Bribery Trial; Berman Wins Delay Till Monday

BY ALBERT F. NATHAN
"Times" Staff Representative

SEATTLE, April 24. (Exclusive)—S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, who fled to the Federal penitentiary at McNeil Island to begin a seven-year sentence for mail fraud, in an effort to escape prosecution in California, is on his way home tonight.

Under guard of Deputy Marshal Miller and Prison Guard Leprohon, the former oil promoter was placed on a southbound train at Stellacoom shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon and is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles via the West Coast Limited early Saturday morning.

Lewis is to be tried in the south on a charge of jury bribery, which grew out of the first Julian trial in 1928 when he, together with a group of other defendants, was found not guilty of an overissue of Julian stock.

And while Lewis was being hurried south for trial Jacob Berman, his business associate in the Julian company, and also under a seven-year Federal sentence, remained here in the County Jail attempting to be committed to Federal prison before California officers armed with extradition papers arrive to return him to Los Angeles.

Berman surrendered himself to Marshal Benn here Tuesday and requested the Federal officer to send him to McNeil Island prison at once. Later in the day, however, Federal Judge Neterer declined to order Berman into custody because of the absence of commitment papers and he was arrested as a fugitive from California by the local Sheriff. Various writs and restraining orders obtained by S. B. Bassett, a local attorney, have made it impossible for his return to Los Angeles before next Mon-

GRAVES OPENED IN POISON QUIZ

Bodies of Mrs. Hartman's Son and Husband Removed

Alienists Study Mother of Mystery-Death Girl

Suspected Woman Denies Knowledge of Crime

From their graves in Sunnyside Cemetery at Long Beach the bodies of O. B. Hartman, who died in 1927, and of his son Henry, who died last year, were exhumed by county officials yesterday and removed to the morgue, where they will be subjected to chemical analysis as part of the inquiry launched through discovery of arsenic in the viscera of Ruth, the 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mary Hartman, detained for questioning regarding the deaths.

The work of exhumation was directed by County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner and Dr. Walter Kennedy, the Coroner's laboratory physician. They reported finding the caskets in such a good state of preservation that it was not deemed necessary to conduct the analyses at the gravesides. The remains, therefore, were brought here intact. Whether the vital organs contain any form of metallic poisoning is not expected to be determined for several days, the physicians stated, on account of the exhaustive nature of the tests to be made.

WIDOW MAKES DENIALS

While the bodies of her husband and son were being taken from the earth, Mrs. Hartman remained in custody of Long Beach police and continued to deny having any criminal knowledge of their deaths or that of the daughter, Ruth. During the afternoon Detective Sergeants Le Baron and Wood, in charge of the investigation, questioned her at length in the presence of a prominent alienist. At the conclusion of the interrogation, according to the officers, the alienist expressed the unofficial opinion that Mrs. Hartman is mentally incompetent. This belief, the detectives state, may lead only to an application for an insanity commitment, unless the widow should admit having had a hand in the deaths of her kinfolk. Since being detained Wednesday night she has denied any such participation, according to the police, meeting their question with another question: "I loved them; so how could I have killed them?"

ADMITS SENDING GIFTS

The detectives said they obtained from Mrs. Hartman, however, a statement which, although not dealing directly with the deaths, explains the mysterious receipt of candy and flowers recently by Miss Nettie Hartman, one of the woman's two living daughters. Each package received by Nettie had been accompanied by a card, blank except for a question mark. Mrs. Hartman, according to the officers, admitted sending the gifts anonymously in the belief they would help to comfort the grief-stricken daughter.

A hitherto suspicious angle in the case was blasted yesterday when quantities of white powder found in Mrs. Hartman's home at 1726 Lime avenue, Long Beach, and in her possession following her detention proved to be harmless. Police chemists reported an analysis showed the powders to be worthless as clews.

ALL THREE INSURED

Investigation of the three Hartman deaths was ordered by Coroner Nance Wednesday when Autopsy Surgeon Wagner found arsenic in tissues of the vital organs of Ruth, who died on the 14th inst., supposedly from ptomaine poisoning. Father, son and daughter all carried insurance policies, according to the investigating officers, in each of which Mrs. Hartman was named as beneficiary.

The detectives said yesterday they have learned Mrs. Hartman is facing the prospect of financial straits and that even a $50 industrial death benefit she has been receiving from the oil company that employed her son is about to cease.

Matron Receives Flowers at Jail

Floral tributes and congratulations yesterday were being received by Mrs. Vada Sullivan, chief matron of the County Jail, on her fourth anniversary as head of the women's division. Mrs. Sullivan eight years ago became one of the five matrons in the old County Jail. She became chief matron about three months after the jail was removed to the Hall of Justice.

Mrs. Sullivan yesterday commended the loyalty and co-operation of the twelve matrons comprising the present personnel of the women's division. She pointed out that in the new jail quarters the women inmates have increased from a few to a daily average of between 175 and 190.

PLANES TO RAIN LIGHT ON CITY

Maj. H. H. Arnold, here from Sacramento, where the Air Corps has been conducting its annual maneuvers for the last three weeks, to smooth out in advance the details of tomorrow's scheduled gigantic demonstration.

While the bombers roll up the curtain tonight for the major show the rest of the planes of the provisional wing will be hangared at March Field, Riverside, following a flight today from Sacramento.

Then at 9 a.m. tomorrow the first fighting birds of the nation are scheduled to settle at United. From then until 11 a.m. will follow group after group of the army's brood—more Keystone and larger Curtiss bombers, observation ships, Curtiss two-seater attack planes and hornet-like Boeing and Curtiss pursuit craft.

Lunch and a trip through the First National Studios, then back to their planes at 2 p.m. for the feature event of the day is the schedule for the 173 officers and 113 enlisted men.

AIRPORT LOCATION

The airport is located on Hollywood Way, between San Fernando Road on the north and the Southern Pacific tracks on the south. It is two miles west of Burbank and may be reached from Los Angeles over San Fernando Road or Cahuenga Pass and Hollywood Way in thirty-five minutes' driving time from the City Hall.

Special busses will leave as often as necessary from the Union Stage Depot, Fifth and Los Angeles streets, and from 6715 Hollywood Boulevard, to transport spectators to the airport tomorrow.

Following grounding of the ships tomorrow afternoon, officers and men will go to various hotels throughout the city. Officers will be entertained at a dinner-dance at the Ambassador, while enlisted men will dine at the Alexandria. Members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce aviation committee will act as hosts of the evening and will greet the pilots on their arrival from March Field. Gen. Walter P. Story is to have charge of receiving the ranking officers.

COUNCIL PUTS LIMIT ON BOND PROPOSALS

A report declaring it to be the sense of the City Council that bond issues upon the August primary ballot be limited to power bonds and airport bonds was adopted yesterday by the City Council by a unanimous vote. Councilmen Davis, Holland and Barthel were absent. No definite sum was set for either of the issues. The power bonds are for extensions to that system. It is intended to submit another measure on the purchase of the Municipal Airport, known formerly as Mines Field, now under lease.

CENSUS AGENTS GET SURPRISES

of age and still working. He is an employee of the street-cleaning department. Brock has but one leg and gets about on crutches. On one occasion a gang of youngsters stole away with his crutches while he was busy enumerating a family and he came near not getting any further until some one found the gang in a vacant lot.

Raylan also has had varied experiences. He was carefully taking down data one day from a Negro woman about her husband and after painstakingly getting most of the information he came to the question near the end about occupation and asked what the husband did. Raylan nearly fell off the chair when she said, "Oh, he's dead!" And then he did fall off the chair when she added, "That's why I killed that man; he never would do nothin'."

MARRIAGES AMAZING

Enumerator William Miller in central district said he came across a girl, 16 years of age, who was with her second husband. Her first marriage took place when she was but 13.

"That's nothing," remarked another enumerator when he heard Miller tell the story, "I found a woman 28 years of age who had been married four times and she's looking for a fifth!"

Supervisor DeCoudre of Long Beach tells a prize story. He said at the end of the first two weeks of census taking a woman telephoned his office excitedly and said:

"I've been staying at home ever since this census started waiting for the enumerator and now there's a fire down the street I want to go to and I'm going!"

"Go on," said DeCoudre, "the enumerator is probably there, too, and you may find him."

PERAMBULATING HOME

Into the office of Supervisor Ballentine at Monrovia yesterday walked a man who on being asked whether he owned his own home replied that he did, and gave its value as $75.

"How's that?" asked Ballentine.

"It's a house car on a 1930 Ford," was the reply.

Supervisor Chenoweth said that at a joint meeting yesterday of North Hollywood and Van Nuys Kiwanians eighty persons were present and only four of the number reported that they had not been enumerated.

"I think that is not so bad when you know that we have until May 2 to count that section," Chenoweth said.

He said Enumerator Lee Carson of Newhall just about used up an old Ford car trying to get back into the hills to get a group of old prospectors, finally gave it up, made the trip on a burro, found two men for listing and got 10 cents a man for each of them.

COUPLE ENUMERATED AT MARATHON DANCE

HUNTINGTON PARK April 24. (Exclusive)—After calling at a certain residence in the Florence district several times, failing to find either the husband or wife at home, one of the enumerators taking the fifteenth Federal census inquired of neighbors as to the whereabouts of the persons residing at the dwelling. She learned that they were contestants in a marathon dance in South Gate, which had been in operation for several days. Going to the ballroom she awaited a rest period, when she secured the census information.

Lawrence Klinker, assistant supervisor of the district, reports that more than one-half the enumerators in his territory have completed their work and turned in their reports.

ORANGE COUNTY WORK BEING SPEEDED UP

SANTA ANA, April 24. — Census Supervisor Stanley Goode today urged his enumerators on to greater efforts so that the census of incorporated cities may be completed in this county by May 2.

Thirty-five of the eighty-nine districts in Orange county have been completed, reports at census headquarters showed. Many of the districts not completed are in rural sections.

Seal Beach was completed last night, making the fourth Orange county incorporated district to be finished.

FALSELY ACCUSED

On every occasion Mrs. Olive E. Mowry stepped out of the house her husband, Albert Mowry, falsely accused her of carrying on flirtations with policemen, the wife told Superior Judge Blake yesterday when granted a divorce. The couple married on June 11, 1924, and separated in 1929.

PLEA MADE FOR BOOKS FOR FOLLOWERS OF SEA

That book you've finished reading—don't lay it away to mold in uselessness.

There is a real and an unlimited need for every volume that can be spared to fill the little circulating libraries that go to sea with thousands of seamen on thousands of ships.

All this week and next the Seamen's Church Institute, which performs this service gratis, is making its appeal to the public for books.

"We are sending thousands of volumes to sea and countless magazines," declared Rev. Harold H. Kelley, in charge of the institute at Los Angeles Harbor. "You'd be surprised what seamen read—fiction, mechanics, aviation, navigation, religion, and even astronomy and philosophy are devoured on lonely stretches between ports."

Books and magazines may be left at any Episcopal church, at the Los Angeles Community Chest, 1151 South Broadway, or its branches, or at the institute, First street and Harbor Boulevard, San Pedro.

The book week, the seventh annual drive here, has the indorsement of Mayor Porter, who expresses the hope that the public will respond generously.

MORE than a generation ago, when Los Angeles ranked among minor American cities, Fidelity Savings and Loan Association was an active, constructive force in the life of the community...encouraging thrift through consistent saving...financing the building of homes and other needed structures.

Today, on the books of this Association appear the names of more than 28,000 people...a thriving city of Fidelity investors who have learned the lesson of 6 per cent and safety...of property owners whose homes have been financed by Fidelity.

A "city" of worry-free investors . . . secure in the knowledge that their funds are protected by the resources and the known integrity of an institution which has served three on-coming generations.

Fidelity has grown and prospered through the years, but Fidelity has never lost sight of the basic principles of safety and service upon which it was founded; to which it has adhered without deviation for more than 39 years.

HUNDREDS PASS COURT JOB TEST

Tentative Approval Given to Applicants

Forty Places to be Filled from Eligible List

Examinations First for Municipal Tribunal

Applicants successful in passing written tests for six varieties of jobs under Marshal Thomas and Chief Clerk Dinsmore of the Municipal Court have been tentatively approved by the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission, and within two weeks eligible lists will be certified. A total of 234 were successful and there are approximately forty jobs to be filled.

The tests are the first to be held in Municipal Court jobs since they were created by the State. Although pay for the work is from the county treasury, an agreement was reached with Los Angeles to conduct the tests.

MANY CLERKS PASS

For senior deputy clerks, Henry Langendorf topped the list with 94.8 credits; John D. Lathrop, second, 92.7 credits, and Isador Shapiro, third, 92.7 credits. One hundred and nineteen passed.

For junior clerk, Louis N. Gaffney was first with 94.6 credits; Henry C. Johnson, second, 92.5 credits; James C. McCrory, third, 91.9 credits. Sixty-five passed.

Deputy marshal (bailiff,) John Q. Gilchrist, first, 99 credits; Clarkson E. Underwood, second, 97.8 credits, and Daniel R. McDonald, 97.5 credits. Seventy-four passed.

Deputy marshal (process server,) Bertram R. Northrup, first, 100 credits; Nicholas M. Schilz, second, 98.8 credits, and John C. Parker, third, 95.9 credits. Forty-four passed.

OFFICER TEST POSTPONED

Deputy clerk (assistant cashier,) William L. Reitz, first, 98.1 credits; Harry G. Whitmore, Jr., 86.7 credits, and Harry J. Wilson, 86 credits. Twelve passed.

Results of the tests taken by 3001 for general clerks of the Municipal court, now required to be civil service employees, will be known about May 13.

The test for promotion of policemen to detectives, set for the 26th inst., has been postponed to May 3 because of the many officers needed at the army air meet.

LOS ANGELES GETS HIGH RATING AS FUR MARKET

Los Angeles, despite its sunshine and year-around mild temperature, ranks as the fourth best fur market in the United States, it was revealed yesterday in statistics received by local officials of the National Association of the Fur Industry, the seventh annual convention of which will open in this city on Monday. Los Angeles is surpassed as a fur center by only New York, Philadelphia and Chicago.

According to H. W. Blaine, executive chairman of the committee in charge of the convention, the principal reason for Los Angeles' fur market rating is that many of the styles in fur garments are set by members of the motion-picture industry.

Delegates already are arriving for the convention here, which is to continue for three days and will be featured on Monday evening by a trade style show in which $2,000,000 worth of furs will be exhibited in competition. The winning garments will be considered models for what women will wear in furs during the coming winter.

DEATH NEAR FOR WOMAN AFTER LEAP

Victim Unable to Tell Why She Jumped from Window of Her Apartment

Suffering internal injuries from which she is not expected to recover, Miss Bessie Balden, 32 years of age, lay in the Georgia - street Receiving Hospital late yesterday unable, because of her condition, to tell police why she leaped from the third-story window of her apartment at 2625 South Grand avenue earlier in the day.

MISS BESSIE BALDEN

Police described the leap as a suicide attempt. Lloyd Riggan of 1349 South Flower street told detectives he was with Miss Balden at the time and that he made several desperate efforts to prevent her from jumping through the window. He declared that Miss Balden and he had been friendly, but had disagreed yesterday regarding their acquaintance. A neighbor woman verified Riggan's statement, detectives said, regarding Miss Balden's asserted attempt to end her life.

Relatives of the woman live in Cleveland, O., according to detectives. Further investigation is being made by Detective Lieutenant Donohue.

Cut-Off to Be Open for Baker Rodeo Sunday

Last-minute preparations for the fifth annual Baker Ranch rodeo at Saugus Sunday were announced complete yesterday by the sponsors, Roy Baker, Hoot Gibson and Bob Anderson. From the office of J. C. Moore, office engineer of the State Highway Commission, came the statement also that work on the new cut-off just beyond the Newhall tunnel virtually has been finished and that the cut-off will be open for traffic Sunday morning.

Fully 100 more cowboy and cowgirl performers will be seen in the fourteen arena contests than took part in last year's rodeo, it was stated yesterday.

Police Officer Given Divorce

Elmer E. Smith, policeman, was faced with the problem of either getting a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Helen Smith, or suffering a nervous breakdown, he told Superior Judge Dehy, who yesterday granted the officer a decree.

Smith told the court he is on a night beat, but when he goes home he cannot convince Mrs. Smith he has been at work, he said. And, she won't let him sleep during the day.

On his suggestion, the custody of two minor children was given to the mother.

STRIP OF LAND SOUGHT

Efforts to obtain a strip of property from the Mack Sennett Film Corporation for the widening of Glendale Boulevard at Effie street are being made in the trial of a condemnation suit brought by the city of Los Angeles, which went to trial yesterday before Superior Judge Burnell. The piece sought is 30 by 150 feet. Deputy City Attorney Loveland is representing the city and Attorney Fred E. Petitt of the law firm of Bauer, Wright & Macdonald, the corporation.

Christian Endeavor Union Will Meet

Mailing Bids to Convention

Ralph Bambo, general State secretary, and Mary Slater, county office secretary, who directed the dispatch of thousands of invitations to organization's annual gathering.

BUSY helpers in the office of the Los Angeles County Christian Endeavor Union yesterday completed their task of mailing thousands of invitations to the annual convention of the organization at Pasadena May 2, 3 and 4. The work was done under the direction of Ralph Bambo, general State secretary, assisted by Mary Slater, office secretary at the local headquarters.

The convention this year, according to Bambo, bids fair to prove the greatest in point of attendance in the history of the union. More than 4000 delegates are expected to be present during the three days.

The program will include song services, Bible study, music and banquets. Among the speakers will be John Brown, evangelist, Rev. P. W. Philpott of Los Angeles and Rev. W. W. Catherwood of Riverside.

Wife Divorces Witness Klumb of 'Attic' Case

Description of an office "love feast," the participants in which were tenderly embracing, won a divorce for Mrs. Frances Klumb from Roy H. Klumb, Oesterreich murder case witness, in Superior Judge Sproul's court yesterday.

Mrs. Klumb testified that when her husband on another occasion came out of Mrs. Zelpha R. Bogue's house she kissed Klumb good-by affectionately. Another witness testified that she saw the "love feast" when she entered Klumb's office unexpectedly, whereupon Klumb introduced Mrs. Bogue as his wife.

Klumb did not appear and attorneys stated a property settlement has been arranged.

The host of relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Buzzell, 1443 East Sixty-seventh street, today will wish them well on occasion of their sixtieth wedding anniversary. They came to California in 1898 from Northville, Mich.

The celebration at the home today will include a reunion of relatives and a feast. They have three children and six grandchildren.

The Board of Examiners is co-operating by giving the examination at the school at the completion of the course. The class meets Tuesday and Thursday evening.

STUDIOS GET HAYS FILM CODE EDICT

Strict Conformity by Producers of West Coast Ordered by Executive

Strict conformance with the recently announced motion-picture code of ethics is being ordered in all West Coast studios, it was announced yesterday by the office of Will H. Hays, which promulgated the code. Studios at which the executives called meetings for disseminating the features of the code include Paramount-Publix, Warner Brothers, First National, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and R.-K.-O. Others are arranging meetings.

Fred W. Beetson, executive vice-president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, and Col. Jason S. Joy, head of its studio relations department, have addressed these meetings on the requirements of the code and their interpretations. Meetings were attended by all departments engaged in any angle of production work.

Col. Joy will leave for New York late this month to familiarize himself with current Broadway theatricals adaptable to the screen. Upon his return, he will complete the list of studio meetings.

DOCTOR'S ARREST ORDERED

Head of Gilbert Thayer Foundation Clinic Sought; Number of Other Complaints Expected

Arrest of Dr. Arthur Benson, head of the Gilbert Thayer Foundation clinic, which is under investigation by City Prosecutor Nix, was ordered yesterday on two warrants issued by the State Labor Commission charging failure of Dr. Benson to pay two employees of a seaside sanatorium.

The complaints were made by Dolores Harlow, a nurse of 1127 Sixteenth street, Santa Monica, who said Dr. Benson owes her $82, and John M. Cook, a janitor, of 517 Ocean Front, Venice, who said he has wages of $260 due and unpaid. Both were employed at the Gilbert Thayer Sea Spray Sanatorium at Santa Monica, according to the complaints.

Meanwhile a dual investigation of Dr. Benson's clinic in Los Angeles proceeded with the City Prosecutor's office and the State Board of Medical Examiners co-operating. Ten or twelve warrants are expected shortly, the investigators say.

Deputy City Prosecutor Hornaday and Investigator Byrne for the Medical Examiners yesterday seized many documents incident to the inquiry and continued interviewing a score of prospective prosecution witnesses.

Physicians of the City Health Department have examined a number of complainants who said they were patients of Dr. Benson's clinic and were told they were suffering from various serious afflictions. Deputy Hornaday says that thus far the examiners have found no traces of the ailments the patients said they were led to believe they had.

Hornaday and Byrne say they have sufficient evidence on which to base a number of complaints already, but the investigation is to go deeper and others may be involved.

TWO ADMIT SLAYING OF BING WONG

Albritton and Smith Plead Guilty and Will Testify Against Shiraishi

Theodore F. Albritten and Benjamin S. Smith, who with Frank Shiraishi are charged with the murder of Bing Wong, Pasadena Chinese, yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge in Superior Judge Hardy's court.

Judge Hardy ordered the two defendants to appear before him at noon on Tuesday, the 29th inst., when he will fix the degree of the crime and pass sentence upon them.

It is charged that the three men entered Wong's gambling establishment at 34 Pico street, Pasadena, on the night of February 22, last, and that one of the men shot Wong down when he tried to escape through a rear door.

Alhambra Man Pleads Guilty as Wife Slayer

Andrew M. Richardson, 58-year-old Alhambra resident, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter before Superior Judge McComb when on trial for murdering his wife, Julia, on February 13, last.

Richardson waived time for judgment and sentence and Judge McComb sentenced him to San Quentin prison for from one to ten years.

Philharmonic Official to Sail

George Leslie Smith, manager of the Philharmonic Orchestra, will embark on the liner Columbus at Wilmington tomorrow for a trip to Europe via the Panama Canal. Mrs. Smith, who has just finished writing a book on "The First Decade" of the Philharmonic Orchestra, will accompany her husband. The Philharmonic Orchestra season will close with a concert Sunday afternoon, after which the director, Dr. Rodzinski, will leave for the East, joining Mr. and Mrs. Smith and sailing from New York. Mr. Smith is going on a business and pleasure trip. He will join the New York Philharmonic Orchestra in Vienna and continue with the organization on its European tour.

Desertion Gives Husband Liberty

Asserted desertion won a divorce yesterday for Joseph J. Kraus, theater manager, from Mrs. Marie Kraus in the court of Superior Judge Yankwich.

"She just took the children and left. I don't know why," the husband said. He told the court he was paying $100 a month for the support of his children.

Mr. and Mrs. Kraus were married May 7, 1915, and separated February 1, 1929.

RABBI WILL SPEAK

Rabbi Isadore Isaacson will give an address on "How Religions Might Better Understand One Another" at 8 p.m. today at Temple Israel, Hollywood. Rev. Theodore Abel, founder of the Humanist Society of Hollywood, also will speak.

WIFE FUSSY ABOUT GEMS HE BOUGHT HER, HE SAYS

Mrs. Lois Colby was always dissatisfied during the year and four months she was married to H. A. Colby and frequently complained about the kind of diamonds, furs and other gifts he bought her, the husband testified before Superior Judge Archbald yesterday when applying for a divorce. At the close of the hearing a decision was withheld to await the arrival of a deposition from the East.

Colby testified that his wife beat him, threw dishes at him and on one occasion made his nose bleed.

He said that when they were in New York on their honeymoon he telephoned to a relative who lived there. Mrs. Colby became angry, he said, and created a scene.

"She said she wasn't going to have my relatives come to Los Angeles and park on us," Colby declared.

When asked by his counsel, Attorney Ben S. Hunter, if Mrs. Colby ever made any reference to her former husband, Colby replied:

"She told me he left her ten times."

Today's Bible Text

And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God.—Romans xii, 2.

BEDDING

When this straw voting is all done, they can use the straw to bed down the donkey for another four years.

BAD SPELLS

When the newspaper boys and the Congressmen collided over hard words in Washington the lawmakers had the worst spells.

PEACE

The traffic cops of Idaho have been disarmed. Now if the lawbreakers will kindly do likewise, this may prove a mighty good idea.

CRIME NOT INCREASING

There is no more crime today than in other generations in proportion to the population, says Warden Lawes of Sing Sing. We just have more headlines.

BEE ON HER BONNET

A Hollywood star has set a new spring style by having a bee of onyx, with wings of crystal, a head of gold and eyes of rubies, on her bonnet. All right, honey!

COURT ECONOMY

The cost of bouquets carried by debutantes presented at court has been cut from $400 to $10. But the cost of the presentation frocks still will make daddy groan.

WORKS BOTH WAYS

The publicity that put Carnera in a position to draw down a share of a huge purse probably will cost him that chance, unless he shows more class than he has to date.

DARK SECRETS

Another reason why mystery-story writers come to Southern California is to get the unsolved murders for plots. Scotland Yard always was a joke to Sherlock Holmes.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Bill for $230,000,000 for new buildings in the country, half of which, or $115,000,000, is to be spent in Washington, has been signed by the President. Mr. Hoover should hear no more complaint in the Capitol of nothing to do.

GETTING OFF EASY

William Z. Foster now will have an opportunity to play the role of martyr to a group that despite its teachings is one of the most despotic in the world. Those who enjoy freedom in Russia accept the laws laid down by the soviet. Others are treated no better than was Mr. Foster in this country, if they infringe on them. The only difference is that one who defied the Russian soviet as openly as Mr. Foster did the American government probably would face a firing squad.

ANOTHER CIVIC CENTER

Beverly Hills, inspired by the example of her big neighbor, goes to the polls on Monday to vote herself a civic center. At least, since Beverly Hills has never yet turned down a bond issue for a public improvement, the presumption is that a suitable civic center will soon adorn this beautiful little city between Los Angeles and the sea.

The proposed improvements are modest, in keeping with the good taste always shown by the people who have put Beverly Hills on the map of rank and fashion. Bonds are asked to purchase six and a half acres in the geographical center of the city and to pay for a new city hall and other improvements. Space is also reserved for a Federal building and postoffice, approval of which is expected from Washington. Those who are sponsoring the project have planned something in keeping with the general atmosphere of Beverly Hills, ornate and appropriate, but not elaborate or expensive.

Beverly Hills has won for itself widespread fame for the beauty of its street scenes and residences, its wealth of trees and flowers and shrubs and green lawns, its evident determination not to sacrifice the picturesque in the rush for a few extra immediate dollars. When it builds its civic center it is certain to be in harmony with its well-known traditions.

THE RETURN OF LEWIS

The return of Sheridan C. Lewis to Los Angeles to face trial on charges of jury bribing has been decreed by the Federal authorities who have him in custody for mail frauds, and his efforts to escape California justice by hiding behind the bars of a United States prison have been defeated. The fight waged by Dist.-Atty. Fitts to obtain this result has been a hard one, carried on in the midst of the investigation of that tangled mass of corruption, intrigue and crime known as the Julian case, which alone is enough to keep a dozen prosecutors busy following up the various leads. The work, too, has been done under pressure, because many offenses committed in this gigantic series of frauds will soon be covered by the statute of limitations, unless prosecutions are initiated at once.

Lewis will face the courts, not for wrecking the Julian Petroleum Corporation, but for asserted fixing of the jury which acquitted him of the wrecking. He cannot be tried on the wrecking charge again, though it is now established beyond doubt that he was the chief wrecker; but the offense now charged is at least as serious and carries as much penalty. There is no crime worse than tampering with the courts and if Lewis has been guilty of it a prison sentence, to be served after he has paid his debt to the Federal government at McNeil's Island, alone will vindicate California justice.

As for Jacob Berman, or Jack Bennett, as he is variously called, there is no doubt either that he was a major participant in the major Julian crimes. If his present attempt to break into the Federal prison is likewise made for the purposes of escaping justice and evading his bargain with the District Attorney he, also, must be dragged back in the same manner as Lewis. The testimony of Berman is vitally necessary, it appears, in some at least of the cases that have been brought, and his explanation is the key that unlocks many mysteries. The community will approve arrangements which the court sees proper to make in permitting Bennett to escape a part of his merited punishment, provided he pays for it by aiding to the best of his ability in the prosecution of other criminals, but it will do so under no mistaken belief that he himself is not an arch-criminal. To secure the maximum of justice, it is occasionally necessary to withhold the stripes from one who richly deserves them in order that the rest may be convicted. Abstract justice and practical justice cannot, unfortunately, always be reconciled.

The public of this county will not be satisfied with anything short of a complete clean-up of this whole Julian affair, an exposure of all the facts and punishment of all the criminals whose guilt can be established. It has several times been believed that the whole story was known, only to have the affair boil up again in a new place and expose ramifications theretofore undreamed of.

At the same time, it is true that there are degrees of guilt in the affair. Dozens of men whose names have been tarred had but a slight and casual connection with it and would have recoiled with horror had they had any idea what the central conspirators were doing. Many of them, undoubtedly, were deceived into technical illegalities which bore only remotely upon the collapse of the company. It must be kept in mind that it was the vast overissue of spurious stock which robbed the investors of their money and that that overissue was the source from which all the subsequent offenses sprang and had their effect. Crimes as serious as the overissue itself were committed in connection with the bribery of public officials and their acceptance of bribes, according to indictments now on file, but with these only a comparatively small group had any connection. Some of the accusations have no connection with the Julian affair at all, except that some of the persons involved were also involved in the Julian case. It is unfair to blame everybody for everything.

In other words, some of the participants are black, some are gray and some are only slightly tinged, and the juries are going to have a difficult task in sorting them into the proper categories. It will take time, patience, and clear judgment and a good many mistakes are likely to be made if the greatest care is not exercised.

No one, therefore, should jump to conclusions or seek to impede the efforts of the prosecutors, judges and grand jurors who are seeking to untangle the affair. Differences of opinion as to the best method of procedure, even as to who to prosecute and how, have arisen. Such differences are natural and inevitable and do not cast any reflections on anybody's good faith, integrity and honesty of purpose. If the public expects impeccable wisdom and infallible judgment it is going to be disappointed. All it has a right to demand is that all concerned co-operate to the extent of their several abilities and that as much pulling at cross-purposes as possible be eliminated.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

Sponsored by civic clubs, church brotherhoods and by local Masonic bodies, Public Schools Week seems to have caught the imagination of the citizenry throughout Los Angeles and vicinity. Exhibits of students' work in various centers have drawn large crowds of parents and other interested people.

Public Schools Week is an attempt to tie up the adults of each community with our educational system. Too many parents are merely disinterested spectators of one of the greatest movements of modern times. Contact between teachers and parents is imperative. When these groups come together and understand each other many difficult problems and obstacles melt away.

The teacher needs the co-operation of the parent to put on his program. The parent needs the sympathy of the teacher in environment. Neither can function perfectly at long distance.

As the schools go, so goes Detroit, has become a truism in the automobile capital. Whenever an election takes place, the schools hold a mock election simultaneously. The newspapers take the balloting of the youngsters so seriously that they call up the schools in the middle of the afternoon for returns. The trend of the school has been found to be a forecast of the city.

Nor can this be said to occur because the students vote as their parents; for the opposite is true. The parents are found to vote with their youngsters. Days and weeks before election, discussions of candidates and issues take place in classes. News stories are debated and compared. The discussions are borne back to the homes. The parents get their reactions from the children.

The pupils also help their parents in preparing their ballots. Registration is required in school as in the city and failure to register carries the same penalty both places.

What is true of election is patent in other lines of life. The little children still lead them. The boys and girls are getting more than the three R's. As the youth go today, the city and country go tomorrow.

Citizenship needs to be intimate with the school system to protect the rising generation from being impacted in baleful influences. Various vagaries and vices in government and society understand the value of reaching the boys and girls, and they are not hesitant about approach. Sinister forces may be at work without the teacher suspecting. Various forms of questionable propaganda may even sometimes be introduced by teachers themselves.

Haphazard interest in the schools is criminal. Our Constitution has two arch-enemies: ignorance and indifference. Selecting a school board and turning everything over to it is not sufficient. Mothers and fathers have a larger duty than just feeding and clothing the bodies of their children. Feeding and clothing minds constitute the supreme privilege.

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS

Objection is frequently made to "Be Kind to Animals Week" that it carries the intimation that during the other fifty-one weeks of each year no such solicitude is necessary. No such meaning, of course, is intended; the idea is that if attention is called annually to man's obligation to the animal life which he has brought under his sway and uses for his purposes, the memory will tend to linger on during the rest of the year. This is true.

This, therefore, is the week for special attention to the subject, and for the formulation of good resolutions to be carried on during the remainder of the year. Special events in connection with the week are receiving mention in the news columns, but it will be noted here that next Sunday is Humane Sunday, and that appropriate subjects will accordingly be discussed in many pulpits. Man's dominance on earth must be at the price of kindness to the fellow-sojourners on the voyage of life whose destinies he assumes to direct.

JUST A REMINDER

The City Council has ordered 200 red flashers for stop signals. We wonder how many motorists know that the red flasher commands a full stop and the orange flasher indicates caution. About one out of ten, experience would indicate.

NOTHING TO FEAR

It is not always ignorance that hides from the census taker. But it is ignorance of the fact that the information obtained is confidential that keeps many from welcoming the enumerators.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey

"ON THE steep hillside of Loma Vista Place in Edendale," writes a "hill-climbing census taker," "where there is a sheer flight of 100 steps and more, some one who deserves a medal has placed a rustic bench with this inscription:"

Here sit and rest, for it is best
To rest you from your tire.
This seat is yours and freely so.
'Tis surely not for hire.

Well, Anyway, There Are No Trains Near the Rose Bowl

Jimmy Corcoran, who writes "Cork Tips" for the Chicago Evening News, has been visiting the Southland and writes thusly:

"In Chicago you do not go to the Stadium expecting to see the place dolled up with begonias and nasturtiums. You know it is nothing but a good, wholesome, roomy stadium with a flock of trains running up and down on one side. You are not disappointed. But you would be disappointed in the Rose Bowl. Distance usually lends enchantment till you get to the place where the distance ends. But they ought to wash the Bowl—before some middle westerners come sneaking up on it when no one is looking."

Jimmy ought to see the Bowl at a New Year's game, when it is in full bloom with American Beauties, not to mentions pompons and all such.

And we never noted that the Bowl needed washing. But we frequently have heard of middle easterners being taken for a cleaning there.

Four Pecks Make Only a Bushel!

"What would you do with a bushel of boys?" writes Calar M. Peck, Owensmouth, who goes on to reveal the fact that there are four lively little Pecks in their home.

We don't know just how to take the measure of four little Pecks, but we often find that the only effective way with four little Shippeys is by use of the yardstick, applied you-know-where.

"Business Is Pretty Good"

Leeside: We first saw him moving timidly from store to store on Broadway—a man of above 70, carrying a small basket of popcorn. We saw him pause for a moment before each store and, from our own experience as a solicitor, knew he was bracing himself for the turndown.

"How's business?" we asked.

"Pretty good," he replied brightly, and produced a small book containing addresses. Opposite some of the names were X-marks. "When they don't buy three times," he explained, "I take them off my route. Some weeks I make as high as $10, less $1 for car fare. But it keeps me out of the poorhouse. That's why I'm telling the world business is good."—Fanette.

SOUTHERN SPRING SONG

O Spring came down the mountain top,
A rainbow in her hair,
The sunshine flashed 'midst fleeting clouds,
And mists gleamed through the air.
She scattered flowers 'round crested heights,
Through fields, by ocean strands,
In gardened homes, on palisades,
O'er hills and desert lands.

O Spring came down the mountain top,
She brought to you and me
A vision of all life reborn
Beside a southern sea,
A faith that blooms eternally,
Her bounteous gifts foretell,
O stars, O suns, O buds, O flowers,
Hope reigns, and all is well!

THE MUSICIAN

They who speak of harps in heaven
Have not heard his violin;
To its voice the power is given
To lift souls from fear and sin.
It can weep with those who sorrow,
Or it can a smile enhance,
And a lilting measure borrow
For light-hearted folk to dance.

He is master of its magic:
Happy laughter, bitter tears;
Melodies both sweet and tragic
Echo all his hopes and fears.
While his fingers, strong and slender,
Draw the bow on vibrant strings,
In each human breast the tender,
Listening heart awakes and sings.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

HOOFS FOR FEET
[New York World]

Dr. H. R. Bynum of Memphis, Tenn., addressing the Eastern Osteopathic Association at the Hotel Pennsylvania the other day, said that unless properly constructed shoes become popular this nation will presently have hoofs instead of feet. And a very good thing for the nation it will be, if you ask us. As things stand now, two of the biggest expenses that a citizen has to bear are the cost of stockings and shoes. When we all have hoofs instead of feet, the first of these, it may be assumed, will be abolished. You cannot design a stocking that can be worn over a hoof. There is no use talking about it: the thing would be worn out before you had walked half a block. And the second would be greatly reduced. For while you can wear shoes with hoofs, and indeed must do it, if the sole is not to split and the frog become sore on the hard city pavements, these are iron shoes, and should cost less and wear longer than leather shoes.

Once let a citizen get his shoes nailed on in January, and if they are thick, properly fitted and well calked, he is fixed up for the year. Of course, they may bother him a little in summer, when he goes in swimming, as he may show a tendency to sink by the feet, but on the other hand they will save him the pain of having his feet bruised by pebbles, shells, broken bottles, etc., while he is wading out into deep water, so that here things will even up pretty nicely. All in all, we believe this day should be eagerly awaited, rather than dreaded. And another thing: we should no longer have any toes to be stepped on in the subway.

ADVERTISING FARM PRODUCTS
[Hartford Courant]

One of the most usual arguments advanced in favor of co-operative marketing of agricultural commodities is the possibility of group advertising to an extent that no individual farmer can afford. Truck farmers in New England, in spite of the example of Western farmers, have scoffed at the argument, insisting that the demand for vegetables in any section remains approximately the same, and that the consumption cannot be appreciably stimulated. We are indebted to Dr. R. B. Corbett, economist of the Rhode Island Agriculture Experiment Station, for an unbiased series of statistics indicating the desirability of group advertising. These figures show the percentage of the total consumption of certain vegetables in two sections of Providence, each section containing approximately 25 per cent of the total population of the city.

Section "A," for instance, uses but 16.6 per cent of the total supply of lettuce, while section "B," with the same population, consumes 41.4 per cent of the total. Section "A" uses exactly one-third of the city's carrots; section "B" less than one-seventh. Peppers are not popular in section "A," where a mere 12.1 per cent are eaten, although section "B" buys 58 per cent of the city's total. So the figures go, showing in only a few cases that the two sections with equal population consume the same amount of the various vegetables.

After the presentation of his figures, Dr. Corbett asks: "When you study these figures, do they seem to show a need for advertising certain vegetables among some groups which make up our market?" Obviously they do. As the example of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, the American Cranberry Exchange and other groups have indicated, the sale of agricultural products can be greatly stimulated in certain sections by judicious advertising.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

Stand Strong, Stand True!

SAN DIMAS, April 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Methodist Episcopal Church of San Dimas, Cal., by a hearty vote of all present in the largest attendance of the year, requested me to write you a word of appreciation relative to your editorials on the Twenty-third Psalm, the Easter message and the persistent and consistent stand on law enforcement, loyalty to the Constitution and 100 per cent attitude on prohibition.

Personally, I am glad that I have this excuse to take your time and space, because I have had a thousand strong impulses during the last twenty years to write you a word of commendation for the many, many fine editorials and even news articles that help to keep our national life and our moral ideals high.

There are thousands of people like myself. We thank you in our hearts, but don't take the trouble to write you. Keep on. We are with you. I have even gone so far as to state publicly that the time has come for church people and all good people to refuse to take papers that teach rebellion and lawbreaking.

E. D. ROLEY,

Don't Waste Water

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Only yesterday, when I heard some one from the water department speak, did I realize that we should be somewhat cautious about wasting water.

Would it not be well to make a suggestion to that effect in a prominent place in your paper?

A READER OF THE TIMES.

Downtown Parking Space

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A recent survey revealed that 90 per cent of some 300 or so automobile owners in various parts of the city would come downtown more often to shop if they could be assured parking for their cars.

It behooves every downtown Los Angeles business man to try to solve this very serious traffic problem. One solution which should afford relief is by downtown Los Angeles business men . . . stores, shops, restaurants, theaters, etc. . . . finding some means to provide their customers with courtesy parking.

As this problem vitally affects every downtown Los Angeles business, it would seem to me that it is open to very serious discussion by everybody interested. And may I suggest that there does not seem to be any better clearinghouse for their suggestions than these columns.

Not a Fanatic

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have recently noted a couple of letters appearing in The Times. One canceling his subscription to your paper on account of the dry attitude taken by The Times and the other eulogizing you for this attitude, requesting that The Times from now on be delivered to him to replace the Hearst paper, whose "wet fanaticism" he so roundly denounces.

Well, it would appear that there are all kinds of fanatics. Personally, I am a wet—quite wet—for I would repeal the Eighteenth Amendment because, to me, a moral or economic measure does not belong in the Constitution and will continue to cause trouble just so long as it is in the Constitution. But if The Times was ten times drier than it is I would still continue to take The Times, for you have the best all-'round put-together newspaper, with possibly one exception, in the country.

So though at times you may get me quite "het up" on the attitude taken on certain issues, I should be very lost without The Times and wish to thank you for your very excellent newspaper.

WHERE CAN I LEARN
To Build a Glider?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

The glider club, just organized at Manual Arts Evening High School, Forty-second and Vermont, is still open to those who wish to join. There is no charge of any kind, the club being under the control of the free public schools. Men and women of all ages are admitted without examination. The club is part of the class in aeronautics and all branches of this topic are taught free.

The present topic being studied is motors, and this will be followed by meteorology, navigation, commerce and laws. A glider will be constructed, using the shops and machinery of the school. Every part will be built, using the glider wing curve and the lighter-than-airplane features.

The instructor, John George Freeman, has flown and built gliders since he was 10 years old. During the World War he was in the Royal Italian Flying Corps and later manned a Martin Wright bomber. He was with the United States Airways Mail and later with the Western Air Express. He is now instructing with the Warren School of Aeronautics in the subjects of airplane construction and airplane dynamics.

THE JAILS OF LOS ANGELES

BY J. M. SCANLAND

There is a movement to build another jail—larger, more roomy and, of course, more costly. This in order to keep up with the general progress of the city and to accommodate our rapidly increasing criminal population. Thus will pass the old jail with its tragedies, comedies, riots, hunger strikes, walk-outs and sob-sister forces. There are tragedies connected with all of our jails. On part of the site of the present jail, now awaiting removal or destruction, there was a horse market in the early days and it was a popular place for lynchings, the victims being swung off from the cross-beam over the gate.

There was a tragedy in the first jail built in the pueblo, and it was perhaps the greatest in the history of the city. It was built in 1781, when the pueblo was founded, and was located at about the junction of the present Sunset Boulevard and North Main street, a little north and west of the Catholic church building. It stood until recent years. Gov. De Neve appointed Corp. Felix Vicente as Mayor, policeman and jailer. He arrested criminals, tried them, took them to the calabazo and later turned them out again. The great tragedy referred to was the lynching of Maria Rosa Villa Feliz and her lover, Gervasio Alipaz. She had eloped with Gervasio Alipaz from the ranch of her husband, Domingues Feliz, which forms part of the present Griffith Park. Later, she aided Alipaz in murdering her husband. He was put in jail and the woman was "deposited," or paroled, in the house of an acquaintance, the Mexicans deeming it ungallant to jail a woman. When found guilty by the Vigilance Committee, the two were stood up against the adobe wall of the jail and shot to death by a committee of twelve.

This was the first of the very few executions of women in California.

When the Americans took possession of the pueblo the first thing they did was to build a larger and much needed jail. It was a long room built of logs and had no cells. It stood on part of the site of the Federal Building. The prisoners were chained to a log in the center of the room and it was not possible for them to walk out with the log. There were several lynchings in the yard, the most noted being that of a tin-horn gambler named Dave Brown. He had assassinated an unarmed man and the Vigilantes condemned him to the rope. The door was broken open and he was unchained and taken to the gallows. The rope snapped in two, and there were yells of the eager crowd: "Swing him up ag'in." Another rope was secured and the murderer was again swung off. He went out kicking and swearing.

Soon after the American conquest there were rumors of another revolt. The military commander had built a log guardhouse on the west side of New High street, in the rear of the St. Elmo Hotel. Arms and ammunition were placed in the guardhouse with a detachment of soldiers. The sentinel challenged a moving object one "dark, stormy night." There being no answer he blazed away and killed—a cow. An artillery-man who had lighted a fuse to touch off a cannon stood near, but on seeing the sentinel's blunder, tossed the fuse away. It fell into an ammunition chest. There was a tremor, a shock and a roar. The walls fell out and the roof went up; four men were killed and twelve wounded. The man with the fuse was seriously injured, but the blundering sentinel escaped. The citizens turned out, screaming "Earthquake!"

The guardhouse was rebuilt with adobes and later was used as a county and city jail. It had no cells, either, but a log formed the centerpiece, also, to which prisoners were chained. There were several lynchings in this jail. But, on one occasion when there were five murderers to be turned off the scene was transferred to Fort Hill, so that the public could enjoy the spectacle. Philip Reyes and Ciprano Sandoval had assassinated J. H. Bean in San Gabriel.

They were taken to the jail and chained to the centerpiece, where two other murderers were waiting to be swung off. While Vigilantes were forming there was another murder, only a few blocks from the committee-rooms. This murderer was also chained to the centerpiece. The committee decided to clean up the jail. A long platform was built on the summit of Fort Hill and from a beam dangled five ropes. The men were marched up the hill, handcuffed and stood up on the platform. The streets were crowded, and the flat roofs were covered with eager sightseers, to witness the greatest tragedy in the history of the town since the shooting of the lover-murderers near the Plaza. While one of the murderers was making a talk, claiming, as usual, that he was innocent, a rain began to fall. Then, the skies lowered, the rain came down in sheets and there were terrific peals of thunder accompanied by lightning. The speech was cut short and the murderers were swung off and out of the storm. The crowd hastily left the hill and the housetops to escape a further drenching.

The execution of Rosa Dominguez and her lover, Alipaz, and the hanging of the five murderers on Fort Hill were the greatest tragedies in the criminal history of Los Angeles, or in the West.

The famous woolen sock of France wherein peasants are credited with having tucked away substantial fortunes has a rival in the school savings of the American child, this past year proving that $30,000,000 has been deposited by the public-school pupils. W. B. J.

PEN POINTS

Maybe editors can spell better but think how Congressmen can spiel.

Scientists can make hate-rays visible. And other Reds show up big, too, in proximity to police.

Gangsters may not be wanted always. They may form a bigger nation and thus make their killings moral.

When the grocer deducts items on his income-tax return, he just totals the accounts of those who have bought new cars.

You can diagnose adenoids in the dark, too. Gum pops much louder when the mouth is open.

The one objection to saying it with flowers is that there's no way to print a price mark on a flower.

So the steel company presidents get $300,000 a year. Imagine a bank having to support thirty-six of those things.

The movies aren't to be what they were any more, which probably means the sexy pictures will be out and true confessions.

Now they say every feature of the next war will be mechanized. Ugh! Imagine a little mechanical cootie.

The remarkable thing about these mergers and consolidations is that so many concerns still belong to Mr. Morgan.

Little things a lot of people don't know: Japan's total annual source of coal is less than America burns in three months.

The nautical mile probably wouldn't be longer, even with the up-and-down waves, if they'd measure the land mile with a detour.

Of course you can pass the flivver before the approaching car reaches you if the flivver driver has learned to use his brakes to save a fool.

South Carolina legislature killed that bill legalizing 24 per cent interest on small loans, as per cent sub rosa being so much more respectable than 24 right out in the open.

A new "who is who" publication offers to immortalize you for $100. America's "Who's Who" is above reproach. It includes a lot of fellows who never had that much at one time.

Correct this sentence: "Whether I'm speaking to my husband or a distinguished author," said she, "my tone of voice never changes."

A quiet day at home means that when the telephone isn't ringing, the doorbell is.

Woman Trapped by Three Dots on Prescription

Three dots on a prescription for narcotics yesterday caused Mrs. Margaret Edwards of 1452 Saturn street, said to be the mother of a widely known film actress, to be held for trial on forgery charges by Municipal Judge Ballard. Her bail was fixed at $2500.

Dr. John W. Kelly, 520 West Seventh street, called by Dep. Dist. Atty. Stahlman as a witness, said he wrote out several morphine prescriptions for the woman, each calling for three tablets of the drug. He used three Roman letters to designate the number. When presented, druggists said, the prescriptions called for twelve grains each, in Roman numerals. The prescriptions, introduced as evidence, showed the dots above each of the figures, and that the first figure in each case had been made into an "X."

WOMAN PAYS FINE ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Mrs. Alice Christy, former wife of Cyrus B. Christy, was fined $100 yesterday by Municipal Judge Bogue when she pleaded guilty to a charge of liquor possession. The fine was paid. Mrs. Christy was arrested by police as the aftermath of an asserted drunken party at her home, 908½ North Virgil avenue, when neighbors complained that a woman had been carried from the place in an unconscious condition. The officers reported they found Mrs. Christy alone but arrested her when they discovered a bottle of liquor in the kitchen.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Court Observed

Official cognizance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the District Court of Appeal was taken here yesterday when both divisions of the court met in special session, at which Harry C. Lillie, clerk, and James H. Crumrine, chief reporter, who have been with the tribunal since its establishment, were congratulated upon their service.

In the absence of Senior Presiding Justice Conrey, Presiding Justice Works of Division Two, presided. The jurist briefly recounted the history of the court. The demise of Judge William A. Sloane, one of the original three justices of Division Two, who passed away a few days ago, was lamented.

In conclusion, Justice Works adjourned the session "out of respect to the existence of the court during this long period of time and in memory of the long-continued service of its members and in celebration of the work that they have done during the quarter of a century."

WIFE SAYS SPOUSE TRIED TO KILL HER

Asserting that her husband left the gas turned on in her room in an attempt to asphyxiate her, Mildred A. Martin yesterday sued Charles Martin for divorce. Mrs. Martin also asserted her husband followed her around while she was working nights, in a vain attempt to catch her in a marital indiscretion. Mrs. Martin asks custody of her 3-year-old child.

MEMBERS of the Civic Repertory Theater yesterday saw a newspaper in the making when they paid a visit to The Times Building and observed at their various tasks the workers to whom they will play hosts on the evening of May 6, next, following a benefit performance of "The Imaginary Invalid," current attraction at their playhouse. In the visiting party were Elise Bartlett, John Sheehan, Marion Clayton, Mears Pitcher, Paul Irving, Ellis Reed, Robert Cave, John R. Moss, Eric Snowdon, Jack Granfield, Alfred Jenkin, Warren Ash and Shane Ryan, publicity director. They were escorted through the entire plant and afforded a glimpse of The Times in every stage of its production.

The performance a week from Tuesday evening is for the benefit of the Times Mutual Benefit Association. A country store is to be a feature of the affair. Arrangements and sale of tickets to employees are in charge of the welfare committee, consisting of Frank Amis, William Hamilton Cline and Irving R. Smith.

TRAINMAN'S INJURY MAY PROVE FATAL

Struck by an unattached freight car on the Pacific Electric Railway right of way at Ninety-second street and Long Beach Boulevard Wednesday night, Steven Paul, 26 years of age, 1130 West Forty-ninth street, yesterday was in the California Lutheran Hospital in a serious condition as the result of a leg amputation. Paul, according to a Sheriff's report, was working as one of a train crew at the time the accident occurred, both of his legs and feet being crushed.

CORK PLANT SWEPT BY BLAST FIRE

Dust Explosion Blamed for Blaze That Causes Loss Placed at $25,000

Dust explosion is blamed by fire department investigators for the fire which, shortly before noon yesterday, swept through the two-story, sheet iron factory building of the Warren & Bailey Granulated Cork Company at 350 South Anderson street, with a loss estimated at $25,000.

Within a few minutes after the first of the three alarms had been sent in the whole structure appeared to be a mass of flame, with clouds of dense, brown smoke rolling above. Hundreds of motorists lined near-by streets to watch the conflagration. Numerous streams of water played on the blaze by members of six engine companies quenched the flames.

For an hour and a half firemen worked ceaselessly before the flames were extinguished.

Stepchildren and Father in Property Fight

Frank Pometti and five of his stepchildren are waging a contest for $60,000 worth of property in a lawsuit now being tried before Superior Judge Tryon. The stepchildren are John, Pasquale and G. N. Larala, Mrs. Mary De Lorenzo and Mrs. Rose Pacino.

Guiseppe Nicola Larala, father of the five children, died here in 1888. Following his death his wife married Pometti in 1891. She died in 1923 and left her property to her children by her first marriage.

Pometti contends that his wife had no legal right to will the property, which, he asserts, is community property. He brought a suit once before and was given a decision by Superior Judge Mahon. The stepchildren obtained a new trial.

Grandmother of Cinema Actors Arrives by Ship

Mrs. Jennie Spreen, mother and grandmother of the Hackett theatrical family, arrived from New York on the Panama Mail liner El Salvador yesterday for the first glimpse of her great-grandson, Albert Raymond Hackett.

MRS. JENNIE SPREEN.

The latter is the year-old son of Albert Hackett, now with Eddie Cantor in the making of "Whoopee." Mrs. Spreen also will visit her other grandson, Raymond Hackett.

The boys are sons of Florence Hackett, one-time star with the old Lubin Company, and Mrs. Spreen said she practically reared them. Their sister, Jeanette Hackett, is in vaudeville.

Actress to Be Wed Tomorrow

A romance that began three years ago will culminate tomorrow in the wedding of Miss Georgia Bess Pembleton, former Ziegfeld Follies girl, now in pictures, and Donald C. Dewar, youngest son of Undersheriff Frank Dewar. The ceremony will be solemnized in the presence of 100 guests at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, at 8 p.m.

The bride-to-be is a Los Angeles girl and a graduate of Virgil Junior High School. Two years ago she won a local beauty contest and was awarded a place in Ziegfeld's beauty chorus. Lately she has been working at the United Artists studio in "Whoopee," but has announced that she will retire from the screen and stage after her wedding.

Cleaning Shops Must Comply

Eleven cleaning and dyeing establishments in Los Angeles, cited to appear before the Fire Commission yesterday, were given thirty days in which to make such changes in their establishments as may be necessary to comply with the fire prevention laws of the city.

The application of A. J. Haffner of 2818 West Tenth street for a fire department permit to continue operations pending widening of Tenth street was denied and the department was instructed to proceed against him if he continues to operate.

The commission took the ground that Haffner has persistently opposed the efforts of the department to compel him to live up to fire regulations.

Court Summons Pierces Waves

Below the surface of the ocean yesterday went the summons of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county ordering Raymond M. Duckworth, torpedoman on the navy submarine R-6, to pay his wife, Mrs. Alice Duckworth, $30 a month.

"He told me he doesn't have to pay alimony because he is in the Navy," said Mrs. Duckworth to Superior Judge Guerin.

"It's easier to collect alimony from a service man than from anyone else," replied the court. "All you have to do is to take the matter up with the paymaster."

EARLE ASKS RETRIAL FOR BALM CASE

Judgment of $17,000 for Spanish Girl in Love Row Protested by Artist

Efforts to obtain a new trial of the suit wherein Miss Dolores Salazar, Los Angeles Spanish girl, was given a $17,000 verdict against Ferdinand Pinney Earle, artist now living in Paris, for an asserted breach of a marriage contract, were made yesterday by attorneys for Earle before Superior Judge Archbald. Following arguments on both sides, Judge Archbald took the matter under advisement.

Miss Salazar, 22 years of age, was given the heavy verdict by a jury following a trial several months ago which lasted several days. The young woman asserted the artist wooed and won her under most romantic circumtsances and not only promised to marry her, but set aside a large sum of money for her care and maintenance. She accompanied him to Paris, where, she contended, he threw her out of his apartment and she was left to make her way back to the United States the best way she could. Earle asserted in depositions presented at the trial it took no effort to win Miss Salazar that she "fell into his lap like a ripe peach."

At the hearing for a new trial of the case Attorneys William Ogden and Samuel Steelman, representing Earle, held the verdict was not according to law, as the marriage contract sued on was not in writing. Miss Salazar was represented by Attorney I. Bear Newman, who, with Attorney Roger Marchetti, won her suit for her at the trial.

Chest Indorses Drive for Funds

The Community Chest, through D. C. McWatters, general manager, yesterday gave official indorsement to the campaign now being conducted by the Hebrew Sheltering Home for the Aged for funds with which to replace the present frame structures with fireproof buildings. In a letter to Max Goldstein, executive director of the home, McWatters pointed out that the city is lacking in homes for the aged and that the Hebrew institution is "meeting a great need in a fine way."

MAX GOLDSTEIN.

"I sincerely hope that the good people interested in your institution will promptly and generously oversubscribe the funds you require," reads the letter in part.

The ceremony took place in St. Paul's Catholic Church, West Washington street, with Mgr. John J. Clifford and Rev. Thomas Blackwell officiating, in the presence of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Henry Clay Patterson (Effie McNamee) assisted her sister as matron of honor while the other attendant was Mrs. Regina Townsend Hadley. Joseph Jungers served his brother as best man and Paul Jungers, Frank McNamee, George Hanley and Henry Patterson ushered.

A reception for the bridal party, relatives and a few close friends followed at the home of the bride's parents, 1708 Fifth avenue, after which Mr. and Mrs. Jungers left for an extended wedding trip. The bride attended the University of Southern California where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

Everhardy of 691 Bronson avenue is giving a series of charmingly appointed luncheons this season, among the recent ones being that with which she honored Mrs. Effie Smith who left several days afterward for New York, and who now is on the ocean sailing for Europe. The second affair complimented Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish, who will leave shortly for a trip abroad, and the third was in honor of a group of Honolulu friends.

Each luncheon was laid for twelve guests and a motif complimenting the honor guests was stressed at each, Easter lilies and ferns being used at the two former ones and leis and Honolulu novelties predominating at the third luncheon.

WHY BE SO CAREFUL ABOUT BABY'S BOTTLES AND NIPPLES?

Scrupulous care of baby's food and feeding bottles becomes more vital as soon as we have to consider the rapidity with which food spoils in hot weather. Bottles imperfectly sterilized, in which old milk can develop their bacteria families into colonies of enormous proportions, furnish baby with two of the most prevalent summer ailments; sore mouth (thrush) and the dreaded diarrhea.

When baby develops a sore mouth, with tiny white spots on cheeks and tongue or lips which look like small drops of milk, we know that in some way the mother is careless about the way she cleans baby's bottles or nipples. If it is a nursing baby the mother may not be careful about her own clothes, which are dirty or dusty and are not being separated from the breast by a clean piece of gauze. Or baby may be picking up a pacifier from the floor and popping it into his mouth. Or bottles and nipples may be gathering house dust even after they are washed and boiled, which is responsible for the sore mouth. Baby is being made miserable and unhappy with a mouth so sore that he doesn't want to eat, because of some carelessness on the part of his mother.

DAILY CARE IMPORTANT

Caring for bottles and nipples is a daily duty, and it is best accomplished in the following manner: There should be one bottle and nipple for each of baby's feedings and one extra. It is nice, too, to have rubber caps which fit over the nursing bottle and keep it clean, and safe from being tipped over and spilled while in the ice box. Everything pertaining to baby's food should be rinsed first in cold water after using, then laid aside to wait for the big, thorough scrubbing with a bottle brush and hot soap suds, which will come every morning.

Keep baby's feeding bottles on ice until used. When baby is through (his feeding should never exceed fifteen or twenty minutes,) throw away all leftover milk and rinse the bottle.

DON'T BLAME "HEAT"

After the bottles and nipples have been thoroughly scrubbed (nipples always being turned on both sides for this,) rinse them and put the bottles in a large kettle of cold water, with water enough to cover every bottle. Put on the stove, allow water to come to a boil and boil five minutes. When water is bubbling, the scrubbed and rinsed nipples can be put in and allowed to boil for that five minutes. Prolonged soaking and boiling make nipples rapidly unfit for use.

Take out bottles with a long-handled spoon, lay on a clean towel and allow to stand until the formula is ready to be poured into them. Those who struggle with hard water will find a deposit on the outside of the boiled bottles. This may be helped somewhat by putting some baking soda into the water, but it is not harmful, just unsightly.

All this work sounds foolish to the mother who isn't aware that by this careful sterilization of bottles and nipples she actually prevents those illnesses which she heretofore has attributed to "heat."

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BOILED POTATO PUDDING

Beat the yolks of four eggs and gradually add to them a little at a time one-half a cupful of sugar, then add one-half a cupful of almonds that have been blanched, ground and pounded to a paste, add two teaspoonfuls of grated lemon rind and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, take three medium-sized potatoes that have been boiled, put through a ricer and allow them to cool, fold these into the mixture, and lastly add the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs, to which has been added one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, if the mixture is not stiff enough add more of the white potatoes, oil a mold, pour the mixture into it, set in a pan of water, in the oven and bake for one-half an hour. Serve with a chocolate or a lemon sauce.

CURRIED EGGS AND RICE

Melt four tablespoonfuls of butter in a saute pan, add one medium-sized onion chopped fine, and cook until light brown. Then add one tablespoonful of curry powder, make a smooth paste of two tablespoonfuls of flour and one-fourth of a cupful of cold water, add to the flour one tablespoonful of lemon juice and one-half teaspoonful of salt, slowly stir this into the butter and onions, and allow to cook for five minutes. Place on a serving dish a mound of cooked and seasoned rice, make a depression in the center and place the hard-boiled eggs on it. Pour over the sauce and serve.

BURNT ALMOND TORTE

Beat four whole eggs with one cupful of sifted powdered sugar, and beat until a heavy batter is obtained, sift one cupful of flour with one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and beat this into the mixture, adding it alternately with three tablespoonfuls of cold water. Oil and flour tins and spread a thin layer of the batter in it, and bake in a moderate oven, fill with the following filling:

Melt three tablespoonfuls of white sugar in a double boiler, stirring it all the time, do not add any water, scald and blanche one-fourth of a pound of almonds, and place in the oven until they are a light brown in color. Place them on a dish and pour over the melted sugar, and allow them to cool. Beat until stiff and dry the whites of three eggs, and add to them beating constantly a little at a time three cupfuls of powdered sugar, flavor with a few drops of rose water, spread on the layers and cover each layer with the almonds, then frost the top of the cake and decorate with the almonds.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Robbers Tunnel Into Tailor Shop

Effecting entrance through a hole tunneled through the wall of a vacant store adjacent, burglars early yesterday ransacked the tailor shop of E. Rattner at 1612 North Western avenue and obtained bolts of cloth valued at $2000, according to a report to police.

Once in the shop the burglars opened a rear door from the inside and through this carried the goods to a truck which had apparently been parked in the alley.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

Where careless joyousness you find,
Is sorrow never far behind
—Old Mother Nature.

A BABY DISAPPEARS

Mrs. Quack, the Mallard Duck, had a family of ten of the prettiest little babies that ever lived. Anyway, that is what Mrs. Mallard thought. And they were as lively as they were pretty. It was quite a task for a lone mother to find food enough for so many babies. You see, Mr. Quack was still down at the Big River. He was not at all concerned about this big family. He left the care entirely to Mrs. Quack.

Now, Mrs. Quack always keeps a watchful eye out for enemies, but now she was more watchful than ever. You see, there were enemies to watch out for for those precious babies that she didn't have to watch out for for herself. There were certain ones who could not possibly kill a fullgrown duck and wouldn't think of trying it, but who could kill a baby duckling and would be only too glad for such a dinner.

Of course, Mrs. Quack taught the ducklings to watch out for the members of the Hawk family and to always be ready to dive into hiding at the appearance of a moving shadow. She taught them that Reddy Fox and Old Man Coyote and Billy Mink and Shadow the Weasel and Bobby Coon and Uncle Billy Possum would be only too glad for a nice little duck whenever they could get it. Some of these she would tell the babies about, because they didn't come around where she could point them out. One day, however, they saw Reddy Fox, and another day they saw Billy Mink. So they knew that while they were little the wise thing for them to do was to be afraid of any bigger people whom they saw, whether they wore feathers or fur.

Then one day as they were following their mother across the Smiling Pool she stopped very suddenly and looked very hard over toward the shore. The babies all stopped and looked very hard over toward the shore. But, look as they would, all they could see was what looked like the end of a black stick in the water.

"Do you see that over there?" Mrs. Quack asked.

The babies acknowledged that they did. "It's just a stick, isn't it?" asked one.

"No," replied Mrs. Quack. "It isn't just a stick. It is the head of a dreadful fellow. His name is Snapper the Turtle and there is nothing he would like better for dinner than a duckling just about your size. He is one of the enemies you will have to keep a sharp watch out for. Your other enemies are mostly on the land or in the air. Snapper the Turtle is in the water. He spends a great deal of his time in the mud at the bottom. When a careless young duckling comes swimming along above him he swims up from the bottom and drags that little duckling down. Watch out for Snapper the Turtle. Never be so busy eating or playing that you forget to be on the watch for danger."

Mrs. Quack led her little flock to the other side of the Smiling Pool. She wanted to be as far away as possible from Snapper the Turtle. Presently he disappeared and they saw him no more that day. It was the next day that one of the most venturesome of the ducklings ventured out from among the rushes onto the Smiling Pool alone. At the time the others were all very busy feeding. This little duckling felt very important out there by himself. Near at hand was what looked like the end of a black stick. The little duckling hardly noticed it. Presently it disappeared. A moment later the little duckling disappeared. And to this day Mrs. Quack doesn't know what became of that little duckling. If you should ask Snapper the Turtle he might tell you.

You can ideally modify the harsh acid of French dressing if you add

A dash of Sugar

THERE is no reason for French dressing making you wince when you eat it on your favorite salads. A dash of sugar added to the salt, pepper and vinegar or lemon juice, blends these ingredients with the oil into a dressing that is simply delicious.

Try this dressing, flavored with sugar, on lettuce, cabbage, asparagus and tomato salads and see how much more you will enjoy these important foods. This dressing is also delicious on fruit salads or combinations of fruit and vegetables.

In cooking vegetables a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt improves their flavor to a most surprising extent. For example, try this on carrots, string beans, spinach and tomatoes and you will take new delight in eating these foods that have vitamins, minerals and roughage. The Sugar Institute.

"Most foods are more delicious and nourishing when a dash of sugar is used."

Santa Monica Boulevard May Be Made Wider

Pacific Electric tracks on Santa Monica Boulevard, between Alpine Drive and Beverly Drive, are to be removed, making of that portion of the boulevard one of the widest thoroughfares in Southern California, if the projected Beverly Hills Civic Center is authorized by a favorable vote on the $1,100,000 bond issue on Monday, it was stated yesterday by Lon Haddock, chairman of the Beverly Hills Civic Improvement Committee.

Approval of the bond issue will result in acquisition of the Pacific Electric right of way along the proposed Civic Center and removal of the P. E. tracks between the streets indicated, Haddock said.

CONFESSION OF MURDER WITHDRAWN

Rinaldo Says He Must Have Dreamed Story of Slaying Taylor

Maybe he just dreamed he killed William Desmond Taylor, police reported Russo Rinaldo as opining after they had decided he had nothing to do with the murder of the motion-picture director February 2, 1922. Capt. Bean of the homicide squad said Rinaldo had slept over his asserted confession a few nights and had decided it was a fantasy inspired by reading accounts of the famous mystery and by heavy drinking.

Rinaldo was taken into custody Tuesday night after he is asserted to have boasted to a policeman that he killed Taylor.

Rinaldo is 41 years of age, an accountant and a World War veteran. Bean said he will release Rinaldo today if he does not decide to ask for a psychopathic complaint.

GARBUTT PORTRAIT UNVEILED

Founder of Athletic Club Honored Signally as Cahill Painting Goes on Wall

BY FRED HOGUE

A special luncheon attended only by the board of directors of the Athletic Club yesterday was made the occasion of the unveiling of a life-size oil painting of Frank A. Garbutt, vice-president and one of the original founders of the club, by Arthur Cahill, noted western portrait painter.

As I saw Mr. Garbutt standing by the portrait after the luncheon, I marveled, not alone at the genius of the artist, but at the man himself who has been a member of the club since the old Downey Block days, forty-eight years ago, and still has the appearance of one who has just entered middle age. For the man is the portrait, and the portrait is the man.

There must be a fountain of youth hidden away somewhere in the Southwest, and Frank Garbutt must have discovered it.

From the critic's point of view the portrait is a study in gray and golden brown. The subject is approaching the sunset of life, and over the canvas is the golden haze of our California sunsets.

CHARACTERISTIC POSE

Mr. Garbutt stands in a characteristic pose, shoulders square, the head slightly advanced, one hand thrust nonchalantly in his trousers pocket, a leather-bound book in the other, and a light in his gray-blue eyes that at once attracts and mystifies.

Age has not stolen one lock of his curling hair, now opal white; nor has it traced a single furrow on the high forehead or the cheeks. He has mellowed with age, like golden wine. One senses that he has lived, and has found life worth the living. He is not one of those in whom age has turned the wine of life into vinegar.

Had Cahill painted that portrait alone, his fame as an artist would be established. But it is only the last of a long line of notable portraits that are the children of his brush and easel.

In the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena hangs a life-size portrait of President Hoover, painted for Stanford University. But, at the request of the President, it is to be transferred to Washington to hang permanently in the National Gallery.

Arthur Cahill was born "South of the Slot" in San Francisco and began his artistic career as an illustrator on the San Francisco newspapers. New York soon called him, and he worked in black and white there while he was learning the secret of color.

PRODUCT OF THE WEST

He first attracted national attention by a full-length portrait of Gen. Pershing, painted in Washington when Pershing returned home from the World War.

Cahill, however, is a product of the West and most of his canvases are portraits of what may be termed the "key men" of California.

The Garbutt canvas appeals to me as one of the best he has painted. The subject is one that lends itself to the picturesque, colorful portraiture; and the character delineation is above criticism.

The canvas will hang for the present in the library of the Athletic Club.

William Garland, president of the club, made the unveiling address. The members of the directorate present were William M. Garland, Frank A. Garbutt, Frank E. Garbutt, Herbert D. Ivey, Charles F. Eyton, Samuel C. Hall, Bernal H. Dyas, Robert Marsh and Edwin Bergstrom.

HUSBAND WINS ANNULMENT

Mrs. Marie Gregory waited ten years before she told her husband, Harry B. Gregory, that she had another husband living, Emil Allen, one whom she had never divorced. Gregory asserted yesterday when he went before Superior Judge Blake seeking an annulment. The annulment was granted.

BROTHER OF ACTRESSES WINS STAY

Noonan's New Attorneys Will Seek to Reopen Way to Probation for Theft

Jack Noonan, brother of Sally O'Neill and Mollie O'Day, motion-picture actresses, yesterday obtained a ten days' stay of execution of his sentence to seven years in Folsom penitentiary when he appeared before Superior Judge Schauer and requested a substitution of attorneys. It was agreed that Richard Cantillon and Donald MacKay will be substituted for Claire Woolwine, who formerly represented the defendant.

The stay of execution was granted to permit the attorneys to go into court and review a motion to set aside a prior felony conviction charged against Noonan, which caused his probation plea to be denied.

Noonan pleaded guilty to receiving property stolen from the Beverly Hills home of Ted Lewis, vaudeville artist. Originally he and two other men were charged with burglarizing the home. The other defendants pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property and received county jail sentences. When Noonan pleaded guilty, the State filed a prior conviction of forgery against him and his plea for probation then was blocked.

WIFE DIVORCES BARBER

Mrs. Catherine McPherson was granted a divorce from James L. McPherson, owner of Mac's Barber Shop at Van Nuys, by Superior Judge Burnell yesterday at the end of a short court hearing. The couple married at Amarillo, Tex., on April 28, 1910. A property settlement was approved by the court. According to the wife, McPherson, when she lay ill, showed no consideration for her.

LIQUOR CAR CAUGHT IN MAD CHASE

Officers Get Their Man After He Sends Another Driver to Hospital

While hunting bank bandits yesterday afternoon, Detective Lieutenants Melina, Beeson and Burris of the central robbery squad were plunged unexpectedly into a chase after a large car which narrowly missed hitting them. Following a pursuit, during which many shots were fired, they arrested the motorist, whose car, they report, was loaded with liquor.

The detectives were driving near Carthay Circle when a car sped past, driven so wildly that the police machine was forced to the curb. The detectives gave chase, sometimes attaining a speed of sixty miles an hour.

At Wilshire Boulevard and La Pere avenue, Beverly Hills, the pursued car dashed out of an alley, crashing into a small car. The driver of the latter, R. Buchanan, 28 years of age, 1307 Las Palmas avenue, received a possible skull fracture. He was sent to Beverly Hills Receiving Hospital.

The large car raced on, jumped a curb and felled three cypress trees and crashed against a telephone pole. With the officers firing at him, the fugitive leaped out and took shelter behind an apartment-house, where he was caught.

Detective Lieutenant Irvine took charge of the prisoner, who gave his name as Solly Love, 25 years of age, 1142 East Sixty-fifth street. He was booked on charges of hit-and-run after an injury, Wright Act possession of liquor, and Wright Act transportation of liquor. Forty cases of whisky were found in the car, police report. He later was released under bond of $2000.

PURSUERS OF FUGITIVES DISMAYED BY NEW PAINT

Name of a name of a name and such other more or less similar exclamations involuntarily escaped the lips of deputy sheriffs yesterday morning as one by one they came through the door and unbelievingly gazed on four spick and span walls of the fugitive detail quarters.

To the ordinary observer the newly painted walls of the room presented a pleasing contrast, but to a number of the fugitive chasers with a propensity to jot things down here and there as the mood seizes them, the light-colored paint had the qualities of a blackened cloud.

"Oh!" groaned one, "four years' accumulation of telephone numbers, addresses and other items of information blotted out with the stroke of a brush."

However, during the day the detail resumed its customary serenity, most of the members reluctantly admitting that the new color probably matches their complexions better than the soiled brown of old.

Injunction Asked in Burbank Row

The city of Burbank can take possession of land deeded for a postoffice site, only when the government is ready to build the postoffice, according to the contentions of the Southland Holding Company, in a suit for injunction filed against officials of the suburban town yesterday.

Attorneys for the real estate company yesterday obtained an injunction in Superior Judge Doran's court, on a complaint that the city had unlawfully removed furniture from the deeded property, which is occupied now by a real estate office. The company asserts that its deed was provisional, and that the city can not take possession until the Benmar Tract is completely subdivided. Judge Doran's order was made returnable May 2 in Superior Judge Gates's court.

Silk Stockings Lead to Divorce

Mrs. Katherine L. Cornick, short-story writer, found a strange pair of silk stockings in her bedroom, she told Superior Judge Guerin at the trial of her divorce case against Spencer P. Cornick yesterday.

"And that was why I sued my husband for divorce," the plaintiff declared.

"It seems to be a valid reason," replied Judge Guerin, as he signed the decree.

APARTMENT-HOTEL PLANS ANNOUNCED

Plans for a Class A apartment-hotel of seven and eight stories and to cost $500,000 including equipment and furnishings were announced yesterday by the Security Improvement and Finance Company. The structure is planned for the north side of Franklin avenue between Vine and Argyle streets. The structure will be of English Tudor design and contain 190 rooms. Architect M. M. Friedman has completed the design. The building will be known as the Diplomat.

Delivered to grocers twice a week . . . fresh from the roasting ovens . . . full strength

Now coffee as fresh as "fresh bread" or "this morning's milk!" This is what "dated coffee" means.

Chase & Sanborn's Coffee is delivered to your grocer exactly like a perishable fresh food . . . in a dated package . . . straight from the roasting ovens. He gets just enough to last until the next delivery. And any left over at the end of ten days is regularly taken back by Chase & Sanborn and replaced by fresh.

For sixty-five years Chase & Sanborn's choice blend of coffee has been preferred in many sections of the country for its color . . . its mildness . . . its smooth, rich taste. Now that it is handled like a fresh food through the "Dated Delivery" system of "Standard Brands Inc., which also delivers fresh Fleischmann's Yeast, has the distinction among coffees of "direct from the roaster" distribution everywhere. It gives it a final flavor advantage, which makes the inevitable choice of all men and women who care about good coffee.

RICHARD HALLIBURTON, author of "The Royal Road to Romance" and "New Worlds to Conquer," says, "I've tasted the finest coffees of the world—in palm-thatched shacks in Panama, in proud palacios of Brazil, in dim bazaars in Turkey. But never have I known one which could surpass Chase & Sanborn's for the perfect, indescribable flavor that comes from real freshness."

"No Swedish dinner is complete without a cup of good coffee," says NILS ASTHER, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's brilliant star. "That's why I use Chase & Sanborn's. I know that it is as fresh as it is pleasing to the taste and one never grows tired of it."

The rollicking, roistering Bill Haines, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's popular star, at home with WILLIAM HAINES, Virginia Bruce and makes a hobby of good living. "The better the better is true of roasted coffee," he says. "That's why this dated coffee of Chase & Sanborn's is such a good one."

ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT, brilliant journalist and dramatic critic, is critical, too, in his personal tastes, so Chase & Sanborn's dated Coffee is served in his home. He says, "I not only sample plays and books, but coffee, too. I have guzzled it in a dozen countries, but the secret of coffee is America's. For the Chase & Sanborn blend, I predict a longer run than even 'Abie's Irish Rose' enjoyed."

LEWIS EN ROUTE TO LOS ANGELES

day, when the writs are to be heard in court. In the meantime efforts are being made by Bassett to have the Federal papers rushed to this city.

This morning Berman and his attorney appeared before Superior Judge Brown and requested a delay on the hearing and were granted until Monday. According to Bassett, the necessary Federal papers will arrive here some time tomorrow.

The battle to obtain custody of Berman grew hot today when Irving G. Glasser and F. V. Weed, both bondsmen from Los Angeles, made demands upon the Sheriff for the surrender of the prisoner. Restrained by the court order the county official notified both of the bondsmen that Berman is to remain in the County Jail here until the writs have been heard or a claim for the prisoner made by the Federal government.

"I am not running away from anything," was Berman's comment today from his cell. "I wish to begin my time and that is why I came up here. If I am wanted in Los Angeles later as a witness I guess they will know where to get me."

FITTS ON WAY SOUTH

Dist.-Atty. Fitts and his chief deputy, Robert P. Stewart, who came to this city last week and headed the fight to return Lewis for trial, have left ahead of the prisoner.

Stewart departed by train last night and Fitts by airplane this morning. Both declared they will be in their offices by Saturday morning.

The last word by Lewis before he was taken aboard his train by his two guards was that he now intends to fight the bribery charges against him to the limit.

"I came here smiling and you will notice the smile is still on my face," he declared. "I am being taken south against my will, but the Federal Court has ordered it so that cannot be helped. I am going to fight Fitts in court and I feel sure that I will win out. Since I came to McNeil's Island I have known the first peace of mind in years. I want to be left alone and be allowed to serve out my time."

Bench Aspirants May State Own Qualifications

Every aspirant to the judicial bench in Los Angeles county will be permitted to set forth his qualifications for the job, provided he does so in 100 words.

So ruled the Los Angeles Bar Association last night in adopting an amendment to the by-laws regulating the election of judges. A proposal that would-be jurists obtain the indorsement of not to exceed twenty lawyers was voted down when it was pointed out by Judge Collier that such a plan would give bench incumbents a decided advantage over outside candidates.

The statement of qualification, it was decided, must include the degree of education possessed by the candidate, length and extent of practice in California courts and his general fitness for the position, as he sees it. This is to be incorporated in the official publication of the association plebiscite, together with that body's appraisal of the candidates.

The meeting was held in the Alexandria ballroom.

BANKER ARRAIGNED

William Rhoades Hervey, banker who was in Europe when indicted for usury in the Julian case, appeared for arraignment yesterday in Judge Wood's court. He will enter plea to the charge at 2 p.m. today.

Sale and transfer of stock in the Italo Petroleum Corporation as handled in San Francisco came under the scrutiny of the grand jury yesterday, when three brokers from the northern city were questioned.

Indications that other San Francisco stock brokers will be called before the grand jury completes its investigation of the Italo sales were apparent last night when the body adjourned to meet again at 10 a.m. today in a special session.

The three brokers who were interrogated and brought stock ledgers and other documents bearing on their handling of sales in the corporation were Fred Vincent, Frederick Shingle and E. Franceschi, all of San Francisco. Other witnesses yesterday included H. B. R. Briggs, publisher of the Los Angeles Record; Harry Light, president of the Citizens' Protective Alliance; Luther Hellig, manager of a private detective agency; M. C. Myers, an attorney.

TREND OF INQUIRY

It was learned that the three brokers, who have handled large blocks of Italo Petroleum stock were questioned as to any knowledge they might have had of a reported overissue and also on the operation of any Italo "pools" in San Francisco.

The other witnesses were asked about any information that they may have that will aid the grand jury in completing its investigation of the various ramifications of the Julian Petroleum inquiry.

While criminal departments of the county government were busy on different angles of the Julian case an effort to quash the civil suit started by Julian stockholders against the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and various brokers was seen in petitions filed by stock exchange members before Division Two, District Court of Appeal.

On the strength of the petitions, the Appeals Court issued a temporary restraining order against Superior Judge Tappaan, before whom the civil suit is in progress. Writs on the order are returnable at 10 a.m. May 5.

Practically the same facts are presented to the Appellate Court as were presented before Superior Judge Tappaan on the 9th inst. when the court refused to quash the case.

TWO OTHER BROKERS IN NORTH CALLED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (Exclusive)—Five San Franciscans were served today with subpoenas calling for their appearance before the Los Angeles county grand jury in connection with the investigation of the Italo Petroleum Corporation. Each of those called had a part in the organization or sale of stock in Italo corporation.

Those summoned are Frederick Vincent, broker, who is said to have handled the first stock issue; Frederick Shingle, who succeeded Vincent as fiscal agent; E. Franceschi, director in the company; George Stration, Vincent's partner, and Joseph Spigno, one of the organizers.

Women Voters File Protest on Garbage Cans

The Los Angeles League of Women Voters has protested against garbage cans on the curbs and parking strips in front of houses, in the form of a resolution sent to the Board of Public Works and the City Council. The resolution calls attention to Paragraphs 4 and 5 of Section 3, Ordinance No. 48,989.

It points out that where there is an alley other than a blind alley in the rear of the premises garbage cans should be placed on the premises within five feet of the rear property line and that where there is no alley, other than a blind alley in the rear of the premises, and there is a side entrance to the rear cans should be placed on the premises at an accessible point not less than fifty nor more than seventy-five feet from the front property line."

The resolution requests that measures be taken to insure the collection of garbage in strict accordance with the provisions of the ordinance quoted. It further requests that garbage collectors be instructed regarding the provisions of the ordinance and that householders also be notified concerning the placing of garbage cans.

Utah Suspect Freed by Alibi

H. Paul Mitchell, former Salt Lake man, wanted for questioning regarding the Dorothy Moormeister murder on February 21, at the Utah town, voluntarily went to the Sheriff's office last night with his attorney, Joseph Painter, and, according to Sheriff Clifford Patten of Salt Lake, established an alibi that put him entirely out of the murder case.

Mitchell produced railway tickets that were carefully checked by the authorities that indicated he had left the morning of the murder which occurred late on the day he left Utah. He said that he knew the Moormeister woman. He was not detained.

According to word of officials, one more person is wanted for questioning by the Utah Sheriff. He is being assisted in his investigation by Deputy Sheriff Kelly.

The City Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to draft an ordinance making it unlawful for a garage or auto park attendant to deliver an automobile to an intoxicated man or for a gasoline-station attendant to sell gasoline to a drunken driver. Councilman Webster voted against the report, asking how it will be proved that the service-station man knew the driver was drunk. Webster added that the time may come when grocery clerks will be arrested for selling canned tomatoes to persons "with sore throats."

State Supreme Court to Hear Petition on May 1; Fitts and Webb Called

Atty.-Gen. Webb and Dist.-Atty. Fitts are directed to appear at the hearing in Sacramento, and to show cause why the theater magnate, convicted of an attack on Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, should not be released on bail.

Pantages's petition was filed with the Supreme Court on Wednesday. With it were submitted affidavits of five physicians stating that Pantages is suffering from heart disease and that continued incarceration might endanger his life. The petition also sets forth that Pantages is unable to conduct an adequate defense to civil suits totaling $1,750,000 while in custody. Plane Hops to Barstow and Back in Rushing Injured Aviator to Hospital

Code of the air was invoked yesterday to rush a plane from Grand Central Air Terminal to Barstow and to carry back, within 150 minutes, an aviator injured in an automobile collision. John Schoning, airman, was hurt seriously on the road near Barstow. He asked to have the west-bound T.A.T.-Maddux air liner flagged at Barstow to take him in.

Instead the Barstow agent promptly telephoned local headquarters. Six minutes later Lieut. W. D. Tomlinson took off in a trimotored transport carrying the terminal's first-aid man. They reached Schoning within an hour and within another hour and a half put him down at Grand Central, where Dr. Charles H. Gowan and an ambulance awaited. Less than three hours after the accident Schoning was in Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital, Glendale, being treated for a broken hip and possible internal injuries.

Salvation Army Lauded by Clergy and Laymen

Praise Marks Conference of Advisory Boards

Achievements Reviewed and Needs Discussed

Lifting high a glass of water, Rabbi E. P. Magnin attracted the attention of 200 men and women at the Biltmore yesterday when he proposed a toast "to the only army in the world that never goes out to kill, but always to help and to heal."

The occasion was the seventh annual conference of the Salvation Army advisory boards of the Los Angeles and south coast division, the luncheon being presided over by Charles S. Hutson, chairman of the Los Angeles advisory board.

"The Salvation Army comes nearer to interpreting the voice of God in a way that everyone understands than any other organization on earth," said John R. Quinn.

"I like the Salvation Army for its broad conception of religion, which is love in action," said Dr. John Snape, pastor of Temple Baptist Church.

"As long as the Salvation Army continues to go about doing good, sympathizing with and lifting the weak and the lowly and keeping its nose out of politics, I am for it 100 per cent," said Joseph Scott.

"The universe rests on the shoulders of love and if ever an organization expressed the tenderness of the cosmic heart, it is the Salvation Army," said Burr McIntosh.

OTHER TRIBUTES

Others who paid tribute to the work of the army include Orra E. Monnette and Mrs. George H. Clark, the latter telling of the interest on the part of the Board of Education, which provides teachers for the Army's Woman's Home and Maternity Hospital.

Reviewing the achievements of the Salvation Army of the world, and especially of the eleven western States and Hawaii, of which he is in charge, Commissioner Adam Gifford made a special plea for the establishment, at Hollywood, of a home for young women who work at the studios, but who often, because of unemployment, are in need of assistance.

Commissioner Gifford spoke feelingly of the loss to the Salvation Army of the late Harry M. Haldeman and Dabney Day, following with a tribute to the many prominent business men and women who today are lending their moral and financial support to the organization.

GROWTH SET FORTH

"The Salvation Army has grown from a flickering light into a blazing influence for good," said Mr. Gifford. "In our western territory our membership has doubled within the last nine years, we have acquired property valued at more than $8,000,000 and our spiritual advancement has been proportionate to our financial gain. Commander Evangeline Booth has led us victoriously forward and I am sure we all wish her many more years of leadership in this country."

Stating that within the last eighteen months the army "has passed through a great crisis," Mr. Gifford mentioned the election of Gen. Edwin Higgins as international commander, together with other significant events, as indications of the fact that the Salvation Army "has doffed its autocratic regalia and donned the robe of democracy."

The morning session included an address by Col. Charles H. Gooding, head of the industrial department, Los Angeles, who voiced the need for $250,000 for the erection of a new building to accommodate men who are temporarily out of employment. Adjutant Nettie Brown, in charge of divisional relief aid, discussed the work of her department and said that 34 per cent of the relief cases for the last year were members of prisoners' families.

BAND DIRECTOR

It was announced that Staff Captain Ernest Higgins, son of Gen. Edwin Higgins, will direct the territorial staff band, which will provide music for the mass meeting at Trinity Auditorium at 3 p.m. next Sunday.

Yesterday afternoon open house was observed at the Salvation Army Woman's Home and Maternity Hospital of which Staff Captain Maude D. Lee is superintendent. The institution, completed a year ago at a cost of $150,000, has given aid to hundreds of young women, sixty-four girls having been cared for within the last month.

Other features of the conference yesterday were reports of progress by Field Major Lydia Burton, matron of the Salvation Army Day Nursery; Mrs. James C. Bell, matron of the Redondo Beach summer camp and convalescent rest home at Redondo (the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Dabney,) Mrs. A. H. Carter, superintendent of the Evangeline Young Women's Residence, and heads of many other departments.

George Olsen's new revue club in Culver City will offer impromptu numbers every Saturday and Sunday night, interpolated in the regular performance by Olsen and his orchestra; George Murphy and Juliette Johnson, musical-comedy dancers; Jack Shutta, comedian; William O'Neill, baritone from "New Moon" and "Desert Song;" Jack Lester, dancer, and the sixteen Sunkist Show Girls.

Joe Spagat, manager, offers an elaborate menu of rare delicacies, and George Olsen is available for special banquets and dinner parties given by clubs, lodges, conventions, civic groups and film studio officials, as well as anniversary parties and other gatherings.

WOMAN HEADS KITCHEN

Mrs. H. F. Bruner, formerly of the Leighton Hotel and Carthay Circle Tea Room, is now personally supervising the culinary department at the Hotel Normandie, Normandie avenue at Sixth street. She is well known in Los Angeles for her ability in preparing tasty dishes which are now being featured daily at the hostelry.

C. A. Parker, manager, and formerly associated with the Hotel Hollywood, announces that the hostess entertaining at the Normandie is privileged to use the spacious lobby without extra charge.

The Tau Delta Phi Fraternity of University of California at Los Angeles are having a banquet at the Normandie Sunday. It is the annual dinner given in honor of the mothers and fathers of members of the fraternity.

NEW REVUE PLANNED

Directed by Frank Zelt and Jack T. Arnoldt, assistant maitre de hotel and entertainer, the Paris Inn Cafe, at 210 East Market street, will present to bon vivants of Los Angeles and vicinity a new spectacular revue.

Louis Pella, accordionist, is featured in several popular selections. Lillian D'Andrea, South American and European singer, will appear in a costume number with Bert Rovere. Planeta, French musician, also will appear, giving his interpretation of the leading Parisian popular song hits.

PRIOR AT ROOSEVELT

The voice of Allan Prior, which has charmed musical-comedy patrons, will be heard in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel Monday night. At that time he will be guest of honor in the supper room and will also participate in the program of entertaining.

Currently appearing at the Majestic Theater in "The Student Prince," in which he created the original role of Prince Karl, Prior will sing a number of outstanding hits from this production and other of his favorite vehicles.

REAL MEXICAN DISHES

A bit of old Los Angeles has been reconstructed in Olvera street in the Plaza district. In keeping with the atmosphere of the Paseo de Los Angeles, Casa La Golondrina, a genuine Mexican restaurant, has been established by the La Mision Cafe interests of Los Angeles and Hollywood. Under the supervision of Senora Consuelo Castillo de Bonzo, the cafe features Spanish and Mexican foods served in the manner for which La Mision has long been famous.

INN TO REOPEN

Opening tomorrow night with a gala celebration, King's Tropical Inn once more takes its place as one of Los Angeles' finest suburban cafes. Located on Washington Boulevard at West Adams, the inn is of Spanish architecture, with the interior of rustic design featuring tropical effects and fountains with colored electrical displays.

The main dining-room seats 500, while a private banquet room with a capacity of seventy-five is provided.

John King, proprietor, announces that the same service, prices and hospitality for which the former inn was noted will be continued, with many additional features and more elaborate entertainment.

INN HISTORIC ADOBE

La Ramada Inn, "The Historic old Adobe," is one of the oldest houses in Southern California. Constructed about 1770, it was a milestone for travelers on the only trail through Alta California. The house has been remodeled and enlarged from time to time, but it has always been a social and recreational center for the San Gabriel Valley.

Still a perfect example of the early Spanish architecture of California, the old adobe provides an artistic setting for the delicious foods and excellent service of La Ramada Inn.

LOU HARRIS ENTERTAINS

Now appearing at the Italian Village Cafe, West Eighth street, in conjunction with Joe Marengo and his Italian Village Orchestra, is Lou Harris, character singer and drummer. Augmenting the program for a limited time only, Cecile Barbezat, soprano, and Edna Schofield, dancer, are providing entertainment both at noon and in the evening.

Theater Crews to Hold Rally

Everyone connected with the forty-three local Fox West Coast theaters tonight will attend a midnight mass meeting in the Boulevard Theater, to hail the approach of Harold B. Franklin month, beginning May 1. The more than 2000 local employees will be joined by other organizations in expressing regard for their president, who has added more than 250 theaters to the chain.

Speakers will be John J. Franklin, division manager; Howard Sheehan, vice-president; Frank Whitbeck, advertising director; C. A. Buckley, legal adviser; H. B. Wright, manager of Grauman's Chinese, and Ray Deussen of Loew's State.

SEA TRADE BOOSTER VISITS

Briton Explains Methods of Exploiting Commerce by Use of Talking Pictures

Purchase of four fast oil-burning ships, one of which is at Los Angeles Harbor, for use in trade cruises around the world was told here yesterday by Col. Pemberton Billings, for six years a member of the British House of Commons and now head of British Trade Crusades, Ltd. Col. Billings arrived with Col. H. W. Wright, European representative of a number of American concerns. They registered at the Biltmore.

Each vessel will be fitted with stalls for the display of various articles of merchandise to possible purchasers. An invention which enables visitors to listen to an exhibitor's description in any one of ten foreign languages will be made a part of each exhibit, Col. Pemberton said. Talking pictures will also be used.

Two of the vessels to be used in the service are at San Francisco and one is in England.

Col. Billings said he is out of politics. Nevertheless, he admitted, he is keeping a close watch on political developments. He said he believes the English monarchy is the most democratic form of government.

Col. Wright is a motor and aviation enthusiast. He aided Maj. H. O. D. Segrave, English sportsman, in preparations for record-breaking speed tests at Daytona Beach, Fla.

BARRYMORE TO PLAY "HAMLET"

"Humanettes," Novelty Shorts, Planned by R.-K.-O.; Edward G. Robinson Plays Lead in "Little Caesar;" William Janney Cast as Juvenile With Dix

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

At last Shakespeare is to be honored by the screen as he should be, and his genius is to be broadcast to the world as never before.

JOHN BARRYMORE

For John Barrymore and the Warner Brothers have quite definitely decided to produce "Hamlet," with Barrymore starred.

Not only this, but there is an excellent chance that the wistful and beautiful wife of Barrymore, Dolores Costello, will play Ophelia, although a faint rumor has it that Lillian Gish may be sought for the role.

In any event the picture is to be made on a magnificent scale, with an all-star cast, and of course with the addition of color photography.

Barrymore's "Hamlet" has been considered by most critics as the most excellent interpretation put on the stage in the present decade; and as "Hamlet" is known universally, its appeal will be worldwide. Also, there is no class of persons who will not be interested in the production from some standpoint or other, whether in the bard or the star.

NOVELTY PLANNED BY R.-K.-O. STUDIO

A decided novelty in production is that proposed by R.-K.-O., which is to produce a series of twelve one-reelers called "Humanettes."

Much on the order of the old vaudeville paper-dolls of Fannie Rice and the late Lydia Yeamans Titus are the Humanettes, inasmuch as marionette dolls will be made, topped by the heads and faces of the real players, the actions of the doll bodies to be manipulated by means of strings in the hands of the players.

No subjects are yet announced, but it is known that Frank Newman will produce the subjects from drawings by Bert Levy.

Those who will take part are June Clyde, Rita Leroy, Wheeler Woolsey and Dorothy Lee, with others to be added. Lee Jackson is to direct.

Mervyn LeRoy's Next

Even while Mervyn LeRoy is still busy on "Chicago Widow," his next for First National is being assigned, and it was made known yesterday that he will direct "Little Caesar," by W. B. Burnett.

MERVYN LeROY

Edward G. Robinson is to have the name part in the production, which places this excellent actor in line for featuring in leading roles in all pictures in which he appears.

Fred Kohler was to have played the part, but it is understood that he was finally decided to be too tall to fulfill the physical aspects of the part.

William Janney in It

That rising young actor, William Janney, who has of late been giving such an excellent account of himself in the talkers, will have little time to play marbles this month, at least.

WILLIAM JANNEY

Janney has just been signed by R.-K.-O. for the juvenile lead in "Square Dice," which is Richard Dix's next starring vehicle. George Archainbaud will direct.

Director and Comedian Sign

Clyde Cook was signed yesterday by Tiffany Productions to play the featured comedy lead in Rex Lease's current starring vehicle, "So This Is Mexico."

At the same time, it became known that Richard Thorp is to direct the picture, production on which is to start as soon as a leading lady is chosen.

Lease was recently signed on a long-term contract to star for Tiffany, and stories are being sought for him.

John Roche With Paramount

Our old friend John Roche is one of the excellent actors whom the talkers have brought back to the screen.

Roche, who formerly was a New York stage actor, and who came west for pictures a few seasons ago, but left again for the stage, has just been signed by Paramount to play an important role in Ernst Lubitsch's new production, "Monte Carlo," in which Jack Buchanan has the featured role.

Ray Hatton With R.-K.-O.

Raymond Hatton's excellent talents have been taken over by R.-K.-O., and he has been signed to play the important character role of Fingerless Frazer in that concern's production of Rex Beach's novel, "The Silver Horde."

George Fawcett as Judge

They'll have George Fawcett studying law pretty soon. He has played a whole string of judges in pictures of late. Now he is cast by Fox to play a similar role in "Road House," which Leo McCarey is directing.

Andre Luguet With M.-G.-M.

Andre Luguet, famous stage star of the French Comedie Francaise in Paris, and who recently came to America to appear in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Le Spectre Vert," is to remain here. He has been signed to a long-term contract as a result of his outstanding work in the French mystery play and in the French lead of "Monsieur Le Fox."

He is leaving shortly for France, however, for his wife and child.

The actor has had an amazing career as a war hero in the French army, as an actor on the Paris stage and later on the London stage.

Zelma O'Neal Leaving

Zelma O'Neal will sail for England May 2 to join her British husband, Anthony Bushell. The young folks expect to spend two months with Mr. and Mrs. Bushell, Sr., in London, and in visiting Paris and Berlin. They will return to Hollywood in July to resume film work.

ZELMA O'NEAL

Bebe Daniels Stars in Island Romance; Lloyd Hughes Plays Hero

Standing out like a beacon light in a fog, the singing of Bebe Daniels in "Love Comes Along" is the main feature of this screen attraction which started yesterday at the R.-K.-O. Theater. Without the two theme songs, "Until Love Comes Along" and "Night Winds," the production takes on the aspect of "just another romance."

In her second singing picture, Miss Daniels substantiates the favorable notices given her for "Rio Rita." Although her part as Peggy, the "different" girl in an island honkey-tonk, is basically unconvincing, the versatile actress endows it with her personal charm and vivacity.

Based on a story called "Conchita," by Edward Knoblock, "Love Comes Along" tells of a romance between the lily of an out-of-the-way island and a rough-and-ready sailor boy, played by Lloyd Hughes. There is Sangredo, the head man of the island and, incidentally, the villain, Montagu Love portrays this role. Sangredo finds Carlotta, his former love, is not true to him and to punish the unfaithful one takes Peggy to the fiesta. His intentions are not ancient and honorable. Johnny Starke, the young tar, misunderstands the subsequent actions of Peggy and is on the point of boarding his ship, when his sweetheart's broken-hearted singing reaches his ears ever so faintly. The ending, then, is not hard to imagine.

Some happy comedy by Ned Sparks as Johnny's buddy is another feature of "Love Comes Along." Sparks wrote the part himself and incorporated some of his own choice lines. Lloyd Hughes sings well with Miss Daniels. Lionel Belmore is the tavern keeper and Evelyn Selbie has a small role. Montagu Love and his Spanish accent leave little doubt as to his bent for villainy. Rupert Julian directed. The screen play is by Wallace Smith.

On the stage this week Al Trahan, on tour with Lady Yukona Cameron, is the center of attraction. Trahan has the faculty of sending his audience into stitches about once every ten seconds. And he has lost none of this ability. Other acts range from fine to fair, including the six Galenos, acrobats Tinova and Balkoff with Fred Martin, and Irene Chesleigh and Ruth Gibbs in "When Cat Meets Cat."

'They Learned About Women' at Boulevard

Van and Schenck, who have packed them into the "big time" for years, may easily repeat their success in a film way. The first feature picture in which these two synchronic songsters appear is "They Learned About Women," which is to be seen by the Boulevard's public.

By no means an exceptional achievement, this, nevertheless, radiates an ample share of entertainment. The subject matter suggests a masculine appeal, for it centers about two ball players on a big league team who are as popular for their harmonizing as they are for their pitching and catching. The excitement of several games adds considerably to the tempo and the interest of the picture.

Their songs, and they have many, are put over with spirit and spontaneity, yet never so obviously as to appear the sole reason for these gentlemen's presence. Something has happened to the sound projection at the Boulevard. The customary distractions and disturbances have disappeared and the stars' popular voices register almost as clearly as they would on the stage.

Bessie Love takes her place as the feminine end of the triangle. She loves Schenck and Van loves her, so it all makes for the proper amount of conflict and suspense. Miss Love wins out in the final innings after she has undergone her usual rejected-but-still-loving sorrows.

J. C. Nugent is seen in the role of team manager and, though slight, his performance is excellent. Benny Rubin is up to his usual funny business, and Mary Doran is quite convincing as the grasping gold digger.

On the stage is heard Lynn Cowan and his band and with them are featured Dunbar's Bell Ringers.

JOLSON SINGS AND MARCHES

Minstrel Parade Signals Arrival of "Mammy"

Large Audience at Premiere at Warner Theater

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Al Jolson turned loose with a new brand of showmanship last evening to signal the arrival of his picture, "Mammy." He not only did his bit on the screen in his newest film opus, but he marched twenty blocks to the theater at the head of a minstrel procession.

The premiere consequently attracted more attention than a fire or a circus in the downtown streets, and Al was literally in his glory as the entertainer of the populace, despite that he had said good-by to most of his hair, having had it close-cropped for "Big Boy," now in production.

Jolson also got up on the stage and cheered up the audience that might have felt a little sad over the pathetic portions of "Mammy," after the picture showing was over. He said a lot of things incidentally in praise of "All Quiet on the Western Front," and remarked that he had cut his hair short so he could play a part in the film.

Altogether, "Mammy" had as enlivening an introduction to the public as any feature that Jolson has so far made. And Al himself displays in the picture itself the full share of his pepfulness, especially in the lively song numbers.

The minstrel idea is the background of the film. Hence, of course, the street parade, which is an old custom with this type of show. And though a story of minstrel life is now no novelty, "Mammy" is presented with more than the usual dazzle.

Not a little is added to the glitter of the picture through the Technicolor sequences. Also the Irving Berlin music numbers have a zestful interest, and are well suited to the Jolson style.

With only an exception of two he avoids the mournful note that has prevailed in other more recent productions. Numbers like "Let Me Sing and I'm Happy," "The Night Boat to Albany" and others have the swift tempo, which enables Jolson to get into the high-speed swing for which he is famous.

To be sure, as Al Fuller, the hero, he nearly goes to prison again for a crime he did not commit. But fortunately the patrol wagon turns over on the way to the jail and the prisoners escape.

BERLIN STORY

The plot from the story of Irving Berlin, adapted by Gordon Rigb and Joseph Jackson, and directed by Michael Curtiz, rambles along, concerning itself first with the griefs that the minstrel show has on the road, and then their good fortune when they secure an angel. The "Mammy" idea suggested in the title is the merest incident. Louise Dresser plays the role of Jolson's mother but is only seen on the screen two or three times in the picture and then for only a brief while. Jolson sang "Mammy" to her once from the train platform when saying goodbye and the audience responded with applause.

The high spots of the picture outside of Jolson's songs and personal performance, are the operatic burlesques very amusingly done. In this Al himself is the mainspring of the mirth. Even so old a basic theme for this burlesque as "Yes, We Have No Bananas" regains life when the star wearing cuckoo headgear sings snatches of "Rigoletto," "Love Tales of Hoffman" and "Lohengrin" third act prelude in a thoroughly dizzy manner.

Jolson enacts his role in this picture with a greater positiveness, I should say, than anything outside of portions of "The Singing Fool." It is not, perhaps, any great revealing of his talents in any new way, but there is more smoothness to what he does.

SHERMAN EFFECTIVE

The star's feigning of inebriation in one scene is exceedingly well carried out, and in cool contrast Lowell Sherman's work in this particular episode also shines out brilliantly. He evolves his ability as an actor in various other scenes, but this is by far the best in opportunity.

Mitchell Lewis is the villain—the card sharp who out of revenge forces Jolson into the spot where he is apparently trying to murder his pal. The situation is rather effective, and the star draws much sympathy when as the fugitive he returns home to his mother, and tells her he is going to Europe to fill a big contract, when in reality he is going to jail.

Lois Moran plays the heroine of the picture with feeling. Hobart Bosworth is prominent as the owner of the minstrel show. Jack Curtiss is effective as the Sheriff who wants to buy an interest. Tully Marshall appears in a bit.

In the minstrel procession to the theater various members of the cast marched with Jolson, and the all-American football team destined to appear in a Warner film rode along in their wake.

On the program is a capital burlesque of the old-time melodrama, in which Edna Hibbard is cast as the heroine, and various others provide fun. These burlesques are exceedingly diverting.

'Student Prince' Starts on New Majestic Run

Lillian Albertson last night presented her third successive Romberg operetta, "The Student Prince," at the Majestic Theater before a large and enthusiastic audience. "New Moon" and "The Desert Song" have preceded "The Student Prince" nder Miss Albertson's banner and both met with unusual success.

The current musical production stars Allan Prior with Elvira Tanzi. Prior has sung the role of Prince Karl in London and New York.

"The Student Prince" will be reviewed in these columns tomorrow.

STAR PROCESSION SHOWN

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Even Clara Bow sings in this revue. "Paramount on Parade" provided a real procession of stars and also a goodly share of entertainment at its opening showings yesterday. The film presents no less than twenty numbers and they are of every variety and description. Among the names that are included are practically those of all sparklers of the Paramount-Famous-Lasky studio, though Maurice Chevalier, as might be suspected, does heavy duty. So, too, do Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher and Leon Errol, more particularly the first two, as masters of ceremonies.

"Paramount On Parade," showing at the Paramount Theater, is filmed partly in color and partly in black and white. It is a song and dance affair for the greater part, with comedy acts occasionally interspersed. The movies have not yet learned the art of getting a real uproar out of the black-out so-called, but several of the numbers in this particular revue are much better than usual.

Nearly every star appearing in the picture is presented in some act characteristic of his or her particular line of pictures, and I believe this has a tendency to add to the popular interest in their performances. All the detecties of the thriller are represented in a single number, including William Powell as Philo Vance, Clive Brook as Sherlock Holmes, Eugene Pallette as Sergt. Heath of the Philo Vance stories, while Warner Oland is seen as Dr. Fu Manchu. Ruth Chatterton does a serious bit as a French girl who has lost her American soldier sweetheart, Miss Boy sing "The Navy's Sweetheart."

NOTED PAIR COSTARRED AT LOEW'S

Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell Enact Romantic Roles Again

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

It only remains now for Fox to offer Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in the more harmless nursery rhymes. "High Society Blues," their current vehicle at Loew's State, is not far removed from them. Miss Gaynor and Mr. Farrell are charming lovers; but the fact has been self-evident for a long time, and this film in which they are playing at love has not the exotic, idyllic setting necessary to surround them with the distinction, either dramatic or more than passingly picturesque, that was theirs in the silent days. Yet because of a certain ingratiating quality which permeates the screen when they are on it, and despite the foolish things they say, the film—a simple romance with music—qualifies as, at any rate, moderately pleasant.

"High Society Blues" is a comedy, vaguely reminiscent in theme of "They Had to See Paris." The Granger family, richer by $3,000,000, leaves its Iowa home to swank it near New York. There it attempts to "keep up with the Divines," its next-door neighbors. The result is the usual social clash, with a solution arrived at when the Granger boy and the Divine girl elope.

David Butler, the director, deserves credit for making of these almost arbitrarily puppet figures fairly believable creations. It would have been so easy to caricature the Grangers—yet as presented by Lucien Littlefield, Louise Fazenda, Joyce Compton and Mr. Farrell, they are typically provincial without being cruelly gauche. The Divines, as drawn by William Collier, Sr., Hedda Hopper and Miss Gaynor, also possess the right attributes—those of a conservative family.

Scattered through the scenes are four musical numbers sung in voices wistful and thin by the two principals. "I'm in the Market for You," "Just Like in a Story Book" and the titular piece. There is also a dream sequence in which Miss Gaynor's knight comes riding on to a set all gilded and fancy. I cannot see that anything is gained by all these diagressions, but that is the sort of picture it is.

Frank Richardson, Fox singing comedian, is the life of Fanchon and Marco's "Box o' Candy Idea" on the stage. Mr. Richardson, whose high tenor pours outward from a body continually in motion, obliges with tunes from talkies in which he has performed, adding for good measure an interpretation of "St. Louis Blues" that is quite the best thing he does. Dave Franklin is his able accompanist.

Others in the prettily dressed act are Jones and Hull, Frank Hamilton, Reeves and Lou, Marie, Lucy and Irene, and, of course, the Sunkist Ballet.

Civic Repertory Will Play Host

Merrymaking will take place on both sides of the footlights at the Music Box in Hollywood on the evening of May 6 when the Welfare Association of The Times will take over a performance of "The Imaginary Invalid" for a benefit for its welfare fund.

Moliere's burlesque on the medicine-men of his day lends itself to interpelations and fun-making, an opportunity that will not be lost on John Sheehan, comedian in the title role, Elise Bartlett, Paul Irving or any of the Civic Repertory actors. H. Ellis Reed and John R. Moss of the Repertory executive board will be hosts for the occasion.

Bernie to Play at Montmartre

With Eddie Cantor as master of ceremonies, the Hollywood debut of Ben Bernie, maestro of jazz, and his orchestra of individual artists, at the Montmartre Cafe Monday evening promises to be a colorful event. Eddie Brandstatter, owner, is having his cafe redecorated for the opening.

Prominent artists, stage and film stars, are making reservations for the occasion, it is said. An elaborate vaudeville program will be presented.

DR. RODZINSKI PAID TRIBUTE

Last Symphony Program of Year Acclaimed

Request Concert Ends Fine Orchestra Season

Large Audience Present at Philharmonic

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Excitement and fervor which fairly reached frenzy pervaded the scene of the final symphony program of the year at the Philharmonic Auditorium last night. Dr. Rodzinski was greeted by a fanfare from the orchestra that was sincere, loud and long. The concert hall was crowded and everyone stood as the quick-moving young conductor strode across the stage to take up his baton for the opening measures of Beethoven's "Leonore" overture. A laurel wreath awaited him. It hung significantly before the conductor's stand throughout the concert, a tribute to a year's splendid accomplishment.

The program was a requested one. Cesar Franck's immortal symphony in D minor reverberated through the auditorium. Rodzinski gave it a broad sweep in his reading, reaching out to the furthermost instruments of his large orchestra for the utmost in tone and emotion. He has conducted this symphony here before, but never with the same energy and soaring inspiration. It brought the audience to its feet, clapping wildly.

Then came the Fire Bird suite of Stravinsky. This might easily have been an anticlimax after the Cesar Franck. Rather than that, it was vividly stimulating. The ballet with its color and its frenetic movement was fully visualized by the music. When the incisive tones of the Infernal Dance of Kastchei had reached an almost-unendurable power, they subsided into a berceuse, murmuring with poetry. The finale made one long for the completion of the ballet with dancers. This was one of the high tri mphs of the Rodzinski season.

Stokowski's version of the Bach Toccata and Fugue is transcribed from the organ work. As Rodzinski plays it, it becomes an architectural vision. Whether one resents this modernization of Bach as a desecration of a sacred trust handed down from the father of music, or whether one delights in the embellishments and the showmanship of a genius of 1930, the fact remains that its performance by the Philharmonic Orchestra with its great resources of tone and technical brilliance under the forceful direction of Dr. Rodzinski is stunning in its effect.

The audience walked out slowly, stopping to clap and bring the conductor back again and again. Little animated groups gathered on the sidewalks to chatter about the success of the concert and one knew from their faces that it was a gala night.

The program will be repeated this afternoon and the orchestra plays for the last time this season in a request pop program on Sunday afternoon.

"Living Mask" to Start Run at Filmarte

A picturesque and dramatic photoplay, "The Living Mask," with Conrad Veidt in the leading role, comes to the Filmarte Theater tonight. The film is based on "Henry IV," the stage play by the Italian dramatist, Luigi Pirandello.

"The Living Mask," offers Veidt opportunity to display his talents of characterization. The picture was produced in Berlin. As an added feature to the program, there is an old-time Keystone comedy, "Laundry Liz," with Louise Fazenda as the chief merry-maker.

BLOSSOM ROOM TO HONOR ALLAN PRIOR

Echoes of "The Student Prince" and "The Desert Song" will resound in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel Monday night, when Allan Prior, noted musical comedy and light opera star, will be guest of honor and headliner on the program of entertainment.

MOON FILMERS TO USE PLANES

Two Expeditions Will Make Studies of Eclipse

Honey Lake Selected as Base of Operations

Sound-film and ordinary motion picture records of next Monday's solar eclipse will be made from airplanes flying at a height of 20,000 feet. Collaborating in the novel scientific flight are the Frank P. Brackett Observatory of Pomona College, the research department of the Western Electric Company and the United States Army Air Corps, one of whose planes will be used. Another plane will be loaned by the Richfield Oil Company.

Two expeditions will be sent from Pomona College for the two bases from which the eclipse-photographing flights will be made. The bases will be at Honey Lake and Camptonville.

President Hoover detailed Capt. A. W. Stevens, noted aerial photographer, and Lieut. J. D. Corkhille, test pilot of McCook Field, to make the flight in the army plane. Capt. Stevens won notice by photographing New York from a distance of 300 miles.

A Western Electric newsreel camera and an aircraft radio receiver are installed in the Fairchild army plane to be used. By means of special time signals sent by Mare Island radio station, a complete moving-picture record as well as a time and speed record of the moon's travel across the face of the sun will be made. Oxygen tanks will enable flyers to work at 30,000 feet altitude, where the temperature is 15 deg. below zero.

Markers will be laid out for a distance of ten miles on the ground at Honey Lake. Capt. Stevens will photograph and time the shadow of the moon as it travels across the earth at a speed of more than 1300 miles an hour.

HOME LIKE PRISON, WIFE TELLS JUDGE

Mrs. Levia Chance obtained a divorce yesterday from W. J. Chance, a carpenter, after she testified before Superior Judge Yankwich that married life for her was like being in prison, for her husband never wanted her to go anywhere. Once when she asked him for money he threw it at her, Mrs. Chance said. The couple had lived together for twenty-eight years, according to the complaint.

Officers Say Bridegroom Shot Self Because He Lacked Funds

"I cannot make it to be married by the church Sunday as I am broke," penned Mike Flores, 25 years of age, in a note to his bride of three weeks shortly before he fatally shot himself near her house in San Fernando Wednesday night.

Investigation yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Morrell disclosed that Flores three weeks ago had married Isidra Valdez in a civil ceremony in Ventura and that he had become despondent over his inability to raise sufficient money to have the marriage solemnized in a church in accordance with the wishes of relatives.

ALIENISTS EXAMINING 'ATTIC' MAN

Sanhuber Transferred to Psychopathic Ward for Study Pending Trial

Otto Sanhuber, "the attic man," indicted jointly with Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich in the eight-year-old murder of her husband, has been transferred from the County Jail to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital for examination by alienists pending trial, the District Attorney's office revealed yesterday.

Mrs. Oesterreich, however, remains in the County Jail. Both have motions before the court for severance of trials which is to be ruled on next Wednesday. If the motion is denied they are to go to trial June 2.

Six alienists are engaged in the examination of Sanhuber, who pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity. Three of the psychiatrists were appointed by the court and three retained by the State.

ORATORS MEET IN SEMIFINALS

Group Champions of District to be Chosen Tonight

Seven Winners Will Speak in Area Finals

Contests Expected to Draw Large Audiences

Semifinal contests in the districts sponsored by the Los Angeles Times for the distinction of representing their home group of schools in the grand finals to be held May 2 in Seattle will take place at 8 p.m. today at the following schools:

Group A, Districts 1 to 7, at Long Beach Polytechnic High, David A. Burcham, manager of contest.

Group B, Districts 9 to 15, at Kern County High, Bakersfield, Leland C. Tallman, manager of contest.

Group C, Districts 3 to 7, at South Pasadena High, South Pasadena, John E. Alman, manager of contest.

Group G, Districts 45 to 50, at Reno, (Nev.) High, Walter W. Anderson, manager of contest.

Starting with many thousand entrants, tonight's contests will reduce the number to seven; the chosen orators of their respective districts. There were from one to nine schools in the several districts, according to school population, and from six to eight districts in every group. Therefore the orators who win tonight will be the best orators in more than 300 schools. The semifinals will be held at Long Beach Polytechnic High, Bakersfield High, South Pasadena High, Reno (Nev.) High, and at Lincoln High and Fremont High, in Los Angeles. Arizona held its semifinals early this week.

Enthusiasm has increased in the high schools of this section with every elimination and tonight's events are expected to attract large crowds of excited partisans.

CROWDS EXPECTED

Hundreds of anxious parents, thousands of interested patrons of the schools, and representatives of civic and patriotic bodies will be on hand to hear Young America extol the Constitution of the United States and glorify the institutions under which they live. As the general public is invited and urged to attend these events, which are free to all, large attendance is anticipated.

Local interest will center largely in the contests between the schools of the city. Group D comprises the big six, Franklin, Hollywood, Jefferson, Lincoln, Los Angeles and Manual Arts. The contest will be held at Lincoln High.

Group E comprises both city and suburban schools: Fairfax, Woodrow Wilson, Metropolitan and Roosevelt, of Los Angeles, and El Monte, Torrance, Redlands and San Pedro. Fremont High will be the scene of the contest.

GIRLS' SCHOOL ENTERED

Group C contest to be held at South Pasadena High, embraces Marlborough, the girls' school of Los Angeles, and Antelope Valley High at Lancaster, Santa Ana, Glendale High, Herbert Hoover at Glendale, Pasadena High, Santa Maria and Nordhoff Union, at Ojai.

Group A will contest at Polytechnic High School at Long Beach, and includes Excelsior Union at Norwalk, Banning, Needles, Grossmont, Brawley, in the Imperial Valley; Long Beach Polytechnic, Pomona and San Diego High.

Group B comprises the schools of Fresno, Inyo, Kern, Kings and Tulare counties and will meet at Bakersfield High to select the best orator of the group, comprising Bakersfield High, Fresno High, Reedley, Bishop, Taft, Lemoore and Porterville Union.

Federal Paroles Given Pair in Bad-Money Case

Parole for one year on condition that he does not take a drink of alcoholic liquor was granted by United States District Judge Cosgrave yesterday to Charles Connell, 72 years of age, who pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of counterfeit silver coins. The same sentence was meted out to Leslie Fisk, who was arrested with Connell and pleaded guilty several days ago.

Violation of their parole by either will mean that he must serve one year in the Federal penitentiary at McNeil Island. The proviso as to drinking was made because both men asserted they had passed the spurious coins when they were drunk.

Robert Latham, who was arrested with the pair, was released because of lack of evidence.

SAWTELLE BOULEVARD PAVING PLEA FILED

A petition for the improvement of Sawtelle Boulevard from Santa Monica Boulevard to Exposition Boulevard was filed with the City Council yesterday by property owners headed by F. H. Winkler. The petition was referred to the City Engineer and the Public Works Committee. The improvement asked for consists of permanent pavement sixty feet wide, using the present paving as a base as much as possible.

MILLIONAIRE SEEKS STOCK SALES QUIZ

Adolph Bernheimer, millionaire silk importer of New York and Los Angeles, yesterday appeared at the District Attorney's office and requested investigation of the promotion and stock sales of a refrigerator company, asserting that he had invested approximately $50,000 in the enterprise upon representations that numerous contracts for manufacture had been let. These contracts later proved to be imaginary, Bernheimer contends.

INFANTS DESERTED BY TWO MOTHERS

ELENA LLOYD — DAY BARNELL

Wards of Home

Search for the mother of Elena Lloyd, 2 years of age, was begun yesterday by the juvenile authorities after placing the wee girl in the care of the Children's Home Finding Society, 919 East Twenty-fifth street.

Policewoman Arnason reported that the child was left by her mother, Mrs. Tillie Lloyd, with a family of acquaintances three months ago. The mother never returned, this family reported in turning out little Elena to the policewoman.

Another ward of the society is Ray Barnell, 1-year-old son of Mrs. Queenie Barnell, who disappeared after placing the child in the care of Mrs. Bernice Johnson, 1529 East One Hundred and Third Place. The mother was to pay $7 a week for its support, but paid only $10 in six months, Mrs. Johnson said. Juvenile authorities say the father is serving time in Mare Island prison as a navy deserter.

Veteran School Principal Given New Assignment

After seventeen years as principal of the Macy-street elementary school, Miss Nora Sterry has been transferred to take charge of the Sawtelle Boulevard school. Miss Sterry will fill the position left vacant by Mrs. Elizabeth Ford Prior, who died several months ago.

MISS NORA STERRY

Miss Sterry is known throughout the city for her activities in welfare work. During the World War she was a leader in Red Cross work, and more recently during an epidemic in the foreign community personally operated the Macy-street school's cafeteria that the poor in the quarantine district might be fed.

Miss Sterry graduated from the Marlborough School for Girls, and later earned her bachelor's and her master's degree at the University of Southern California. She entered the Los Angeles school system as a teacher in 1903.

The Sawtelle Boulevard school, of which Miss Sterry will become principal May 5, has been taken over by the University of California at Los Angeles for training and demonstration purposes. This work will begin with the opening of the school term next September.

MISSOURIANS HOLD RALLY

Missourians will rally at a picnic in Bixby Park, Long Beach, on May 17, it was announced yesterday by Sam Selecman, president. Dr. Charles D. Hunt, head of the Long Beach recreation department, will welcome them.

CANTWELL SUPPORTS BOND ISSUE

Bishop Joins Others in Voicing Strong Approval of Water Proposal

Emphatic approval of the $38,500,000 water-bond issue, coupled with the declaration that the bonds are vitally necessary and should be voted as a plain public necessity, was voiced yesterday by Bishop John J. Cantwell.

Long prominently identified with the civic as well as the religious development of Los Angeles, Bishop Cantwell in no uncertain terms expressed his whole-hearted indorsement of the bond issue.

At the same time scores of additional business and civic organizations yesterday joined vigorously in working to bring about an overwhelming vote for the bonds on May 20.

"It is of vital importance for the present population, as well as for the future development of our community, that we have an adequate supply of pure water," stated Bishop Cantwell.

"Seldom has a community been asked to vote on a more important issue than the water bonds in the coming election. It will be a very long time before the Colorado River sends its streams into this city. Our present water supply must be increased if the health of our people is to be preserved."

President H. M. Baine of the Hollywood Boulevard Association, stated:

"Every voter should understand that this water-bond issue will have nothing to do with taxes. The bonds should, and, I believe, will carry by a large majority."

The absolute necessity of voting the bonds also was expressed by James B. Gist, vice-president of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles.

Among the organizations which yesterday were on record actively working in support of the water bonds are: Greater Pico-street Association; East Side Co-operative Improvement Association; East Los Angeles Commonwealth League; Pythian Sisters Club; Golden State Lodge, No. 29, Loyal Order of Moose, through its secretary D. H. Hurley; and East Los Angeles Women's Study Club.

Roscoe Bonds Move Rescinded by Park Board

Following the reading of a copy of a resolution of the Orange Cove Improvement Association protesting against the plan for voting bonds totaling $140,000 for a park in Roscoe, the Board of Park Commissioners yesterday rescinded its action of March 24, when it approved the plan.

The association's resolution, signed by S. S. Hawkins pro tem, stated that the request for the bond issue for the park, signed by Alan Tarbell, secretary of the improvement association, was unauthorized.

Property owners in the district are protesting against the bonding plan on the ground that it is favored by only a few persons.

WIFE WINS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY PLEA

Testimony to the effect that her husband called her names and on one occasion struck her, knocking her against a dresser, yesterday won a divorce for Mrs. Alberta L. Rush from John W. Rush, employed by a Los Angeles lumber company. A property settlement was approved by Superior Judge Yankwich. The couple, former residents of Redondo, married on February 15, 1926, and separated on March 31, last.

EX-POLICEMAN FOUND GUILTY

W. R. McIntire Convicted in Traffic-Death Case

Sentence to be Pronounced Monday Morning

Asserted Wife Gave Most Damaging Testimony

W. R. McIntire, former Los Angeles policeman, yesterday was convicted of second-degree murder, driving while intoxicated, and failure to stop and render aid following an automobile accident at the close of his trial before Superior Judge Aggeler. Sentence will be pronounced at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

McIntire was charged with murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Margaret Towers, 62 years of age, of 555 Oakford Drive, who was struck down by a motorist at Hubbard street and Atlantic Boulevard on January 1, last.

John Oliver, deputy District Attorney who prosecuted the case, charged that after the accident McIntire went to Burbank and concealed his automobile, later taking it to a secluded canyon near Beverly Hills, where it was abandoned. McIntire's arrest followed shortly after the car was recovered by police.

The chief witness against McIntire was Miss Ruby Burroughs, who was with him at the time of the accident. Despite the fact that Miss Burroughs married McIntire in the County Jail so that under the law she would not have to testify against him, the court held that the couple were not legally married because they had not obtained a license and the woman was compelled to take the witness stand and tell what she knew about the accident.

Rolph Displays His Optimism as Candidate

Mayor Rolph's perpetual smile was a trifle broader, if possible, yesterday, following his arrival at the Biltmore. The reason, he explained, was to be found in his optimism over his election chances in the race for Governor.

Rolph declared that he believed he had enough friends to warrant optimism.

"I look forward to the coming contest with confidence," said the Bay City executive.

Organization of his Southern California campaign is proceeding rapidly, he indicated, saying he expected to be able to announce the committee members shortly.

Yesterday, Mayor Rolph visited in Long Beach and also lunched with members of the Twenty Club at the Jonathan Club. He plans to return to San Francisco today.

Val Haresnape's Funeral Today

Funeral services for Val Haresnape, former secretary of the American Automobile Association, will be conducted at 10 a.m. today at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Haresnape resigned his position with the national association a year and a half ago and had lately been acting as manager for Kaye Don, British racer, in his speed trials at Daytona Beach, Fla. Suffering a breakdown two weeks ago, he was brought back to Los Angeles. Death came unexpectedly Wednesday at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. C. W. Thiry, 1335 Cambria street. He was 39 years of age.

DISSENSION HITS RANKS OF LOS ANGELES CLUB

ANGEL TROUBLES CENTER AROUND HANEY'S BOSSING

Lelivelt Censored for Permitting Captain to "Bawl Out" Players; Pitchers Disgruntled

BY BOB RAY

What's wrong with the Angels? That's the question buzzing around local baseball fans because of the Los Angeles club's poor showing in its last four games. And the answer apparently is that dissension is spreading among the ranks of the players and something exciting is liable to pop unless Jack Lelivelt gets the situation under control soon.

The Seraphs have lost their last four starts and it doesn't take a master mind to see that something is not just what it should be in their ranks.

To all outward appearances, quite a bit of the trouble seems to be centered around Fred Haney, the flashy Angel third - sacker, who is captain of the club. Haney appears to be taking his captaincy too seriously and his tactics in bawling out Angel players for their misplays have been so outstanding as to have created a lot of talk among the fans. And the Seraph players have not taken kindly to Haney's bossing and public rebukes.

In fact Haney's high-handed methods have been so outstanding that many fans in the grandstand have wondered out loud just whether Lelivelt or Haney was the manager.

Haney and Lelivelt, however, seem to be in perfect accord, but one wonders why Jack doesn't do the bawling out in the clubhouse or the dugout instead of letting Capt. Haney do it on the field. It would look a lot better and probably have

"THE LASS WHO LOVED A SAILOR!"

Metropolitan Newspaper Service

"IT WAS an ancient mariner, and he stoppeth one of three,"—but that veteran sailor, Robert Shawkey, who is managing the New York Yankees this season, has got to do better than that—he's got to stop at least two of every three opponents or he and his boys won't beat out Connie Mack and his A's for the 1930 American League pennant. A little simple arithmetic will show that two-thirds of 154 games is 102 2-3, and last season the Athletics won 104 contests, so this ancient mariner had better just go along with the idea in mind of making it three out of three and then there'll be no dead albatross to hoodoo the good ship on its long voyage to Pennantville.

Bob Shawkey, so it seems, has made himself popular with the members of the team he was given the job of managing, shortly after the lamented death of the very successful Miller Huggins. I see no reason why he shouldn't also make himself popular with the fans of New York. He was for many years a star pitcher for the team he now bosses, and in two seasons, especially, made enviable records. In 1916, his first full year as a Yankee, he won twenty-two games and lost only fourteen, and also had the enviable earned-run average of 2.21. In two other seasons he won as many as twenty contests, and in 1923 he won a world series game from the Giants, beating Jack Scott, 3 to 4.

HOLLYWOOD HUMBLED BY SUDS AGAIN

Indians Take Third in Row from Stars by 5-1 Margin

SEATTLE, April 24. (AP)—Behind the air-tight pitching of Andy House the Seattle Indians made it three straight victories over Hollywood with a 5-to-1 win today. The Stars counted their lone run in the second inning. Pat Collins, Seattle catcher, tied up the score in the third with a home run into the left - field bleachers. The Indians took the lead with another tally in the fourth and then made victory sure with a three-run rally in the fifth. Dutch Ruether, Seattle pitcher, umpired the bases in place of McClough, who is hurrying home to Westchester, Pa., where his mother

SOLONS DEFEAT SERAPHS AGAIN

Sacs Annex Third Straight by Score of 8 to 5

Ed Bryan Pitches Senators to Triumph Easily

Angels Score All Five Runs in Last Three Rounds

Steady pitching by Ed Bryan, whom Bill Essick dug up from the wilds of Texarkana for the Vernon Tigers several seasons ago, and timely hitting by the Senators gave Sacramento its third straight victory over the Angels yesterday at Wrigley Field. The score was 8 to 5.

For six innings Bryan had the Angels blanked like stage cartridges, but in the final three rounds he either eased up or lost his stuff and was nicked for the Lelivelt... five tallies. Three of the runs were scored in the last round and caused Buddy Ryan to hurry out to the mound for a chat with Bryan, but the Texarkana twirler convinced his skipper that he would finish the game and then proved it by retiring Sigafoos and Harper.

While Bryan was turning back the Seraphs, the Senators were piling up their winning margin at the expense of a parade of Angel moundsmen. Clyde Barfoot started for the locals, but was wild and lifted in the fourth inning. Art Delaney, Augie Walsh and then Bill Peters followed Barfoot to the mound, the latter blanking the Solons in the two rounds he worked.

Two walks, an infield out and some speedy sprinting by Hoag gave the Sacs one run in the second without the aid of a hit.

SOLONS SCORE THREE

Three more Solons crossed the plate in the fourth. Camilli, Osborne and Hoag singled to open the round and score one run. Rohwer popped out and Wirts walked, filling the bases. Bryan fouled to Haney but Dittmar bobbled French's grounder and then threw wildly to first, Osborne and Hoag counting. After Ward had walked to again clog the cushions, Barfoot was replaced by Delaney, who disposed of Backer for the third out.

Camilli and Osborne hit Delaney for successive home runs in the fifth to increase the Solon lead to six runs.

Delaney gave way to a pinch hitter in the Angel fifth and Walsh then took the mound. Ward's triple and Backer's double, which Statz should have caught, gave the Sacs another run in the sixth, while a pair of walks and Bryan's single produced the final Sacramento counter in the seventh.

SERAPHS SCORE

Dittmar's second hit, Camilli's error on Warren's grounder and Pinch Hitter Parker's sacrifice fly scored for the Seraphs in the home half of the seventh. In the eighth Moore singled, Sigafoos doubled and Harper hit a sacrifice fly to Rohwer that scored Moore.

Dittmar's double, Warren's line-drive homer over the right-field screen, Haney's walk and steal of second and Moore's two-bagger completed the Cherub scoring in the ninth.

TRACKMEN LEAVE TONIGHT

Special Train Will Carry 135 Local Athletes to Fresno Relay Carnival in North

One hundred and thirty-five athletes of seven Southern California track teams will move out of here in a body tonight on a special Southern Pacific train for the west coast relays at Fresno tomorrow.

The "Athletes Special" will leave Central Station at 9 p.m. and move northward on slow, easy schedule, according to the announcement. The train will not arrive at Fresno until 7 the next morning to give all cinder experts the best sleep possible en route in preparation for the day's grind, said those in charge.

The full Trojan team of fifty men and officials top the list aboard the train. L.A.A.C. comes next with twenty-three, followed by U.C.L.A. with seventeen; Occidental, fourteen; Compton Junior College, twelve; Long Beach Junior College, eleven, and San Diego College, seven.

This year an innovation will be introduced in staging the relays, according to Earl Wright, chairman. For the first time all events will be

Ten Circuits Hit as Seals Trim Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. (AP)—San Francisco's Seals shopped for bargains in base hits today and found them, trouncing Oakland's Oaks, 20 to 5, in a game that saw ten home runs chalked up between the two teams. The home-run orgy came within one of equaling the Pacific Coast record for four-ply blows in a game, the high mark of eleven being set in the Vernon - Salt Lake contest in 1923. The Seals

RIVIERA FAVORITES WIN

Jelliffe, Carter Picked to Win Championship; Close Matches Feature Opening Round

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Although near upsets were very much in evidence, favorites came through unscathed in first-round matches of the Riviera Country Club invitation tournament played yesterday.

At present, W. L. (Wild Wilyum) Jelliffe of Girard, the medalist, and Phil Carter of Rancho are the choices of the multitude with considerable golf yet to be played before the finals on Sunday.

Jelliffe advanced to the second round with a 3-and-2 victory over F. M. Warner, an 8-handicap man who shot a 79 and gave Bill considerable of a battle. The Girard golfer had an approximate 75, however, with a couple of bad holes.

Carter, who tops the lower bracket, while Jelliffe heads the upper bracket, scored the most lopsided win of the day, a 6 and 5 victory over Joe Graves. At the thirteenth hole, where the match ended, Carter was even with par. He shot a 74 in the qualifying round, and is playing splendid golf.

In what may be considered a near upset, Jim Scott, popular assistant manager of the Riviera Club, defeated "Larruping" Perry Ferguson of Girard, 5 and 3. Scott is a 2-handicap player and can be considered a dangerous dark horse in the tournament.

Weller Noble of San Gabriel found Jack Douglas of Fox Hills a tough nut to crack, the match going to the twenty-third hole before Noble could eke out a skimpy victory.

POWER-BOATS GET OFF IN LONG OCEAN EVENT

BY FRANK ROCHE
"Times" Staff Representative

LONG BEACH, April 24.—Churning the waters of the blue Pacific fronting this city, twenty trim power - boat cruisers, valued at more than $1,000,000, began one of the biggest experiments in pleasure craft racing history this morning. The experiment is a 446.1 nautical mile ocean race from this port to the Golden Gate at San Francisco. If the entire fleet that chugged out of here in the direction of Point Firmin reaches San Francisco it will mark the first time in boating history that any such thing has ever been accomplished.

The race, which is the second annual staged by the Long Beach Yacht Club, is by far the biggest thing of its kind ever staged on the west coast. An idea of just how big the race is this year is given in the list of starters compared with those of 1929. Last year two boats raced for the honors, but today it seemed as if the waters were just bubbling over with power cruisers as Mayor Jim Rolph of San Francisco fired the starting gun sending the fleet on its way.

Perhaps a more intimate picture of the start of the race could have been given if the newspaper men and the photographers had been able to get on the press boat. However, no such craft could be located by the members of the fourth estate, who had to take in the event from the end of the pier with a spy glass.

From the pier the Blue Boy, owned by Carl Getz, seemed to have a comfortable lead on the rest of the field as the fleet headed into the outer harbor. The start was made under almost ideal conditions. A light southerly wind was blowing, but seas were calm.

Only three boats, the Enoa Dream Boat and Kenmar, on the official entry list, failed to start. The Zoa, winner of last year's race, was not entered to defend her laurels.

Southern California Prep Track and Field Preliminaries Scheduled for Tomorrow

SAN DIEGO HAS POWERFUL TEAM

Fourteen Athletes to Run for Southerners

Willson and Ortiz Entered in Both Dashes

Dower, Antrim, Arguello to Gallop Mile

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Fighting for the right to compete in the finals next Saturday, 999 prep athletes will take part in the Southern California prep track-and-field preliminaries scheduled tomorrow at Housh Field, L. A. High.

JIMMY WILLSON

San Diego High, last year's winner and an early season favorite to retain its title, is still being picked to annex top honors. Led by Capt. Jimmy Willson, the border team will number fourteen, with at least ten of that number expected to qualify for the finals.

The squad making the trip north for the meet will be composed of Coach Glenn Broderick, Capt. Jimmy Willson, Fernando Ortiz, Irvine Warburton, Pierson, Brown, Murray, Dower, Antrim, Arguello, Fletcher, Holt, Larson, Howell and Russell.

TWO STARS

Willson and Ortiz will represent the Hilltoppers in the sprints and between them are figuring on taking close to 18 points.

Irvine Warburton, stocky quarter-miler, who won the State meet one-lap race in 49 3-5s. last year, is the San Diego entry in the quarter. All dope points for a Southern California meet win for Warburton. Tomorrow, his competition will come from Brundage of Whittier, Williams of Ris, Timmons of Covina, Pendegrass of Cal-Prep and Logue of Jefferson.

The southerners have another entry in the quarter, a fast youngster named Pierson. In the Coast League finals, he ran a close second to Warburton. To qualify tomorrow, Pierson will have to beat out or place third against McGuire of Inglewood, Hahn of Fremont, Lu Valle of Poly, Archibald of Van Nuys and Redmond of Belmont.

Brown and Murray will run the 880 for Coach Glenn Broderick. Murray placed second to Rathburn of Long Beach in the league finals, while Brown finished fourth. Rathburn's time was 2m. 3 2-5s.

THREE MILERS

Evans Dower, Southern California mile champion last year, will team with Antrim and Arguello in the four-lap gallop. Dower won the Coast League event in 4m. 42 2-5s. with Antrim, third, and Arguello, fourth.

Broderick's sole hope in the hurdles is Fletcher, a long-legged colored boy. He will run the low hurdles only. Fletcher's best time is close to 25s. As he is only a sophomore, San Diego has high hopes for his future.

San Diego's hope in the weights is Ray Russell. His best put in the shot is 49ft. 6 1-2in., while 132ft. 10 3-4in. won him first place in the Coast League discus.

Howell has been entered in the javelin, but points in this event do not count. The spear-tossing event is just an exhibition in the Southern California meet, points only counting in the State meet. Howell has thrown the spear close to 190ft.

Besides the two sprints, Willson has been enrolled in the list of broad jumpers. He will have to better 21ft. 6in to qualify.

Following in Willson's steps, Alvin Koenig of Huntington Beach has been entered in the broad jump as well as the two dashes. Koenig has bettered 22ft. all season.

POWER-BOATS TRAVEL NORTH

The Sewelyn, owned by Paul F. Ford, which finished three seconds behind the Zoa last season, however, was on the job and is in the thick of the running.

The boats are divided into two classes, Class A and B. The A class is for those under sixty feet and B for those over sixty feet in length. The event is a handicap affair, the winner being the craft that maintains the best average speed for her class during the entire run.

The first stopover will be made late today at Santa Barbara. Tomorrow the fleet will head for Monterey and on Saturday they sail for the Golden Gate. The finish will be at the foot of Fillmore street in front of the St. Francis Yacht Club of San Francisco.

Heavy weather is not expected in the ninety mile run to Santa Barbara, but from there on the skippers will have to do some real navigating, according to the old seadogs around this harbor.

The event is a real Coast classic as nearly every yachting organization of prominence along the Pacific is represented. The winning boat will be awarded the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy.

Before the start this morning the pilots were present at a breakfast at the Pacific Coast Club, where Mayor Rolph was the guest of honor.

LUCKY B LEADS AFTER FIRST LEG

SANTA BARBARA, April 24.—According to the announcement of the Long Beach Yacht Club race committee late tonight winners of the first leg of the annual Long Beach-to-San Francisco performance handicap power cruiser race were: Lucky B, A. E. Snyder, Long Beach Yacht Club, first; Colonel Rheam, D. L. Rheams, St. Francis Yacht Club, San Francisco, second; Blue Boy, Carl Goetz, California Yacht Club, third; Sevelyn, Paul Franklin Johnson, Balboa Yacht Club, fourth; Marion Alice, Paul Libenthal, St. Francis Yacht Club, fifth.

Arthur L. MacRae, skipper of the twin Diesel powered Hermana, winner of the annual classic last year, was out of commission ten miles out of this port, he radioed through the Coast Guard cutter Algonquin.

MacRae said that he had broken an oil pump and had ordered a new one from San Pedro to be delivered by seaplane and that he would be under way before daylight.

Nineteen boats started in the annual Long Beach-to-San Francisco race off the Pacific Coast Club in Long Beach this morning and all of them except the Hermana had been reported in here tonight. The first craft to leave on the second leg of 208 nautical miles to Monterey will be Doris O, O. A. Johnson of the Long Beach Yacht Club, scheduled to put to sea at 8 a.m. Friday. The others of the million dollar fleet will get under way before noon, each boat departing on her handicap time.

Today's run was over a rough sea and, according to weather reports, a storm center out to sea will hit the coast north of here tomorrow.

The world's largest private yacht is said to be the Orion, owned by Mr. Jules Forstmann of New York. The boat is 332 feet in length.

THE Sportlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

THE main question at hand now is about this—what is Europe going to do with all of them?

Yong Horton Smith sails today for a tour of England, Scotland, France and Germany—wherever they hold an open golf championship. He sails two days after Helen Wills or Mrs. Moody, our tennis champion. He sails two days after Glenna Collett, our women's golf champion, and twenty other women golfers.

He sails five days ahead of Bobby Jones, the United States open golf champion, and Harrison Johnston, the United States amateur golf champion. Also the other members of the Walker Cup team.

When Horton arrives in Europe he will find Bill Tilden and Miss Helen Jacobs already over there hitting a tennis ball around. And in a little while the United States Davis Cup team will probably be on the scene.

In a short while Leo Deigel, the P.G.A. champion, will sail to meet Abe Mitchell for the world's match play title. Leo will also take another shot at the British open.

There has been nothing quite like this exodus in the history of international sport. Almost every ship is taking over male and female athletes and a lot of them are champions.

Mrs. Moody, Miss Collett, Bobby Jones, Jimmy Johnston, Leo Diegel and Horton Smith are all national champions. Horton is the French open golf champion, where he had two of the greatest rounds of his life.

Who can recall, in the history of international sport, where one country sent six champions across the water within the space of a week? And this doesn't include Bill Tilden, who is the United States tennis champion. That makes seven United States champions that will be inhaling European air within the next few days. And most of them are amateurs. You can write this down as a record, if you haven't anything else to write about.

In Return? Well—

So far how has Europe exchanged talent? First of all, there was Phil Scott. One way and another a number of untoward incidents happened to Phil, but he left with $50,000 for any annoyance he may have suffered.

A trifle later Italy sent over Primo Carnera. The ponderous one may also be returning soon—and then again he may not. But if he leaves he will take back more gold than even a 270-pound heavyweight can lift.

They accuse us of being a money-grabbing nation, but who gets the better of this exchange? Helen Wills, Glenna Collett, Bobby Jones, Jimmy Johnston and Bill Tilden can't bring back any cash, no matter what they win.

Leo Diegel can pick up $2500 by beating Abe Mitchell and possibly $1000 for winning the British open. Horton Smith can do the same by winning the British open. Our pro golfers all bunched together have a shot at something like $6000—if they win.

That Isn't All

Before the cheering has subsided at the mention of Scott's and Carnera's name there is still another coin collector all poised to visit these shores. This is Max Schmeling, the German.

Max is no Scott and neither is he a Carnera. He can fight if he hasn't forgotten how. At least he could fight when he left us many months ago.

Max also will lift his share of currency and take it back. He will pick up something between $100,000 and $200,000, which seems to be enough.

We have sent about fifty athletes across, or will have sent that many shortly, where the best any of them can do in a financial way is around $5000.

Europe will have sent three across who will lug something like $300,000 back home when the complete returns are in.

Waiting for the Shock

How many titles will the United States invaders bring back? Mrs. Helen Wills Moody is as good as in. She will win in France and she will win at Wimbledon.

Glenna Collett and Bobby Jones have tougher jobs, golf being what it is. Miss Collett has a first-class chance at Formby. She will be the best golfer in the field with Joyce Wethered missing.

Bobby Jones will be the best golfer in the field at St. Andrews and this time he should break through—even through the five or six eighteen-hole matches he will have to play, if he keeps on hitting the ball as he has been hitting it this spring.

Jones should have a great chance at Hoylake in the British open. He has won his last two starts in this event and he will be favored again. But nothing is certain in this weird, bewildering Scotch pastime, where form can flit back and forth like a will o' the wisp across a swamp.

Horton Smith is another who will have to be watched in this championship and so will Leo Deigel and Tommy Armour.

The safest ground in Europe is the tennis sector guarded by Henri Cochet. He should canter home, any time he starts.

A Counter-Attack

The German will be about an even bet against Jack Sharkey and if he can leave for Europe wearing the crown that Dempsey and Tunney last wore he will come close to evening up the count.

Bob Fitzsimmons and Tommy Burns, a Cornishman and a Canadian, are the only outsiders who have worn this emblem since John L. plied against the foe, and John L. was never officially the champion of the world. Fitzsimmons and Burns spent most of their careers in the United States.

Europe has done better by us than we first suggested. The Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team has made a fine record on this side. Dr. Paul Martin, Switzerland's star runner, has been a leading track feature. And none of them will take any money back.

It might be noted that three of our invading champions, Bobby Jones, Helen Wills and Glenna Collett, have won twenty-four major titles and the oldest of the lot is 28. Yes, the oldest is R. T. Jones, Jr. Helen Wills is 24 and Glenna Collett is 26. Twenty-four major titles and all of the holders well under 30 is another record you won't see equaled soon.

CHICAGO BLACKHAWKS DEFEAT LOCALS AGAIN

The Chicago Blackhawks made it two straight over Los Angeles by defeating the local ice hockey team, 11-to-7 in a free-scoring game at the Winter Garden last night.

The visitors rang up seven goals in the first period while Goalie Bill Vaughn of Los Angeles was staggering around without his famous baseball cap. He seemed blinded by the glare of the arc lights which is reflected off the ice, and the Hawks made good almost every shot. When he found his cap again, the locals got along much better.

Ripley, Gottalieg and Cooke scored twice each, and Adams once in the opening period. In added two more, and the locals the second chapter Gottalieg finally broke into the scoring column, "Babe" Brandow and Jake Lawrence bulging the net.

Brandow opened the scoring in the third period to make the score 9 to 5, but Adams immediately added one to the Hawk total. Guy Poole collected another score for the Angels, and then Jack Lawrence dazzled the fans with a couple of solo dashes, both of which netted goals, and the score was 10 to 6. Cooke put the Hawks far in front again with another goal, and with a minute to go, Lawrence sank his fourth point of the evening.

Except for Vaughn's bad goal keeping in the first period, Los Angeles played good hockey, Lawrence and Brandow playing especially well. "Squirt" Adams and Gottalieg sparkled for the winners, the latter equalling Lawrence's performance in scoring four goals. The same two teams will play the third game of their series tomorrow night.

FIVE KNOCKOUTS IN SIX CLASHES

Five of the six fights at the South Gate Legion arena last night ended in knockouts. The only tilt that went the limit was the main event in which Huerta Evans outpointed Ray Gonzales in six rounds. The other results: Red Gregory knocked out Dan McCoy, five rounds; Richard Thomas knocked out Ray Molino, one round; George Hanford knocked out Art Lopez, two rounds; Harry Green knocked out Red Morgan, three rounds; Doyle Vaughn knocked out Mike Clark, one round.

ROBLETO IS WINNER IN PASADENA BOUT

SONNENBERG WINS

BOSTON, April 24. (AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, went through one of the hardest matches of his career to down Count George Zarynoff of Russia two out of three falls here tonight. The match lasted an hour and forty-five minutes and until the last fall Zarynoff successfully eluded Sonnenberg's flying tackle.

ANDERSON OUT OF CARD MEET

Noted Husky Hurdler Likely Not to Race

Washington Trackmen Arrive for Card Clash

Northerners Hope to Upset Stanford Stars

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 24. (Exclusive)—Coach "Hec" Edmundson and his twenty-two Husky track and field men arrived on the Stanford campus this afternoon and held their last workout in the Cardinal bowl preparatory to meeting Dink Templeton's team here Saturday afternoon.

JOHNNY MORRISON

Steve Anderson, stellar Washington stick man, sat on the sidelines and watched his team-mates practice. Anderson is suffering from a seriously sprained ankle and will probably not run, according to Edmundson.

The loss of Anderson will be a serious blow to the Huskies. As one of the nation's leading hurdlers, he was expected to beat Podge Smith, Templeton's foremost hope in the barrier events.

Washington camp followers were confident of at least one upset Saturday. They predict that Edmundson's fleet quarter-miler, Hartley, will beat Stanford's Morrison in the 440-yard race.

Following are the northerners who will meet the Cards: Pendleton, Bledsoe, Clarkson, sprints; Hartley, Bales, Carney, quarter mile; Kiser, Goneschi, Mantle, half mile; Kiser, Rhuddy, mile; Cram, Haynes, two-mile; Whiting, O'Neill, hurdlers; Jessup, Ramstedt, discus; Adams, Cairney, javelin; Dunn, Hoxie, high jump; Whiting, broad jump, and Nickol, pole vault.

RIVIERA EVENT FAVORITES WIN

High School golfer, who hopes to be wearing the Stanford red in the fall, will challenge Jelliffe in today's feature match. Brown got off to a fine start yesterday by eliminating the present Girard champion, Billy Jack, 3 and 2.

Carter may have his hands full today in Johnny M. Arnelli of the Los Angeles Country Club and the Southland's premier bean grower.

Good matches should result when Allen Moser of Wilshire faces George M. Lewis of Los Angeles, Dr. C. K. Manhart meets Noble, and George Arneau tackles Scott.

The tough going will come tomorrow when the championship flight survivors will pay two rounds, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. Finals in all flights are scheduled for Sunday.

Bill Huber, Riviera's tournament chairman, is all fed up on the stymie rule, but it's too late now. Bill faced Tom Henry Endicott yesterday in the first flight and Tom Henry laid him six stymies on the first five holes. Huber lost four out of the first five holes, and dropped the match, 3 and 2.

BEQUETTE, BISHOP CLASH

It is unfortunately true that there were a large number of defaults yesterday, but more unfortunate that a number of contestants neglected to report that they were defaulting and left opponents waiting at the first tee, which is both unsportsmanlike and unnecessary.

Darsie L. Darsie was again acclaimed the best-dressed golfer, appearing in an outfit dominated by a bright yellow sweater with hose to match. Darsie's opponent defaulted.

J. M. Bequette of Midwick and R. M. Bishop of California, who tied for low net in the qualifying round with scores of 71, will play off over eighteen holes as soon as both have been eliminated from the match play.

MRS. WILSON WINS VIRGINIA EVENT

Mrs. F. G. Wilson of the Virginia Country Club shot an 86 over her home course yesterday to win low gross over 125 Southern California golfers in a tournament sponsored by the women's auxiliary of the S.C.G.A.

TWO HOLES-IN-ONE SCORED AT CALIFORNIA

JUNIOR OLYMPIC GAMES Training Tips

BY BRAVEN DYER

That means that the games seek to develop the five principal motive forces of the body without encouraging the over-development of any one of these.

Specialization at an age under 16, athletic authorities agree, is harmful. At any age less than 16 the boy should be building the body generally. And it is along this line that the Junior Olympic Games work.

So a handicap system, taking into consideration the age, height and weight of the contestant, has been evolved. And on this has been built a percentage of averages in the five events for boys of varying ages. And, the resulting co-efficient and score is the heart and the mainspring of the games.

The co-efficient system, with the scoring chart, operate to handicap years, pounds and weight and to compensate lack of each of these qualities. The result is that the larger, older, taller boy must reach a higher mark in all events than his younger rival to secure the same resulting score.

And a qualifying mark—small though it is—is demanded in each event. That means that a contestant must secure the minimum allowance in all five events in order to complete the contest.

To be just a good runner or a good jumper is not enough. The contestant must have acceptable scores in all five events. But none need be a "stand-out."

For instance:

John Zemalavage of Mahony City, Pa., took second place in the senior division in the national finals in 1928, although he did not capture a single event. Second place in one event was the best individual showing he made. Yet his average score was sufficient to place him within striking distance of the championship, which he narrowly missed.

A city champion from Knoxville, Tenn., in 1929 went to the national finals with not a single victory in the events to his credit. Yet he was good in all events and his total score was better than several boys who took event after event.

Contestants in the Junior Olympic Games may be surprised to know that many a boy who did not even reach the national finals, or even the city finals, smashed national records in a single event. David Farris of Philadelphia hurled a baseball 310 feet, breaking the national record. Yet he did not get to Atlantic City.

Leon Thomas of Pennsylvania, ran seventy-five yards in 7 2-5s., a record, but did not reach his finals, for he could do nothing but run. A boy in Syracuse chinned forty times but fell down in the remaining four events and so stayed at home. Twenty baskets in twenty tries were registered by one youth whose attainments ended right there, though; so he "flunked" in his playground tests.

Nearly every boy will, of course, show himself to better advantage in one or in two events. But all of his scores should be good, on the average, if he would go on to the finals.

Perfecting scores in events in which you lag is not nearly as hard as you might think. A little practice will do wonders in improving your performance and a few weeks of keeping at it should bring you up to a good mark in nearly every one of the five events used in the games.

Every event is simple and a natural one. None requires the play of muscles infrequently used and no tricks are required to secure supremacy. Just good honest effort along perfectly natural lines is asked of the best boy and any boy should be able to show that willingness.

COLORADO FOR MARSHALL

Five Hundred Fans From Everett's Home State Will Come Here to Cheer Mat Star

When Everett Marshall, the Colorado wrestling sensation, clashes with "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight champion, in a finish title match at Wrigley Field the night of May 5, more than 500 of his friends from his home State will be present to lend him their moral and vocal support.

Most of those who are making the trip are said by Marshall to be his friends, and friends of his parents, who have always had hopes that some day he would be world's wrestling champion.

EVERETT MARSHALL.

That the home-towners believe he will defeat Sonnenberg is seen by the fact that almost half of those who witnessed his last match in La Junta about a month ago are making the trip to Los Angeles.

In addition, delegations from Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo have made reservations for this match, it was reported. The wrestling fans are due to arrive in Los Angeles, Sunday, May 4, over the Santa Fe. They will make their headquarters at the Alexandria Hotel while in Los Angeles. Fay Smalley of the hotel staff has been chosen as host to the invading Coloradans, and he is completing plans to take care of them on their arrival.

Colorado has turned out several heavyweight wrestlers who have completed for the world's title, but none of them has ever been as popular with them as Marshall has proven.

The young heavyweight sensation also has a large following in Kansas and Iowa. He went to the University of Iowa, trained under Mike Howard, former Danish and Olympic Games champion, and as the result of many great matches he had while attending the university, he was considered a "native son" in Des Moines.

Marshall is in heavy training at Long Beach for this match. According to reports received here from the beach city he is training for speed more than anything else for this match.

run at night in a brilliantly lighted stadium, starting at 7:30 p.m., he announced.

FOUR SAGEHENS TO GO NORTH

CLAREMONT, April 24.—Coach Robert E. Strehle and four of his Sagehen track team will leave for Fresno early tomorrow morning, where they will compete in the four-man half-mile relay. Coach Strehle will enter his men in only one relay. The men accompanying Strehle are Harvey Bear, Robert Bayhnam, Elmer De Silva and Frank Dyer. All of these men are capable of turning in a fairly fast 220 so Pomona should be well represented.

Harvey Bear is showing fast improvement over his midseason form and should run a mighty fast lap on Saturday. Bear is only now fully recovered from his illness that forced him to stay out of track for three weeks in the middle of the season. Bear ran under 22s. flat in the conference meet and should better that mark slightly on Saturday.

It is possible that Clarence Bishop, Pomona's star all-around athlete, will make the trip to compete in the javelin and high jump. Bishop is a top-notcher in both events and should do well if he makes the trip.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS (Va.) April 24. (AP)—John Van Ryn of Orange, N. J., former Princeton star, eliminated Frank Hunter, No. 2 ranking player in the semi-final round of the annual Mason and Dixon tennis tournament here today. The scores were 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

In the other semifinals Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., giant killer of the tournament, had put out George Lott of Chicago, No. 3 ranking player, by scores of 4-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Allison and Van Ryn, Davis Cup doubles partners, will meet in the finals tomorrow.

FRANKIE DIAZ PICKED TO BEAT JIMMY FOX

Frankie Diaz, hard-hitting Mexican lightweight, is favored over Jimmy Fox of Hollenbeck Heights, whom he meets tomorrow night in the main event at the Main-street Club. Fans are picking Diaz to outscore the Jewish boxer because of the former's ability as a heavy puncher.

Both Fox and Diaz are anxious to win impressively tomorrow night because of the opportunities that will await the winner at the larger clubs on the Coast.

Bert Sampson and Warren Jewett are rated as a toss-up in the semi-wind-up. They are slugging welterweights who are expected to enact a wild battle for the honors.

FISHER SHINES AS CARDS WIN

Rookie Hits Hard to Aid in Cub Downfall

CHICAGO, April 24. (AP)—George Fisher, young St. Louis outfielder, continued his sensational hitting streak today and led the Cardinals to a 9-to-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the odd game of the seven the teams have played this season. Only about 3000 chilly fans watched the one National League game of the day. Score:

Ragged Portland fielding helped the visitors to a six-run lead in the first two innings. Yerkes was batted off the hill in the second inning and was charged with the defeat, although four Portland errors had much to do with the Missions' victory. Score:

L.A.A.C. TO STAGE GYM MEET TONIGHT

The finest gymnasts and tumblers of Southern California meet at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tonight, the event being the annual S.P. A.A.U. championships. The program commences at 7:30 o'clock and should draw a record crowd for such an event in view of the approaching national championships, which will be held at the Olympic Auditorium June 6, under the auspices of the L.A.A.C.

Tonight's tournament will be the final wind-up before the national meet, and winners of various events will remain in training for the June championships, when outstanding gymnasts from all parts of the country will come here seeking titular honors.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

THE $100 PLATE BANQUET

"I WONDER if you would give us a tumble in your column regarding the $100 sportsmen's banquet," writes Johnny Cassidy, publicity accelerator of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Well, I should say so.

Just think of what would happen to the $10,000 open golf tourney, winter sports in the mountains, various yacht and motor-boat races and kindred other events if it wasn't for the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

This is one banquet, steep as it is per plate, that should go over with a bang. Money derived from this source advertises Los Angeles as the great playground of the universe. It is dough that pays dividends, big ones.

"You will recall that this is probably the only $100 plate dinner staged annually by any organization in the country," continues Cassidy. "It is the financing medium of the Junior Chamber, making it possible to carry out its year 'round program of sports. This year will surpass, both from the point of food, entertainment and attendance, any previous dinner.

"We are inviting outstanding sportsmen of all branches to be our guests this night (April 30.). Of course, it is the business man and the sportsman, also in business, who make it possible for us to finance our sports activities.

"We are anxious to carry this message to the readers of your column as well as the general public. We make no secret of the fact that we need more reservations than we have, although at present indications are that they will generously exceed past attendance."

SUSPENSION IN SIGHT

Of course, the matter is viewed in a different light at Emanuel headquarters.

Papa Emanuel will tell the commission that the Olympic failed to live up to its agreement with him that the fight be staged at $2 to $5 scale.

But the fact is the Olympic management is in the clear. When Papa Emanuel sought to have the tariff boosted from a $3 top for the Maloney bout, Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams demurred.

At Papa Emanuel's insistence he wrote the seat prices into the contract, but inserted a clause, "subject to the approval of the State Athletic Commission." Emanuel signed the contract on that basis.

The commission met last Monday, and approved the $5 end of it but not the $2 gallery fee.

Matters would have been all right, but the seats failed to sell and Papa Emanuel began to realize he had made a bad bargain in agreeing to take 60 per cent of the gate receipts and assume Maloney's $7500 guarantee.

Then he began to vilify the Olympic management.

After making his own bed he refused to lie in it. He sought the match with Maloney here in the first place to prove that Armand was fouled and not knocked out by Maloney in Boston.

* * *

NO "HOT" ELEMENTS

ALTHOUGH told weeks ago the scrap was not hot locally, Papa Emanuel insisted it was a great fight for Los Angeles.

He forgot that son Armand left here after the Hudkins match cold as a cucumber, having been horribly beaten by the Wildcat, a middleweight.

He has been stopped by Jack Sharkey, George Godfrey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko.

That's why the seats didn't go at $5, that's why Papa Emanuel didn't see Maloney's guarantee in sight, that's why he pulled out of the match yesterday and wanted the Olympic to assume Maloney's guarantee and pay Armand 25 per cent.

And on the latter basis Jack Doyle naturally bucked, and that's why there will be forty rounds of boxing at the Olympic next week—but no Maloney-Emanuel fight.

ent, with the red shirt of Shawkey flying at the masthead of the Yankee ship as it embarks on its 1930 cruise. Bob the Gob used to mix his pitches with brains, and it is taken for granted that he will be a thinking manager, and that the Yankees will follow him as their leader as readily as they followed his style lead years ago when he introduced the red shirt into baseball. There's a "key" in the name of Shawkey. Will it open the door to a world series for the Yankees next fall?

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Morning was dawning when Tarzan again awoke, after spending the remainder of the night curled in the comfortable crotch of a great tree. The pangs of hunger assailed him. He yawned, rose, stretched himself, and gazed about him through the leafy foliage of his retreat. He was amid his own meadowlands and fields, the fields of John Clayton, Lord Greystoke, Tarzan of the Apes looked as a stranger upon the moving figures of his own braves preparing breakfast.

The ape-man eyed them with curiosity. In the back of his brain loitered a fleeting sense of familiarity with all that he saw, yet he could not connect them with any particular event of the past. Though the face of each of them had but recently been as familiar to him as his own, they awakened within him no recollection whatsoever. He saw them scatter their cook fire and depart. After they had gone, Tarzan descended from his tree and sought food.

Out upon the plain grazed a sleek fat bunch of zebra. Toward these he wormed his stealthy way. He kept down wi ! from his prey, acting instinctively, he took advantage of every form of cover as he crawled upon all fours and often flat on his stomach. Reaching a low bush's shelter he gathered his spear firmly in his grasp. Cautiously he drew his feet beneath him. In a single, swift move he rose and cast his heavy weapon at a plump young mare grazing nearest him.

Catlike, he leaped after his spear, his hunting knife in his hand. Clinging with one hand to the zebra's short mane, Tarzan struck repeatedly with his knife. ...e mare fell lifeless and then upon her Tarzan placed his foot and raised his voice in the victory call. In the distance, Basuli halted as the hideous scream echoed. "The great apes!" he said to his companions. "It is a long time since I have heard them in the country of the Waziri. What could have brought them back?"

Col. Pablo Sidar, Mexican pilot, accepted delivery on his new Emsco monoplane yesterday and is scheduled to take off for Mexico next Monday on the first of a series of good-will flights that will connect the United States, Central and South American nations.

The ship, a high-winged speedy monoplane capable of lifting 1000 gallons of gasoline and flying 5000 miles without stopping, is equipped with a 425-horsepower Wasp motor.

Sidar refused to make known his plans yesterday, but it is understood he will attempt a flight of approximately 5000 miles from a Mexican seaport city to Buenos Aires.

Morelos is the name given the ship yesterday. Capt. Louis Boyer, another Mexican flyer, was at the airport as Sidar's copilot.

AL JOLSON

"MAMMY"

Praise be to Al for a whole show as funny as the funniest moments of "The Jazz Singer" and "The Singing Fool" . . . A mammoth minstrel setting gives him a chance for the kind of comedy that won him his first stage fame.

And praise be to Vitaphone and Warner Bros. for the most elaborate production this famous star has ever had, with story and songs by Irving Berlin—gorgeous full color scenes—and six other real favorites in the cast!

Jolson made the FIRST Vitaphone picture ...Now he's made the BEST. The laugh's on you if you miss it!
